WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENCE. From the Phil. Ledger.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30, 1845. As both Houses of Congress were more than ordinarily dull, and the gossipping world having for the moment suspended functions, that are seldom out of requisition, I joined a party yesterday, on a visit to that spot, which, of all others, should be the most sacred to the American, and where every lover of his country owes a pilgrimage of patrictism and duty, Mount Vernon, the burial place of Washington. We took the steamboat at Washington, and in forty minutes after were landed at Alexandria, one of the oldest cities in the Union. Time has made sad havoc with all its ancient glory, the grass may be seen growing in the streets, and a commerce, once the most flourishing and large, has disappeared in the new channels of trade, or become mingled with more enlarged and active enterprise.

After a rough drive of two hours and a half, over one of the worst roads in all Virginia, we seached the porter's lodge of the Washington estate, and descending from the carriages, the whole party walked to the venerable mansion, that in times gone by had witnessed so many of the events, and so much of the greatness, on which hung the future destiny of an infant Re-

The premises are now occupied by the family phew of him who was "first in war, first in The old dwelling remains as in the days of the Revolution, only marked by the finger of age and decay. No improvement of any sort has been added to it, and though nearly every vestige of the furniture owned by General Washington has been remeved, yet there is an indescribable something in the spot and its associations, that admonishes, as it were, this is consecrated ground! Of the curiosities that formerly attracted the visitor, only the Key of the Bastile, presented by General Lafayette, is now to be seen.

The original tomb, which occupies a site se-Yected by Washington himself, is in a state of dilapidation and exposure, and why his remains should ever have been removed from a position so beautifully appropriate and solemly befitting in its holy quietude and repose, is to me incomprehensible. The other vault is of simple structure, with a gothic gate. Above the entrance is tient. Brandreth's Vegetable Universal Pills, this inscription :- "Within this enclosure rest the remains of General George Washington."-In a sort of vestibule are two sarcophagi, presented by John Strothers, of Philadelphia, in 1837, one to Washington, and the other to Mar-

The plantation yields little more than is necessary for the subsistence of the family and servants, but a large portion of woodland is being cleared, and will be brought into beneficial cultivation. But one green-house now stands upon the grounds, the others having been consumed by fire some few years ago. It contains, however, a lemon tree, planted by Washington, and some valuable plants.

In surveying this whole scene, I felt, as I am sure every American must have done, who ever visited the spot, that our Government has exhibited a most culpable neglect, in permitting the bones of the "Father of his Country" to be thus unbongred, and his estate to crumble into ruin, a monument of that niggardly economy which is willing to waste hundreds of thousands in windy and unprofitable debate, whilst the graves of those who have creeted a local habitation and name for us among the nations of the earth, are permitted to rest without the poor compliment of some public memento. There is nothing so well calculated to purify the character, or to promote the condition of a people, as worthy testimonials to the illustrious dead : they pass down rom sire to son, increasing in interest with each generation, teaching by precept, and offering worthy examples for public emulation. Montiments of this kind rise in usefulness above history, inasmuch as they embody all that it contains, and almost personify, in part, the living | will be given by -characters which they are designed to record.

Whilst upon this subject let me introduce here a retolution proposed, yesterday, by Mr. Murphy, of New York, than whom no more public spirited member is to be found in either House, and whose talent and cultivation, both as a scholar and a statesman, entitle him to very high estimation with the country.

Resolved, That it be referred to the committee on Military Affairs, to inquire into the propriety of erecting a proper sepulchre for the bones, now lying at Wallabout, of those soldiers of the Revolution who died by reason of British ruelty, on board of the Jersey prison ship, and of an appropriate monument over them, and that the said committee report by bill or otherwise."

thered together thirty years ago, by a private the smoke it produces, positively compel those that individual, and at his own expense deposited in a place of protection from the elements, and since then the Government has allowed them to slumber in oblivion. Mr. Murphy comes forward, in that manly and patriotic character which distinguishes him as a man of letters and a public legislator, and asks Congress to do at least funeral honors to those who have fatlen in the cause of independence. This is an appeal not to be resisted, and 'tis one which 'twere far better to obey than the behest of party or the squabbles for political advancement. It soars above all distinctions, and is demanded for national honor and by national duty. Too much credit cannot be awarded to Mr. Murphy for the noble example that he has set, and I trust the country will take care to appreciate the living monument of public virtue and pure patriotism, which he embodies.

