

Temperance.

The following article from the N. Y. Journal of Commerce of Monday furnishes a striking practical illustration of the advantages of temperance:

BRITISH SHIPS.—It is a strange fact, that while we have many English ships in the port, American vessels obtain 6d. and 9d. per bbl. more freight than they. An English merchant offered the other day, on 'Change, 3s. 6d. bbl to an American ship owner, who could not take the flour, and an English Captain standing by offered to take it at 3s., and then at 2s. 9d., but the merchant would not accept his offer. There was no particular objection to this English Captain or his vessel, but the general unpopularity of them all. The English people at home ought to know why the Americans are getting such great advantages over them, that they may remedy the evil if they please. The complaints we hear made are first against the ships, and second against the captains and crews. The ships, it is said, are not so well put together, nor of so good timber.

But the chief difficulty is the bad reputation which, either truly or falsely, has fallen upon the captains and crews, during the two or three months in which so many English vessels have been here. The report has gone abroad, that the English captains and their crews are intemperate; that for this reason there is no certainty that a ship will go to sea after she is loaded, or that the captain, mates or crew can be found in a condition to do business. It is said that after the news of O'Connell's death, a good many British Captains were drunk for two or three days, by way of a wake for O'Connell. These are the stories, and the English ships will do little here until the matter is cleared up. The American captains and mates are now universally sober business men. They are to be relied upon, and so much superior to the reputation which the Englishmen have acquired, that merchants and underwriters make a difference which must drive the English from the ocean unless they get a better character. We hope they will do so. There will be business enough to occupy all the ships which can be found at leisure. We should be glad also to convince all the nations, that unless they join the Temperance cause, they cannot maintain themselves in the world with the cold water men. A man who is liable to be unmanned,—to make himself a fool,—is not fit to be trusted, and he will not be if temperate men can be procured at any price. A large proportion of the American merchant vessels are under the control of "total abstinence." If there are any such English ships it would give us pleasure to publish their names, and so get them better freight.

THE COMMON LAW.—A legal Member of Congress was once foisted in an important lawsuit before an Indiana jury, by the adroitness of a pettifogger who was opposed to him. The 'honorable gentleman' was but little acquainted in that region of his circuit, whereas the pettifogger was altogether at home. The former had occasion, in the course of his argument, to make frequent reference to the 'common law of England,' which made his side of the case quite clear; but his antagonist soon demolished that strong-hold. 'Gentlemen of the jury,' said he in reply, 'what have you to do with common law of England? What have you to do with any English law? If we are guided by English law at all we want their best law not their common law; we want as good law as Queen Victoria herself makes use of; for gentlemen, we are all sovereigns here. But we don't want an English law. United States law is good enough for us; yes, Indiana law is good enough for Indiana jury; and so I know you will convince the wordy gentleman who has come here to insult your patriotism and good sense by attempting to influence your decision through the common law of England.'

The jury gave the pettifogger his case without consultation.—Knickerbocker.

TO GET RID OF FLIES.—Set several plates or parcels of Chloride of Lime in different parts of the store, or house, and in a day or two you will find yourself rid of these troublesome insects almost altogether. It ought to be renewed constantly and renewed when the lime loses its strength.

"MY DEAR, where is my Morning and Evening Devotion," said Mr. Paul Partington—meaning a small book with that title, in which he was accustomed to read. "Here it is," said Mrs. Partington, producing a dark bottle from the closet, "here it is, in the bottle." He looked intently in her face, to see if malice was actuating her, but all there was calm; and rather than destroy her apparent satisfaction at obliging him, he refrained from explanation and partook.—Boston Post.

ANECDOTE OF DAVID CROCKET.—David once visited a menagerie at Washington, and passing a moment before a particularly hideous monkey, exclaimed, "what a resemblance to the Hon. Mr. —!" The words were scarcely spoken when he turned and, to his astonishment, saw, standing at his side, the very man whom he had complimented. "I beg your pardon," said the gallant Colonel, "I would not have made the remark had I known that you was near me; and I am ready to make the most humble apology for my unpardonable rudeness, but," looking first at the insulted member of Congress, whose face was any thing but lovely, and then at the animal that he had compared to him, "hang me if I can tell whether I ought to apologise to you or to the monkey!"

SOMETHING NEW!

