

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

INTERESTING LEGAL CASE.—During the present week of Court, there was a case tried which excited more than ordinary interest. The question which it involved was one of importance, and laymen as well as lawyers were affected in its determination. It gives us pleasure, therefore, to lay the whole matter before our readers. Sometime during the year 1856, Miss Emma Kimmell, a young and virtuous lady, residing at Johnstown, in this county, was seduced by a young man named Theodore Barnett, under a promise of marriage. The young man failing to make good his promise, and Miss Kimmell being under twenty-one years of age, she sought therefore to redress her grievances and punish the offender by a criminal prosecution. Accordingly she made information against Barnett, and after the legal formula incident to such proceedings had been gone through with, he was brought up to answer an indictment for Seduction. At the March Term, 1858, when the indictment was about to come up for trial, the parties had a settlement; and the District Attorney, on leave of Court, entered a nolle prosequi, and thus the prosecution was ended. This settlement was effected by Barnett executing to Miss Kimmell a judgment bond, conditioned that he would marry her in sixty days from the 9th day of June, 1858, or in default thereof pay her the sum of three hundred dollars. In this bond one David Hamilton was surety, and immediately after its execution, a statement was filed and judgment duly entered for the amount in the Court of Common Pleas of this county. When the sixty days were about to elapse, Barnett and the young lady met by appointment; the Rev. S. E. Babcock, a Methodist clergyman, of Johnstown, was sent for; and the parties were duly joined in the "holy bands of Matrimony," in the presence of several witnesses. Immediately after the ceremony was performed, the husband left the wife, and has never since cohabited with her, nor in any manner provided for her necessities. After the marriage, however, the counsel of Hamilton (the surety in the bond) moved the Court for a Rule to show cause why the judgment should not be marked "satisfied," and on the 8th July, 1859, the Court directed an issue between the parties, to determine whether the condition expressed in the bond had been complied with on the part of the Defendant, Barnett. Upon this issue the jury were sworn. After the judgment had been given in evidence by the plaintiff, the defendant's counsel adduced testimony showing the marriage, and argued that it was such a compliance with the condition of the bond as would relieve the surety. The plaintiff's counsel, on the other hand, gave evidence of the fact that Barnett had left the wife immediately after marriage; that he had never since performed any of the duties devolving upon him as a husband; and showing also repeated declarations on his part that he never intended to and never would live with her, or in any way provide for her wants; and upon this evidence the plaintiff's counsel argued that the marriage had not been entered into and carried out in that good faith, on the part of Barnett, which would be necessary in order to make it a compliance with the condition, and not discharge the liability of Hamilton, the surety. The Court (TAYLOR, P. J.) charged the jury that, if they believed, from all the evidence in the case, that the marriage at the time was a concerted scheme and trick, on the part of Barnett, entered into without any intention to live with her, and discharge the duties of a husband; but to leave her as soon as the ceremony was over, and did leave her, it was not a compliance with the condition upon which the judgment was confessed, and that, therefore, they should find for the Plaintiff. The jury retired, and after an absence of a few minutes, returned with a verdict for the Plaintiff, for the amount of the judgment entered, with interest and costs. It is probable the case will be taken to the Supreme Court. It was ably argued by R. L. Johnston, Esq., for the Plaintiff, and A. Kopelin, Esq., for the Defendant. However the case may be finally determined, it must be admitted that the result of the trial here meets with general approbation.

THE WEATHER for the last few days has been remarkably cold, and over-coats and fires have been in great demand.— Well, the season for such matters is at hand, and the best we can do is to take things as we get them.

LLOYD'S CEMETERY.—About a mile East of Ebensburg, on the Loretto road, there is a spot of ground made dear to the hearts of most of our citizens, as the resting place of the loved and the lost. It is a beautiful and romantic spot, on a bold eminence, skirted by the primeval forest—a spot made sacred as a city of the dead. There, monuments are erected, stones are set, mounds are raised, and trees and shrubs and flowers are planted, all in commemoration of departed worth. Thither we often go; sometimes following one who goes never more to return to us; sometimes to drop a tear or a flower upon the grave of those we loved; sometimes for thought and meditation; but always for instruction. There, in the solemn surroundings of that sacred spot, we may learn much. There we may hold sweet communion with the spirits of those whose memory we so fondly cherish. There we may forget for a time the pleasures and allurement of this troublesome world, and bring our thoughts upon the reality that we too must, sooner or later, become inmates of some city of the dead. There, in the solemn stillness which prevails, a thousand tongues tell us in words the most eloquent, in language which cannot fail to be understood, of God in His infinite wisdom, of Eternity in its infinite time, of the mortality of our bodies and of the immortality of our souls. There, the grass, the foliage, and the blossoming shrub, the faded leaf, the withered rose, and the evergreen are all fit types of our life, of our death, and of our resurrection; and there the marble monument, towering heavenward, unceasingly points us to that happy land "where the wicked cease from troubling, and the weary are at rest."

