From the Philadelphia Inquirer. The Return and Arrest of Shipmans-His

Jacob Shipman, the absconding messenger, who several weeks since ran away from this city with a large amount of money belonging to New Yorkers and Philadelphians, returned home yesterday morning at 3 o'clock. He was unaccompanied by any officer, the persons who captured him having set him free immediately on obtaining the money they found in his possession. On arriving in Philadelphia, he went home to his wife and family, but appeared in the streets early yesterday morning and valled on several of the brokers. He says that before he started on his run away trip, he met with losses, amounting in all to about $18,000. He was behind hand indeed, $800, as long ago as 1839, and his case has been getting worse ever short time, however, the fect of Mesers. Belrose, since. Latterly he bought lottery tickets in order to recover himself, but this only made the matter worse. He refuses to tell the manner by which his thy English gentleman, of Liverpool, having orderoriginal losses occurred, and says he will persist in this refusal, no matter what the penalty. On as the report, that the splendid papers furnished by his last trip from New York, he received $15,000 this house, as of American manufacture, were duties of said office with fidelity.

THOMAS A. BILLINGTON. from the Union Bank, with the object of having French imported, and could not be made in this it re-coined in Philadelphia.

On his arrival here, he found it necessary to pay $12,000 on his own account, and he made use of question are not only bona fide of Philadelphia the Union Bank money for the purpose. He nevertheless started for New-York with the intention of going through; but on his way thither, the difficulty of accounting to the Bank for money he had misappropriated pressed so heavily upon his mind, that he concluded to return to this city. At this time he was nearly mad from excitement and anxiety. He returned towards his own dwelling and arrived opposite the door; but here the horrors of his situation and the difficulty of explaining his conduct sgain crowded upon him, and he determined to fly the city. He admits that he was at the fire on Dock street wharf, and says that had he met any friend there on whom he could have refied, he would have confessed all. The next morning he proceeded westward and traveled recklessly on, he cored not whither. He fixed upon no particular route, but hurried on, expecting and sometimes anxious to be caught. The amount he had with him was only $5,100. On his return, he says that he had no money at all-not enough even to carry him to New-York. This would seem to contradict the story that his captors gave him $250. When caught on the prairies he made no resistance, was taken to a public house, and then into a private room, where he was stripped of all his clothes, as the persons who arrested him supposed that he had a much larger sum than they found.

He remained, he says, at several of the stopping places, for hours, in the hope that he would be taken, and yet he had not the heart to return of his own second. He says the Union Bank alone will lose by him. He wanted his captors to accompany him home, but they declined, in the hope of obtaining more reward. Our informant states that yesterday morning he looked depressed and downcast, and spoke low. On meeting with an old friend, he said-" Will you take a rascal like me by the hand !" and the tears started to his eyes, as if much affected. He seemed in utter despair, and expressed his willingness to die, as soon as he had made what reparation he could. He admitted that the greatest confidence had been reposed in him, that he had violated that confidence, and that he ought to suffer. He was arrested between 10 and 11 o', lock, taken before Mayor Scott, and committed to Moyamensing for a further hearing on My 15, 8, 15, 19, 1, is a county in Pennsylvania. Monday next. A BALLAD.

BY TOM BOOD, JR.

There lived an honest fisherman, I knew him passing well-Who dwelt hard by a little pond, Within a fittle dell.

A grave and quiet man was he, Who lov'd his hooks and rad-So even ron his line of life,

His neighbors thought it odd. For science and for books, he said He never had a wish-

No school to him was worth a fig. Except a "school of fish."