Ice .- The Bunker Hill Aurora says, "no ice to speak of has been cut on Fresh Pond the present season, and appearances seem to indicate an open winter, though there is time enough yet for an abundant crop. Considerable quantities of ice, however, have been brought down the railroad lately, most of which, we learn, is two land. years old, being the growth of 1842 3 "

NATIONAL INSOLENCE. - While English hands yet smoke with the blood of the Affghans and Chinese, says the Philadelphia Ledger, and each year sees some new tribe, people, or interest, added to the overgrown power of England, her writers have the characterist c insolence to prate of distating to America regarding the annexation of Texas. Things have come to a pretty pass if we, who look quietly on and see England fit out armaments for the uttermost parts of the earth, and invade, murder and butcher nations, are not to be permitted, if our neighbor and ourselves so will it, to annex a conterminous territory with our own. Whatever differences of opinion there may be regarding the advantage of adding Texas to our Union, there is one sentiment which should unite all parties, and that is not to suffer the least shadow of dictation or menace from any European power respecting the right of annexation. As a sample of the kind of insolence which we have noted, we take the following from the London Morning Chronicle:

"If Europe is desirous of seeing peace re-established in Central America, there is but one way of effecting it. Let the European governments one and all, signify to the American government their positive hostility to the project of annexation. A combined protest of this naof Mr. John Washington, son of the great ne- ture might inculcate a salutary lesson of moderation on J mathan; and once rid of the apprepeace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen." hension of having him as an immediate neighbor, Mexico would soon be induced formally to renounce a claim which it is now hopeless to expect that she can ever again make good, Such a course, whilst it would give consolation to Mexico and peace to Texas, would benefit European commerce, and prevent the American people from exercising, as they are striving to do, an overshadowing influence over the Gulf of Mexico."

Are we prepared to submit to this ! Never.

SEASONABLE ADVICE .- "Take time by the forelock," says the adage. Take medicine at the proper time, say we. It is a matter of less difficulty ascertain the proper time to seek relief from me dicine, than it is to discover the proper medicine which is to administer comfort to the afflict d pawhich have obtained a celebrity in the "Annals of Physic," unequalled in ancient and modern times. have performed such astonishing cures, that thou sands of people, in justice to Dr. Brandreth, have publicly recorded their opinions of their wonderful and extraordinary health-restoring qualities,

THE LIVING AGB. PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY.

AT 124 CENTS A NUMBER. THIS is a work composed this fly of choice articles from the Periodical Literature of Europe. Boston having become the point of communica-tion with the Old World, and the intercourse being now so frequent, we think it the best location for our office, and believe that such a compilation may be issued once a week, from this city, as will be read with pleasure and profit in all parts of the United States. THE LIVING AGE will be conducted in the spirit of Littell, Museum of Foreign Literature, (which was favorably received by the public, for the past 20 years,) but as it will be twice as large, and will appear so often, we shall not only give spirit and freshness to it by many things which were excluded by a month's delay, but shall also, - while thus extending our scope and gathering a greater and more attractive variety,—be able so to increase the solid and substantial part of our literary, historical and political barvest, as fully to satisfy the wants of the American reader.

The ni-horate and stately Essays of the Edinburgh, Quarterly, and other Reviews; and Blackwood's noble criticisms on Poetry, his keen political Commentaries, highly wrought Tales, and vivid descriptions of rural and mountain Scenery; and the contributions to Literature, History and common life, by the sagarious Speciator, the sporkling Examiner, the judicious Athermum, the busy and industrious Literary Gazette, the sensible and comprehensive Britannia, the soher and respectable Christian Observer; these shall be intermixed with the Military and Naval reminiscences of the United Service, and with the best articles of the Dublin University, New Menthly, Fraser's, Tair's Ainsworth's, Hood's, and Sporting Magazines, and of Chambers' admiral le Journal. We shall not consider it beneath our dignity to borrow wit and wisdom from Punch; and, when we think it good er ough, shall use the thurder of The Times. We shall increase our variety by importations from the continent of Europe, and from the new growth of the British Colonies.

