

VERSES WRITTEN AT CARMARON -The Savanrah Republican publishes the following lines enclosed in a letter of the 23d of September, written at Carmargo, "from one well known in the city" of Savannab :

My Wife and Child, The tattoo beats-the lights are gone-The camp around in slumber lies-The night with solemn pace moves on-The shadows thicken o'er the skies-But sleep my weary eyes bath flown. And sad, uneasy thoughts arise. I think of thee, oh! dearest one!

Whose love my early life hath bleet ;-Of thee and him-our early son Who siumbers on thy gentle breast ;-God of the tender, frail, and lone, Oh! guard that little sleeper's rest!

And hover, gently hover near, To her whose watchful eye is wet .-The mother, wife, the doubly dear, In whose young heart have freshly met Two streams of love so deep and clear,-And cheer her drooping spirit yet.

Now as she kneels before thy throne. Oh! teach her, Ruler of the Skies! That while by thy behest alone Earth's mightiest powers fall or rise, No tear is wept to the unknown, Nor bair is lost, nor sparrow dies!

That thou cans't stay the ruthless hand Of dark disease, and soothe its pain; That only by the stern command The battle's lost, the soldier's slain That from the distant sea or land Thou bring'st the wanderer home again.

And when upon her pillow lone Her tear wet cheek is sadly pressed, My happier visions beam upon The brightening currents of her breast,

Nor frewning look, nor angry tone

Disturb the sabbath of her rest. Whatever Fate those forms may throw Loved with a passion almost wild, By day by night, in joy or woe, By fears oppressed, or hopes beguited, From every danger every foe,

Ch! God, protect my wife and child! Educate the People.

Mes of wealth, men of learning, pour in-tructions upon the heads of the people-you owe them that baptism. Look at the boy in the gutter ! hatless, shoeless, and almost naked, he te a part of our king; a part of sovereignty. Should be not receive a sovereign's education ! Should he not be prepared for the throne our institutions have given him ! There is a gem in every human form ; let the diamond be polished, and it will shine in truth and beauty. There is still in the most debused 'a beam etherial, though sullied and dishonored, still divine." -And our motto should be-Teach and habitunte the people to make a right use of the faculties which God has given them, and then trust them fearlessly to themselves. Give demo- Farmers' & Mech'es' Bank eracies education, and treedom of action, and Farmers' & Mech'cs' Bank then "let them slone."

'Uneducated mind, is educated vice,' for God made man to know. He is the creature of instruction; for in a right education there is a givine alchymy which turns all the baser parts of man's nature into gold. We are told by the ancients that as soon as the first rays of the morning sun fell upon the statues of Memnon, it sent up music. It is after the first rays of knowledge fall upon man that his nature discourses harmony-all before is the darkness of barbarism.

All can see that wickedness leads to misery. yet very few find out that which is equally certain that ignorance leads to misery, and misery to wickedness. Dr. Johnson was once asked : - Who is the most miserable man?' and the reply of the sage was: 'that man who cannot | read on a rainy day.' The writer was once passing through a park, and saw nailed to one of these trees this warning :- 'All dogs found in this park will be shot,'-A friend who was with us, remarking, 'unless dogs can read they are pretty badly off here." Now God has not only written his laws upon the trees, but in the stars and in the flowers; his laws are above us and beneath us, on our right and on our left, and it a man is not able to read, he is pretty badly off here-worse off than the dog, for the dug has a master to read for him; but man has no master between him and his God.

A maxim, of more truth and force than any ! remember ever to have seen, was thrown off by a British state-man—by a men who wes in learning vivid, varied and philosophical, and who in conversation threw out more gems sparking and brill out as they come, than any other man of his ago. His professed apothegin was that Education is the cheap defence of nations.' And it I might put a truism by the side of this. I would say, it is cheaper to educate the infant mind, than to support the sged criminal. Yes, bestow the pence on commo schools, and save the pounds on prisons. Man was not made to be sent to prime, but to be edmen to is to hang him.'s Neither is a men a Human Poor Box into whose mouth we are to drop a few cents daily. The ignorant child left to grow up darkening into the deeper ignorance of manhood with all its jealousies, and its narrow-mindedness and its superstitions, and its benury of enjoyments : poor amid the intellectoul and moral riches of the universe; blind in this splendid temple which God has lighted op and furnishing amid the profusions of omnips-

(), wee for these who trample on the mind, That fearful thing ! they know not what they do Nor what they deal with-To lay rude hands upon God's mysteries there.

Try Moussel's Universal SHAVING CREAM. Small quantities given without Charge.

At 114 Chesnut St., PHILADELPHILL

HIS new and splendid article, a its name de A notes, is professed to be superior to any Shaving Cream in the United States or Europe. It is unsurpose d for heavity, purity and f agrance, the comewhat enalogous to Gu rlain's Ambresial Cream and other similar compounds. It far surpasses them all by the em lient pasty c nsistency of its lather, which so softens the beard as to render shiving pleasant and easy. It further possesses the advantage over the imported article, in being freshly proposed, no skill being wanting in its manufacture. E. Roussel having had many years' experience in the celebrated Laboratory of Laugur Pere et Fil-, now Remand & co., of Paris.

Besides being the lest, it is the cheapest article for shaving; it is elegantly put up in boxes, with intended steel engraved labels
