

Though no persons were to be seen upon the adjacent roofs, the missiles evidently descended upon the Mayor's forces.

As soon as the watch in front had been driven off, the mob went to work quite coolly and systematically. One of the iron gates was first broken down, and thus the platform (about five feet high) upon which the building stands having been reached, a sort of battering-ram was procured, with which steady and determined blows were inflicted upon the northernmost door, but it resisting all efforts, (which it did until the last) with clubs the assailants began to demolish the sashes of the front windows, which are low, and in which by this time there was not probably a single unbroken pane of glass.

While the mob thus engaged, there was an alarm of "the Troop"—"the Troop"—and above all the clamor was presently heard the notes of a shrill trumpet, sounding the charge. The First City Troop rode by almost at a gallop, causing the crowds to fly towards Race street, where the company wheeled and returned at a similar gait; and several passages of this kind were made, but with no effect, for the mob followed the horsemen, witherover they went, uttering long and loud derisive cries; while the party immediately engaged in breaking into the Church did not for a moment desist, but seemed to redouble their efforts in anticipation of the arrival of more of the military.

In an incredibly brief period, the obstruction offered by the sash was removed—the gas light near by extinguished—and fire conveyed into the lower centre window. The fire was undoubtedly kindled by lucifer matches, as we were close spectators, and certainly no fire was carried openly within.

As soon as the light was seen, numerous persons employed themselves in bringing small pieces of boards and other light stuff, which were either thrown upon the fire, or handed to those inside. The flames appeared to make slow progress, for the light was not seen in the second story at all, (this was owing, we believe, to the windows having shutters inside,) but on a sudden they burst forth from the roof, and almost immediately enveloped the base of the cupola. The sight was hailed by a loud cheer.

The beautiful cupola of the Church did not burn with the rapidity which might have been supposed. This was owing to the cornice of the base projecting so far as for a time to shield the columns which supported the dome and cross.

The flames probably reached the roof as soon as they did by means of the organ, which stood immediately over the burning materials below. The cupola burnt for a long time before any portion of it fell. Pillar after pillar, stanchion after stanchion fell, and still the structure stood erect one mass of flame. At length the cross fell into the street. This elicited another cheer. A few moments after, the falling in of the roof carried with it the burning but still erect remains of the cupola.

Between four and five o'clock, the mob proceeded southward to the Roman Catholic School House, at the corner of Second and Phenix street, which after being stoned was set on fire at the top. We understand that a quantity of Camphine Oil was thrown upon the cupola, and the fire then applied. This beautiful building was also consumed without any effort being made to save it—the firemen throwing water only upon the adjoining buildings, to guard them from the flames. At six o'clock, the bare blackened and tottered walls alone remained.

"The Handwriting on the Wall."

The United States Gazette of Monday records the following remarkable fact connected with the recent Kensington outrages:—"We saw, on Saturday, the ruins in Kensington, the blackened crumbled walls of the Church, of the School House, and of many dwelling houses, that the passions of men had doomed to destruction. The heart sickens at such exhibitions, and inquires for the justice of man, that allowed of such unlawful, cruel violence; or the justice of Heaven, which seemed to sleep amid the wrong doings of the wicked, both when the murders were committed, and the property wasted. We learned nothing there to answer that inquiry, but returning by the way of Fourth street, we went up and stood amid the smouldering ruins of St. Augustine's; and when we renewed our inquiry, our eye rested on the uppermost portion of the opposite wall, from which the fire had peeled every particle of plastering, and licked off the decorative paint; but as it is in defiance of the wrath of man, and the fury of the flames, there stood, in clear uninjured letters, the inscription, "THE LORD SEETH." And we turned away satisfied in our heart, and exclaiming, in quiet submission, "Shall not the Judge of all the earth do right?"

MEETING OF THE BAR.

At a meeting of the bar of Northumberland county, held at the house of Elizabeth Weitzel, Hugh Bellas, Esq., was appointed chairman and Wm. J. Martin, Esq. secretary. The object of the meeting having been stated, the following resolutions were adopted.

Resolved, That the bar of this county have heard with regret of the decease of DANIEL LEVY, Esq., who died at his residence, in this place, on Sunday morning, the 11th inst., after a protracted illness. Therefore,

Resolved, That in the decease of our late fellow member, we recognize the loss of one who has filled the period allotted to the "life of man," and are forcibly reminded of the solemn truth, "that it is appointed to all men once to die." He has been gathered to his Fathers full of years, and from his advanced age may be regarded as the Father of our bar.

Resolved, That we will attend his funeral this afternoon, (Tuesday,) from his late residence, and wear the usual badge of mourning.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be published.

BREACH OF PROMISE.—Juries are now giving alarming high damages for a breach of the marriage promise, and it behoves gentlemen to use prudence and discretion in making their declarations. A verdict of $450 was lately given against a person for a breach of promise. He only visited the lady three or four years without proof that he had in that time "popped the question." The Jury probably thought that he ought to have done so on that period, and therefore put it heavy upon him, for omission.

Rye to-day at 50 cents. Sales of Md. white Corn at 39.41 cts. and of yellow at 33.44 cts. We quote Oats at 27.28 cts.

WHISKEY is very dull at 21.222 cents for hds., and 22.223 cts. for blvs.

BLEEDING ALWAYS IMPROPER.

For the Life of the Flesh is in the Blood.—With as much reason might we say, that trees die from too great a quantity of sap, as that a man can die from too great a quantity of blood. The moisture derived from earth to the tree becomes sap, and the stomach of a man from the food put into it obtains blood, which supplies the daily waste of the body. The same causes tend to life in both. But that which causes life never produces death.

Dr. Benjamin Brandreth considers Bleeding to be always improper in the treatment of any complaint, whether inflammatory or otherwise; because the Brandreth Vegetable Universal Pills remove the cause of the inflammation without touching the vital principle.