All day that fisherman would sit, Upon an ancient log. And gaze into the water, like

Some sedentary frog. A cunning fisherman washe, His angles all were right-

And when he scratch'd his aged poll, You'd know he'd got a bitc. To charm the fish he never spoke-

Although his voice was fine, He found the most convenient way Was just to "drop a line." One day while fishing on the log, He mourned his want of luck-

When suddenly he felt a hite, And jerking-caught a duck Alas! that day the fisherman

Had taken too much grog, And being but a landeman too, He could'nt "keep the log." In vain he strove with all his might, And tried to gain the shore— Down, down, he went, to feed the fish

He'd buited oft before ! The moral of this mournful tale To all is plain and clear-

A single "drop too much" of rum May make a watery bier. And he who will not "sign the pledge," And keep the promise fast, May, be in spite of fate, a stiff old-water-man at last!

American Manufactures. We know that all are interested in the progress and perfection of American Manufectures, and it has ever been our delight to announce the improvements, inventions and performances of our mechanies and manufactures. In reference to the article of wall papers-"paper bangings"-we have recontly had occasion to learn some remarkable facts. The manufacture of an exceedingly coarse article was first introduced in this country in 1790, by workmen from France, About 1813, a considerable improvement was made both in colors and paper; but until 1823, no glazed papers could be made in this country. From that time till quite recently, no very important improvement has been made, and for fine papers our merchants have entirely depended upon "la belle France." Within a Son & Blanchard of this city, having been sent for to paper the New York City Hotel, and that a wealed paper for his mansion from that house, as well country, we took occasion to visit their manufactory in person, and can testify that the pupe s in manufacture, but by American workmen, instructed in their establishment! The colors, finish, gloss and general appearance, are fully equal to the best French papers-and what is best of all can be furnished at sixry per cent less than the imported article !! They reflect the highest credit on the Messrs, Belrose, Son & Blanchard, and to American Manufactures. These papers are not only devoid of any unpleasant smell, but they may be perfumed to order .- Sat. Courier.

GOOD NEWS FOR AMERICAN YOUTH! A NEW VOLUME OF

ROBERT MERRY'S MUSEUM, Edited by S. G. Goonnica, author of Peter Parley's Tales. Commencing January, 1843. SINCE the commencement of this work-now the most popular juvenile periodical extant-it has ever been the aim of the publishers to make it deserving of the liberal encouragement which has been extended towards it; and its subscription list evinces that their efforts have been appreciated by the public.

On the first day of January a new volume will commence. The character of the work will not be changed. Its design will remain the same, and the publishers would assure their patrons and the publie that their efforts will be unceasing to render it worthy of being a companion for the young. To plant the seeds of morality and truth in the youthful heart, to in-til virtuous principles and motives into the mind, to sid in the fermation of character, to cultivate a taste for knowledge and improvement, and with instruction to blend pleasure and amusement,-these have been, and will continue to be, the end and aim of the work. Every article will be thoroughly digested before it is admitted into this work, and great care will be taken that it shall not contain anything inconsistent with the object in view. It is designed to be, not interesting for the mement only, but of permanent value, and fit to form part of every FAMILY LIBARY.

Some of the leading features of the Museum are History, Biography, Geology, Natural History, Geography, &c. These will be accompanied with lighter matter in the farm of Tales, Sketches, Adventures by Sea and Land, Narratives of Remarkable Occurrences, Anecdotes, Fables, Allegories, &c. Portry and Music will be called in to assist. Every available means of rendering the work sprightly, instructing and entertaining, will be put in requisiin. Numerous and splendid embellishments and illustrations, surpassing what may be found in any other work of the kind, in this respect, will be in . serted; and the typographical appearance of Fig. Museum will be such as, it is believed, will 'meet the approbation of its patrons. The publishers would add, that Merry's Museum is the r neapest per-alical of the kind published in any P art of the world : the annual volume containing, nearly as uch matter as two volumes of Bener off's History, which will for four dollars and fifty cents.

THE VERY LOWEST TERMS .- - One copy, $1 ; Six copies, $5; Thirteen copies, $10. The great expense incurred in getting out a work ike the Museum, renders it recessary that the publishers should strictly adhere to the cash system. All letters must be post-paid, and addressed to