Geographical discoveries, the progress of Colonization, (which is extending over the whole world.) and Voyages and Travels, will be favorite matter for our selections; and in general, we shall systematically and very fully acquaint our readers with the great department of Foreign affairs.

While we aspire to make the Living Age desirable to all who wish to keep themselves informed of the rapid progress of the movement-to Statesmen, Divines, Lawyers and Physicians - to men of business, and to men of leisure--it is a still stronger object of our ambition to make it attractive and useful to their Wives and Children. Wa believe that we can thus do some good in our day and generation; and hope to make he work indispensable in every well-informed family. We say indispensable, because in this day of chear literature it is not possible to guard against the loffux of what is tool in toste and vicious in morals, to any other way than by furnishing a sufficient supply of a healthy character. The mental and moral appetite mu-t be gratified. We hope, that, by "winnewing the wheat from the chaff," by providing about duntily for the imagins ation, and by a large collection of Biography, Voyages and Travels, History, and more sour matter, we may produce a work which shall be popular, while at the same time it will aspire to raise the standard of public ta-te. The Living Age will be a large pamphlet, band-comely printed, and spitched in a cover, contaming as much matter as an ordinary duodec mo volume, and upon good type and paper. Each number sold separately, and with the usual discount to wholesale dealers. Persons at a distance will be supplied by mail, on their remitting to us any sum of money that may be convenient, There will be thir y six numbers, making three large volumes, in the remaining part of 1844, Price of each volume of twelve numbers will be $1.50. SHUGERT'S PATENT

Washing Machine. THIS Machine has now been tested by more than thirty families in this neighborhood, and has given entire satisfaction. It is so simple in its construction, that it cannot get out of order. It contains no iron to rust, and no springs or rollers to get out of repair. It will do twice as much washing, with less than half the wear and tear of any of the late inventions, and what is of greater in portance it costs but little over half as much as other washing machines. The subscriber has the exclusive right for Northumberland, Union, Lycomicg, Columbia, Low zerne and Clinton counties. Price of single m -H. B. MASSER. The following certificate is from a few of those who have these machines in use. Suplarry, Aug. 24, 1844, We, the subscribers, certify that we have now in use, in our families, "Shugert's Patent Weshing Machine," and do not hesitate saying that it is a most excellent invention. That, in Washing, it will save more than one half the usual labor .-That it does not require more than one third the usual quantity of so-p and water ; and that there is no rubbing, and consequently little or no wearing or tearing .- That it knocks . If no buttons, and that the finest clothes, such as collars, laces, tucks, without the least injury, as d in fact with at any apparent wear and tear, whatever. We therefore heerfully recommend it to our friends and to the public, as a most useful and labor saving machine, CHARLES W HEGINS. A. JORDAN. OHS WEAVER. CHS PLEASANTS, GIDEON MARKLE. Hon. GEO, C. WELKER. BENJ. HENDRICKS, GIDEON LEISENRING.

Haus's Horse, (farmerly Tremont House, No. 116 Chesnut street,) Philadelphia, September 21st, 1844.

I have used Shogert's Patent Washing Machine n my hon r upwards of eight months, and do not ceitate to eas that I deem it due of the most usetol and valuable labor-saving machines ever invented. I formerly kept two women continually ocupied in washing, who now do as much in two tays as they then did in one work. There is to wear or tear in washing, and it requires not more than one-toled the usual quantity of soop. I have had a number of other m chines in my fam ly, he t this is so decidedly superior to every thing else, and so lettle lenge to get out of repor, that I would n t to without one of they should cost ten times that price they are a ld for.
