Scene in Court. A trial for murder in the first degree, or as

porting men call it, a race for life and death, same off a short time ago, within less than a hundred miles of civilization.

The accused was a big negro, shining black. with bair as still and costse as the teeth of a cording machine.

Clerk .- Prisoner, look upon the juror -- juror look upon the prisoner ! Do you challenge !

Council for the Prisoner .- Not pre-empto rily.

Clerk .-- Have you formed or expressed an opinion with regard to the guilt or innocence of the accused ?

- Juror Why, what a question. How should I?
- [Clerk repeats the question.]

Juror --- Why I never saw him before. Clerk -Answer the question-yes or no, Juror .- No, sir-r-cee ! Court .- No sport here, it is too serious a matter.

Clerk --- Have you any conscientious scruples! Juror - I have a few left.

Cierk -1 mean about inflicting capital punishment.

Jaror-None, whatever, I do aroure you. This emphatic declaration brought the prisoner's counsel to his feet, who was going to argue that the manner in which the juror's last answer was given was a good challenge for a cause, but was stopped, by the court.

Clerk .- Are you akin to the prisoner 1 Juror .--- What !

[Clerk repeats the question.]

- Are you akin to the prisoner !
- Juror .--- Who do you take me for ?
- Clerk .- Are you akin to the prisoner ?

Juror .- Your face is blacker on Sundays than mine is on week days, and your hair is wool. Are you akin to the prisoner ? Clerk --- Answer the question.

Juror .- Akin the devil ! my family are respectable white people !

Here the cloudy brow of the court indicated that the conference should be cut short, and the prisoner's counsel boding no good from the juror's contemptuous opinion of his client, chalenged the juror for cause, namely, an opinion · voressed.

Juror continues .-- What! 1 am insulted by that blackguard clerk, and now a hired bullies has challenged me ; no, I'll fight his clerk lirst, and his bully afterwards.

Court to Juror .- Sir, you are challenged, you may retire.

Juror .--- I never turned back on friend or foc -1'll not retire.

Court .- Sir, you are committed for twentyfour hours for contempt of court. Sheriff, take him into custody. Here the sheriff, who was a resolute good natured man, walked offarm in arm with the prisoner. Juror .-- Why Sheriff, I voted for you, what are you about !

Sheriff .-- Oh ! nothing, you can eat with me and sleep in my room.

Juror .- You are both savage and kind, Mr. Sheriff: I refused to vote for your adversary, because when he was sheriff he never summoned men juror-I thought he slighted me. I am the first juror called since you were elected, Farmers' & Mech'es' Bank

STOVE. in the counties of Northumberland, Columbia an Schuylkill; and from the encouragement met with already, they expect to do a large business. This stove is constructed on an entirely new principle and on the only principle that can make both a good wood and coal stove. The inventor has over-come all the difficulties that so frequently belong to other stoves. He has by his arrangement, constructed a broiling JOven in front, where in broiling, roasting, frying or baking may be done and all the smell that arises therefrom must pass into the combustible chamber, and is not at all thrown out into the room D Besides this, there s an oven only two inches less than the whole size of the stove, wherein baking or roasting may be done as well as it can be in the common brick oven. This oven is always fit for use when the stove is heated, as the whole draught of hot air passes around it constantly.

Public attention is particularly called to this stove. It can be seen at our Store and Tin Estabtishment in North Danville, at the sign of the Columbia Tin shop, and at the Foundry of Rohrbach of four different Oils, one of which, the active and principal ingredient, is obtained from the bark of a ertain species of WALNUT, & new and effectual agent in the cure of Desfness.

Persons who had been deaf for 10, 15 and even 20 years, have been permanently cured by using this oil.
