

subsequently became the target for the invisible assassin. His letter concludes thus: "With reference to the contents of the papers, I will take the liberty to remark, that they were of a nature to enable me to predict, more than six months ago, to the Hon. David Henshaw, Messrs. Clinton De Witt of New York, and Granville Parker of Worcester, my counsellors, and many others, the present state of affairs in Mexico; and I now confidently state, that within twelve months from this date Santa Anna will be Viceroy of Mexico. And further, let the Spanish government look to it, or Cuba will change masters. With reference to my predictions as to Santa Anna's position within twelve months, I wish to insert this clause; Providing he does not sell, or has not sold, his knowledge of English intrigue to the Spanish government." This is certainly an extraordinary epistle, and as regards the prediction—nous verrons.

CURIOUS EFFECTS OF WATER.—A late number of the Water-Cure Journal, among a variety of interesting matter, contains an article on the "Effects of Water in Intoxication," founded on a very remarkable case related by Dr. Currie in his Narrative published 50 years ago. The facts occurred at Barbados, are thus stated: "A gentleman of this island, whose name was Weeks, a great votary of Bacchus, was in the practice, from fifteen to twenty years, of plunging into cold water when he rose from his bottle, and actually going to sleep in a trough full of water, with his head supported on a kind of wooden pillow made for the purpose, above the surface. When he dined abroad, and had not the convenience of his own trough, he used to strip off his coat, waistcoat and shirt, and sit exposed in the open air, and in that situation go to sleep, whether it rained or not—And sometimes he went and bathed in the nearest adjoining pond, to which he generally required assistance to be conveyed. The effect of this practice was, that instead of experiencing debility, lassitude, headache, and nausea, he found himself on awaking, cheerful and refreshed, and free from all the effects of intoxication. In the year 17-89, dining one day abroad, he got alternately drunk and sober three several times before midnight, each time recovering his sobriety by immersing himself, and sleeping in cold water; and on awakening returning to the company. The last time, after supper, he was so immoderately intoxicated, that he insisted on his companions undressing him and carrying him themselves to the pond. They carried him accordingly in a chair, and set him up to the chin in water, where he continued upwards of an hour, a person supporting him. I had this last circumstance from a gentleman, one of the party, whose veracity may be entirely depended on. "At home, however, he used, as I have already mentioned, a trough made for the purpose, with a bench in it as a pillow, having been nearly drowned when sleeping in his pond, from the negro, who was appointed to watch him, having himself fallen asleep. In this watery bed he would sleep, one, two, three or even more hours, experiencing always the greatest refreshment. His wife and family, when they wished him to change his quarters, used to draw out the plug and let the water run off, when he awoke and humbly complained of the loss of his bed-clothes. At length this expedient began to lose its effects in rousing him, and one time he continued to sleep in his empty trough. In consequence of this he was seized with extreme rigors and chills, followed by a fever attack of rheumatism, which affected him a long time, and made him desist from the practice in future. "But to the end of his life he was in the habit of sitting, when intoxicated, with his clothes open, and sometimes quite naked, exposed to the wind and rain. This extraordinary character died of apoplexy about three weeks ago, aged sixty-three."

On this remarkable case Dr. Shew makes some observations which we would copy at length but for want of room. He defines intoxication, considered in reference to its effects on the body, as a state of fever, caused by the stimulus drunk, and maintains that water is the greatest febrifuge or cooling agent in nature. In many cases of drunkenness were a man cannot walk or remember long enough to speak a sentence through, a remedy may be found in a good shower bath. The man above referred to was enabled to endure the cold bath in consequence of the unnatural heat generated by the alcohol; but he was not thereby enabled to endure fatigue; on the contrary he was disposed to sleep. To a well man it would have been exceedingly dangerous to lie thus in the water; but the drunkard was able to endure it on account of the extraordinary amount of heat in his system. Such in substance is Dr. Shew's theory. The facts are certainly very curious.

TEMPERANCE.
THE PLEDGE.
DEAR Father think me not unkind
When I entreat you so;
Oh! drink no more and then you'll find
A home where'er you go.
Thus spake in tenderness the child—
The drunkard's heart was moved;
He signed the pledge he wept—he smiled—
He kissed the boy he loved.

BRANDRETH'S PILLS by cleansing the Blood from all impurities, gives power to every organ to perform its functions healthily; no matter whether externally or internally situated. Nature has formed the bowels for the evacuation of all unhealthy humors of the blood, and if man would but use common sense, he would take care they performed this office faithfully. If the bowels are out of order, if too slow or too fast, a few doses of Brandreth Pills will bring them to order. Ask the man who was dying from constipated bowels what cured him; he tells you, Brandreth Pills. Ask him who has had the dysentery for six months, and every remedy had failed; he will tell you that Brandreth Pills cured him in a week. So with other diseases. Twelve Brandreth Pills rubbed down in a half pint of molasses, cured a little boy of an ulcer of the face which was rapidly spreading to his eyes, and which a dozen doctors had tried to cure; the poor parents would have given half they were worth to have had it cured, but every thing they tried did no good, until they gave it a tea spoonful of molasses every day, in half a pint of which they had rubbed down twelve Brandreth Pills; before the whole of the molasses was taken, the ulcer was cured.

HERR'S HOTEL,
HARRISBURG, PA.

I beg leave to inform the public that I have left Philadelphia, and am now located in Harrisburg, the seat of the Executive and State Government of Pennsylvania, where I now occupy the spacious Hotel, recently kept by Mr. Matthew Wilson.
This spacious building, having been purposely planned and erected for a Hotel of the first class, is not surpassed if equaled, by any similar establishment in Pennsylvania; and having undergone a thorough renovation, the parlors, rooms and chambers are now fitted up in a style that combines elegance with comfort and convenience.
My TABLE is pledged to be supplied with the best fare the Markets can produce; the charges at the same time being as moderate as any of the best regulated establishments elsewhere. In short, no exertions shall be spared on my part, or on the part of every member of my household, to make it what it should be, in the Capital of one of the most populous and interesting States of the Union.
With these promises, accommodations and facilities, and the fact that the Hotel is most elegantly situated, I with confidence, most respectfully solicit the patronage of the Public.