THE subscribers have the exclusive right of vending J. M. HATCHER'S Hot Blast Hot Air Cooking Stoves, in the counties of Northumberland, Columbia and Schuylkill; and from the encouragement met with already, they expect to do a large business. This stove is constructed on an entirely new principle, and on the only principle that can make both a good wood and coal stove. The inventor has overcome all the difficulties that so frequently belong to other stoves. He has by his arrangement, constructed a broiling Oven in front, where in broiling, roasting, frying or baking may be done, and all the small that arises therefrom must pass into the combustible chamber, and is not at all thrown out into the room. Besides this, there is an oven only two inches less than the whole size of the stove, wherein baking or roasting may be done as well as it can be in the common brick oven. This oven is always fit for use when the stove is heated, as the whole draught of hot air passes around it constantly. Public attention is particularly called to this stove. It can be seen at our Store and Tin Establishment in North Danville, at the sign of the Columbia Tin Shop, and at the Foundry of Rohrbach & Clement in Sunbury, where its particular qualities will be fully shown and explained to any person wishing to examine it. The subscribers continue to have on hand all kinds of parlor stoves, such as radiators, cylinders, fancy and plain, suitable for all who may favor us with a call; also common sheet and Russia iron, which can be made in any desirable shape; together with a general assortment of tin and japanned ware, wholesale and retail. Country merchants are invited to call and examine our stock, as our work cannot be surpassed, and prices moderate. N. B. We can safely recommend the above mentioned stove to persons who wish to embark in a good business. The patentee will sell either county or state rights, to suit purchasers, and on reasonable terms. He or his agents may be found in Danville, Pa. J. & J. AWTER.

The undersigned, having seen in operation the hot blast hot air cooking stove, invented and patented by J. M. Finscher, certify that we believe, from the manner of its construction and operation, that it is the best one ever offered to the public. The arrangement is so complete and the construction so judicious, that there is a saving of one half the fuel and time, in doing any given amount of service, over other celebrated stoves. In short we recommend it in preference to all others, for the simple reason that it embraces every branch of economy. Samuel Garrett, John W. Garrett, David Chatfield, W. F. Kitch, John M. Gray, E. Roussel's Universal SHAVING CREAM.

Small quantities given without Charge. 1114 Chestnut St., PHILADELPHIA. THIS new and splendid article, as its name denotes, is prepared to be superior to any Shaving Cream in the United States or Europe. It is unsurpassed for beauty, purity and fragrance, the most analogous to Guerlain's Ambrosial Cream and other similar compounds. It far surpasses them all by the emollient pesty consistency of its lather, which softens the beard as to render shaving pleasant and easy. It further possesses the advantage over the imported article, in being perfectly portable, no skill being wanting in its manufacture. E. Roussel having had many years' experience in the celebrated Laboratory of Laugel, Pere et Fils, now Renaud & Co., of Paris. Besides being the best, it is the cheapest article for shaving; it is elegantly put up in boxes, with splendid steel engraved labels. Price $3 per dozen, or 37 1/2 cents for a single box, to shave one year. It is also sold at $1 50 per lb. or 12 1/2 cents per oz., so that gentlemen can have their boxes filled at EUGENE ROUSSEL'S, Wholesale and Retail Perfumery and Mineral Water Establishment, 114 Chestnut Street, Dec. 19, 1846.—PHILADELPHIA.

DEAFNESS CAN BE CURED!! COOPER'S ETERNAL OIL—A prompt and lasting remedy for DEAFNESS, also for pain and discharge of matter from the Ears. Hundreds of cures in cases deemed utterly hopeless have firmly established its superiority over every former Medical discovery. This valuable Acoustic Medicine is a compound of four different Oils, one of which, the active and principal ingredient, is obtained from the bark of a certain species of WALNUT, a new and effectual agent in the cure of Deafness. Persons who had been deaf for 10, 15 and even 20 years, have been permanently cured by using this oil. In fact, so numerous and so emphatic have been the testimonials in its favor, that the inventor claims for it the distinction of an Infallible Remedy, in all cases, when the Ear is perfect in its formation. For further particulars, and evidence of its great value, see printed sheets, in the hands of Agents. For sale in Sunbury, by J. W. FRILING, September 19th, 1846.—1y
