GRICULTURAL.

ole better than it does now. It has come bly even and has the very best or. We have not yet seen a field that was not put in with the drill, thus securing or the seed a good depth and enabling it to be firmly rooted against the freezing and thawing process which in some of our changethe drill the wheat crop in eastern Pennsylranis and no doubt everywhere else has beome a much more certain crop.

We are often surprised at the dilatoriness f some farmers in removing their corn from the field. In many places we see it standog from the time it is cut in September to the middle of November. By this time the mently become mouldy by rains and the fodder utterly ruined. Cattle and even horses cat the fodder with avidity, prefering it to second-crop hay, and by steaming it and mixed with a little Indian meal, the whole, stalks and all, are greedily consumed. Yet we see this valuable provender remain exposed to the weather until it is worthless. Plows, harrows, rollers, wagons, wheelbarrows, &c. are frequently exposed to the reather for weeks and even months, while ces of shelter are close at hand. They fer more injury from this exposure than from half a year's use. And there is no other excuse for this than a plea of a want of time, which every good farmer will say is no excuse at all.

Before the winter closes in there should be a thorough examination of all the fences. ates, doors of the stables, &c. It will be found to be a great saving if everything is put in good order now. A rotten post, a rail with one end down, a broken hings of a gate or door, will not get any better by al. lowing them to remain unrepaired. The post will go down, the rail will disappear, the broken hinge will be increased to two. and so on, everything will be getting worse, and the expenses of repairing will be double. -Germantown Telegraph.

CRIB BITING .- Cribbing is undoubtedly habit rather than a disease. This, it would seem, is proved by the fact that a young horse confined in a stable next to an old horse who is a cribber, will soon acquire the habit. It is very common among horses that are constantly kept in a stable and may be caused by the animal siezing upon cribbiting as a solitary pastime, to while away the tiresome hours of stable life. Or the ranted in every particular. THE "GROVESTEEN PLAND-FORTE" constant diet of hay or oats may derange the BECEIVED THE HIGHEST AWARD OF MERIT AT THE CELE-- as we ourselves well know-uneasiness. Or the long continued inhalation of close and impure air may disorder that part of the body which is the most sympathetic of the entire system, and thus give rise to the habit. Cribbing may be prevented if taken in hand during its early stages. First attend to the atmosphere of the stable, rendering it pure by careful ventilation. Place a lump of rock salt in the manger. This acts as a stimulant to the stomach, and will often enable the horse's digestion to recover its lost tone. If this does not effect a cure add to it a large piece of chalk. Should this prove to do no good, demp the food and at each time of feeding damp the food, and at each time of feeding sprinkle magnesia upon it. Mayhew also ommends a handful of ground oak bark to be given with each feed of grain. Should none of the above measures prove of benefit. we should come to the conclusion that the disease was of more a obstinate nature and should treat as in chronic indigestion. - Maine Farmer. Swiss FARMING. -New-England is somemes called the Switzerland of America .---However striking may be the similarity of TON YARNS, CORSETS, the scenery, there must be, we think, quite MUSLIN, EDGINGS, DRESS a diversity in the habits of the people, judging from the following account by "Carleton" of the Swiss style of "getting up wood," "going to mill," and "making hay." In approaching Mont Blanc, he says: "We meet a woman with a great basket strapped opon her back filled with faggots; another one passes us on her way to mill, her "grist" in a bag lying on her shoulders and a strap from the bag crossing her forehead. In a field opposite a third woman is mowing .-She stops to sharpen her scythe, and we have an opportunity to inspect the implement.- Cure of Seminal Weakness, or Spermatorshosa, in-voluntary Emissions, Sexual Debility, and Impedi-No bushwhacker in the United States-no farmer's boy in all the Union-swings so heavy a scythe-sixteen inches long, four wide and thick enough for the track of the Metropoliton horse railroad. A man with a three-tined wooden fork tosses up the grass to the sun which the "weaker vessel" is mowing. While watching the operation in the eld, a damsel passes us with a wash-tub on her head. No grenadier of the grand army of France ever stood more erect. She is busy with her knitting-work the while." SNOW IN FRITTERS .- Why ?- Make a rather thick batter of flour, milk, and a little salt. Add for each pint of milk used, a teacupfull of newly fallen snow, and at once drop the batter into fat previously made hot. Eat with sugar, flavored with lemon juice .--These directions have come so often, and from so many different sources, that there eems to be something in them, though one would suppose the pure snow could be no better than an equivolent of water. Probably the air carried in by the porous snow and distributed all through the cold batter by stirring, is retained sufficiently to produce lightness, as the hot fat instantly crusts er the outside. This looks plausible. has

Which has become so favorably known as a TONIC AND RESTORATIVE. By Physicians and Invalids in all parts of the coun

The new preparation, "Sarsaparilla in combina-tion with Indide of Lime," presents one of the most prompt alterative agents, in a form capable of exert. ing full action upon the system, and this in minute and pleasant doses. It is conceded that the altern-tive, resolvent, or tonic effects of lodine are exerted most decidedly ween associated with other alter atives, in combination ; and the Sarsaparilla szems

o fulfill perfectly all the favorable requisitions. The first effect usually observed when "SARSAPARILLA WITH IODIDE OF LIME" staken, is an increase of appetite showing that it has tonic properties of a marked character. Its al-terative effects are manifest in its ready combination with the blood and tig-ues Pale, scrofulous women and children improve rapidly under its use, and the vital functions assume a healthy condition It is admirably adapted to a large number of chron ic or arute affections peculiar to children. It is sait-ed to them both by the mildness and efficiency of medicinal effect and the pleasant, attractive form of he remedy. It may be given for a long period where constitutional influences are desired, and no repug-nance, or disinclinat on to take the syrup, encountered, In White Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, and Distortions of the Spine, it should be given persistently, in moderate doses, until relief is obtained In the Spring of the Year, and during the Warm Weather, the accumulation of morbid matters in the system seems to become manifest and very tronbiesome. Las-situde, Headuche, Boils, Costiveness, Loss of Appeute, Pains in the Joints, Indigestion, etc., are very ommon. Nothing ever devised is better adapted to exterminate or drive off these affections than this new combination of SARSALARILLA WITH IODIDE OF LIME.

No preparation like it, or which approximates to it as an Alterative, or Blood Purifier.

has ever before been placed within the reach of invalide. indeed, it is an entirely NEW and sciENTIFIC combinaon. in no respect resembling anything hither to employed.

The opinion of medical men concerning it the description of its chemical character, therapeutic value, manner of use, etc., are given in a circular, GEO. W. CARPENTER. which can be had at the store of any and all first class Druggists. CP Sold in Bloomsburg, wholesale and retail, by Eyer & Moyer, and all Druggists June 6, 1860, -- 6m.
