

From Gen. Wool's Headquarters.
[Special Correspondence of the Picayune.]
CAMP BUENA VISTA, Oct. 8, 1847.

As I have confessed the cape and acknowledged that I have visited the cock-pit, I may as well give you a little insight into one, although it may be somewhat mat a propas after describing a church. Knowing that the good Padre Barro was in the habit of fighting cocks on Sunday, I thought it would be perfectly safe for a poor sinner like me to go and look on and accordingly, about 4 o'clock, I went to the place, in company with a friend. There was a small congregation outside of Mexicans and soldiers discussing the merits of a very 'rum' looking old cock who had the appearance of having seen the elephant in more than one main. As soon as we entered the house, in the rear of which was the pit, a furious crowing in all sorts of notes and from all sorts of tethered cocks, announced that 'bright Chanticleer proclaimed' not the 'dawn' exactly, but that 'his soul was in atoms and eager for the fray.' We entered the yard in which was the pit—a circle of ten or twelve feet in diameter, surrounded by a wall a couple of feet high. Outside of this were three rows of rough beams, one above another, supported at each end by a square pile of adobe serving as seats for the spectators. Tethered by the leg in all directions were cocks of all sorts, crowing and kicking and trying to break loose and get at each other; there were red cocks and brindle cocks, grey cocks and black cocks, and what is technically termed a hen cock—that is a hen cock who inherits all the belligerent propensities of the male bird besides, possessing the accomplishment of being able to lay eggs—each one evidently believing himself to be 'cock of the walk.' The bipeds were quite as much of a motley set as the birds, many of them evidently of what is termed in sporting parlance of 'the dunghill breed'—excepting, of course, the worthy Padre Barro. After a great deal of chatting and talking, two cocks were pitted, and grey and red, and the gaffe, narrow blades of steel, scimeter shaped, and about three inches long, sharp as a razor, were fixed upon their legs. Some wag, seeing the padre, asked an officer's colored servant named Columbus, who was present, if the priest performed service on the occasion, to which the witty namesake of the great discoverer replied: 'No, sir, don't think they do, unless he does it store the cocks is pitted.'

The sheaths of the gaffe were removed and at it they went, but after a few passes the grey cock received one or two blows and ran, whereupon the padre cracked him over the head with his cane, stretching him lifeless. This is the usual custom, I believe, with a running bird; the old adage—"He who fights and runs away will live to fight another day," not holding good in cock fighting. After a tedious wait and more crowing and talking, my female friend and her cock, was pitted against a big red rooster and at it they went. The odds were in favor of the he one, but the hen soon exhibited bottom and proved that she was 'up to trap' by dealing the old 'un several severe blows. He crouched down once as if begging pardon for his presumption, whereupon the knowing 'uns' cried out that the 'she'un had him,' and the two combatants commenced picking up pebbles from the ground, each watching the opportunity to get in the first lick when its adversary off its guard. At last the hen saw a favorable opportunity and went into her opponent like a thousand of brick, and dashed her gaff into his right leg, cutting the tendons so that it became perfectly powerless. She then dealt her blows left and right till he fell down exhausted, and springing upon him, she looked down upon her prostrate foe for an instant and then gave him a couple of feints as Richard always does King Henry as for he has pinned him, with the request that he will go to the devil and tell him that he had Richard's pass. The poor rooster evidently thought that the hen was adding insult to injury, and uttered a cry upon receiving the last two digs as much as say 'don't hit a fellow when he's down.' This was a signal to take off the hen. The poor cock was held up lacerated and bleeding, but before his owner, whose face was sadly elongated, could take off his gaff, the poor victim had 'hopped the twig.' At this stage of the game I left, as it began to rain pretty sharply.

Yours truly,
A. E. D.

A SWEDISH VIEW OF HUMAN AFFAIRS.—The Chronotype says:
'Pour a bucket of swill into a trough before a dozen swine, and you have the aptest possible illustration—homely to be sure—of our present state of society.'
This illustration is both piggish and priggish, and very far from true, besides, men are more hoggish than hogs, in one respect; for they are not content with filling their own bellies, but after having got all they want, they then heap up and keep to themselves infinitely more. No individual quadruped of the porcine race ever was guilty of appropriating to his own use a kernel of corn beyond what was necessary for his present use. If men must be compared with hogs, we think that hogs in strict justice, should be allowed the benefit of the comparison.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY.—An old picture represents a king sitting in state, with a label, 'I rule for all.' A bishop with the legend, 'I pray for all.' and a farmer drawing forth reluctantly a purse, with the inscription, 'I pay for all.'

DR. LEB ROY'S
Vegetable Universal Pills,
The only known Medicine that at the same time purges purifies and strengthens the system.
LONDON, July 7, 1848.
DR. LEB ROY'S Pills are a new medicine which has just appeared, and is fast taking the place of all others of the same class. These pills are composed of many ingredients, but the two principal ones are Sarsaparilla and Wild Cherry, so united that they act together; the one, through its admixture with other substances, purifying and purging, while the other is strengthening the system. Thus these pills are at the same time tonic and opening; a desideratum long and eagerly sought for by medical men, but never before discovered. In other words they do the work of two medicines, and do it much better than any two we know of; for they remove nothing from the system but the impurities; so that while they purge they strengthen; and hence they cause no debilitation, and are followed by no reaction. Dr. Le Roy's pills have a wonderful influence on the blood; they not only purify without weakening it, but they remove all noxious particles from the chyle before it is converted into food, and thus make impure blood an utter impossibility. As there is no debilitation, so there is no nausea or sickness attending the operations of this most excellent of medicines, which never strains or tortures the digestive functions, but causes them to work in a perfectly natural manner; and hence persons taking them do not become pale and emaciated, but the contrary; for while it is the property of the Sarsaparilla, united as it is with other ingredients, to remove all that is foreign and impure, it is equally the property of the Wild Cherry to retain all that is natural and sound; and hence a robust state of health is the certain result of their united operations. Price 25 cents per BOX.

THE SUBSCRIBER IS NOW ENABLED to announce the completion of his arrangements for the establishment of a well-organized and independent Journal of News at the Seat of the General Government.
The leading features of the United States Reporter will be the following:
I. Early intelligence of the Movements of the various Departments, in reference to domestic affairs and to the foreign relations of the country, will be given with scrupulous fidelity. Possessing peculiar facilities for obtaining information, the "Reporter" will be enabled frequently to communicate, exclusively, intelligence of the most important character.
II. The verbatim Reports of the Proceedings and Debates of the United States Senate, which the proprietor is bound to furnish daily to that body, in accordance with the terms of the contract made at the close of last session of Congress. The arrangements now made will at once fully secure to the Senate of the United States an authentic and complete record of its debates; and to the people, in a greatly enlarged degree, the benefit of the experience, sagacity, and steamship of that body to which they have ever looked with solicitude and respectful regard.
III. The Proceedings and Debates in the House of Representatives will also be given with fullness, impartiality and the utmost promptitude. Each day's record will be completely made up, and appear in the "Reporter" next morning.
IV. A Synopsis of the Proceedings and Debates of all the State Legislatures will be regularly given. Members of Congress, and all classes of readers, will thus be kept fully and systematically informed of domestic legislation in all sections of the United States.
V. Early intelligence of all important movements in the Legislatures of Great Britain and France will be communicated by every steamer from Europe, through reporters in London and Paris, who possess peculiar facilities for obtaining information.
VI. The General News of the Day will be given in a condensed form, with industry and attention.
VII. Reports of Arguments before the Supreme Court of the U. S. This department will be so conducted as to make the "Reporter" indispensable to every lawyer in the country.
Such is a brief view of what the "United States Reporter" is designed to be. All the plans and arrangements have been well matured, and the hope is confidently cherished, that the "United States Reporter" will prove itself an energetic, industrious, dignified and perfectly independent journal. It will have no party views—no political bias. The proprietor, by the terms of his contract with the Senate of the U. S., is bound to the condition that "the paper shall contain no political discussions except the debates." It will be the vehicle of news—not the organ of any set of opinions. The grand aim of the subscriber is to establish at the seat of Government a faithful and prompt reporter of all sorts of intelligence—a responsible agent, on whom the politician, the business man, the manufacturer, the mechanic, and every one interested in the affairs of Congress and the Government, may rely at all times with implicit confidence.
It is believed that the establishment of such a reliable journal of intelligence on terms which place it within the reach of the great masses of the people, is an interesting and eventful period in the history of Congressional proceedings, will be regarded with favor by all classes of the community; and having thus stated his objects, the subscriber respectfully solicits a liberal and generous support from the enlightened public of the United States.
JAMES A. HOUSTON.
Stenographer to the Senate of the U. S.
The "United States Reporter" will be printed on a large and handsome sheet, and issued every morning, except Sundays, at the rate of six dollars per annum; single copies, two cents.
In connection with the daily paper, there will be issued from the same establishment,
THE MIRROR OF CONGRESS.
The publication will contain exclusively the reports of the proceedings and debates of the Congress of the United States. It will be issued weekly, in an elegant quarto form, throughout the session of Congress, and will be furnished to subscribers at the rate of two dollars for the long session and one dollar for the short session. It is believed that this great national work will be deemed indispensable in the library of every public institution, politician and professional man throughout the country; and that it will be regarded by the great mass of the people as the very best political text-book for their own instruction and that of their children.
IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.
Throughout the sessions of Congress, Extras will be issued from the office of the "United States Reporter," containing the reports of such debates as may possess particularly exciting interest.
All subscriptions and communications to be post paid, addressed

SOMETHING NEW!
THE Subscribers have the exclusive right of vending J. M. THATCHER'S
Hot Blast Hot Air Cooking
STOVES.
In the counties of Northumberland, Columbia and Schuylkill; and from the encouragement met with already, they expect to do a large business. This stove is constructed on an entirely new principle, and as the only principle that can make both a good wood and coal stove. The inventor has overcome all the difficulties that so frequently belong to other stoves. He has by his arrangement, constructed a broiling Oven in front, where, in broiling, roasting, frying or baking may be done, and all the small that arises therefrom must pass into the combustible chamber, and is not at all thrown out into the room. Besides this, there is an oven only two inches less than the whole size of the stove, wherein baking or roasting may be done as well as it can be in the common brick oven. This oven is always fit for use when the stove is heated, as the whole in draught of hot air passes around constantly.
Public attention is particularly called to this stove. It can be seen at our Store and Tin Establishment in North Danville, at the sign of the Columbia Tin Shop, and at the Foundry of Rohrbach & Clement in Sunbury, where its particular qualities will be fully shown and explained to any person wishing to examine it.
The subscribers continue to have on hand all kinds of parlor stoves, such as radiators, cylinders, fancy and plain, suitable for all who may favor us with a call; also common sheet and Rustic Iron, which can be made in any desirable shape; together with a general assortment of tin and japanned ware, wholesale and retail. Country merchants are invited to call and examine our stock, as our work cannot be surpassed, and prices moderate.
N. B. We can safely recommend the above mentioned stove to persons who wish to embark in a good business. The patentee will sell either county or state rights, to suit purchasers, and on reasonable terms. He or his agents may be found in Danville, Pa.
J. & J. ARTER.

THE UNDERIGNED, having seen in operation the hot blast hot air cooking stove, invented and patented by J. M. Thatcher, certify that we believe, from the manner of its construction and operation, that it is the best one ever offered to the public. The arrangement is so complete and the construction so judicious, that there is a saving of one half the fuel and time, in doing any given amount of a roaster, over other celebrated stoves. In short we recommend it in preference to all others, for the simple reason that it embraces every branch of economy.