This beautiful burial ground was donated many years since to the Welsh Independent Congregation of Ebensburg, by the late Rev. Rees Lloyd; and in honor of that good old man, it is called and known by his name. We believe it has always been used in common by the different Protestant denominations of our town and township, for the purposes of interment, though until recently at the sufferance of the donees, rather than as a matter of right. Some years since, it was laid off in lots, so that any person desiring a final resting place for himself or family might be accommodated with a spot for that purpose. It is one of the oldest cemeteries in our neighborhood, and in it repose the remains of large numbers of the early settlers of our town and township. There are but few of us indeed, in this vicinity, who do not feel a mournful interest in this hallowed spot. We, among others, have gone there in the funeral trains of some near and dear friends; and while we would be glad at all times to give some expression of a tender recollection of their many kind acts, and bestow some fitting tribute to their memories, we should be glad also to signify our appreciation of the place by improving and adorning the grounds. As we have said, Nature has done much for the place. Let Art now do something. Let the briars and noxious weeds which now infest so much of the ground, be rooted out, and in their stead, shrubs and ornamental trees be planted.— Let the rickety old fence which surrounds it be substituted by a neat and substantial pale fence. And let roads and paths be made through the grounds, and visitors be compelled to walk in them.— Thus will the spirit of vandalism, now so common, be checked in a great measure, and decency and decorum, at funerals, be much better preserved. Thus will the place be beautified and adorned, and the trees and shrubbery, nurtured and cared for, will soon tell of the green spot which the dead there hold in the memory of the living. Reader! Have you a parent, or a wife, or a husband, or a child, or a brother, or a sister, or a friend who sleeps in Lloyd's Cemetery? If so, then our remarks are intended for you; and we trust you will appreciate them in the spirit in which they are written.

MOUNTAIN CRICKET CLUB.—At a meeting of this Club held on Saturday, the 10th inst., John Fenlon, Esq., being in the chair and Robert Litzinger, Esq., Secretary, the annual election of officers took place resulting as follows:—
President—Geo. R. Lewis; V. President—Richard Tudor; Secretary—J. A. Moore; Treasurer—John Fenlon, Esq.; Ground Committee, Phil. S. Noon, C. T. Roberts and Robert Litzinger.

On motion the Club selected Thursday at 2 o'clock p. m. and Saturday at 1 p. m. to practice.

MARRIED.—On Saturday, 3d inst., by the Rev. David Jenkins, Mr. DAVID POWELL, Sr., of Cambria township, to Miss MARY REES, of Blacklick township.

IN TOWN.—We had the pleasure of meeting Capt. Smith, of the Echo, on Monday last. He seemed to be in good health and spirits, but complained somewhat of the fact that some of the legal gentlemen had subpoenaed him here to prove that he is the editor and publisher of the Echo. It did really seem a little strange that so glaring a fact should be questioned by anybody, even a lawyer.—Everybody who knows Smith and knows the Echo, knows also that they are indissolubly connected. Nevertheless, the legal presumption is said to be, that jurors, as such, don't know anything except what is proven before them; and so our friend was compelled to and did "lay aside all manner of business and excuses whatsoever," and appear before the Court according to the exigency of the writ. By so doing, he has shown himself to be a "law abiding citizen." Moreover, he is a good fellow, and the Echo is a good Loco-Foco paper.

ARE YOU INSURED?—The attention of property-owners is called to the advertisement of the Cambria County Insurance Company, to be found in another column. We speak by the book when we say that this institution is in a prosperous condition. Since its organization it has taken quite a number of risks, and has never yet sustained a loss which was not promptly adjusted, and paid without an assessment. The officers of the Company are in every way reliable, and the institution being located in our own county where every one has an opportunity to investigate its condition, should receive the patronage and encouragement of our citizens.

LARCENY.—One day last week, whilst William O'Keeffe, who resides about a mile east of town, was absent, three of the travelling public, whose names we have not learned, took the liberty of entering his house and stealing therefrom several articles of clothing. As soon as Mr. O'Keeffe returned and discovered the theft, he came to town, procured a warrant and had the parties arrested. They had travelled several miles west of this place when overtaken by the officer. The articles stolen being found on their persons, the parties were committed to jail after a hearing before the Justice, to await their trials.

OUR COUNTY TICKET.—During the present term of our Courts, we have had the pleasure of meeting quite a number of the candidates on the People's County Ticket. Messrs. Proudfoot, Roberts, McMullen, Lytle and Strayer have all been in town, each bringing with him the most cheering news in regard to our success at the coming election. We trust (D. V.) to give the Shamocrats such an effectual routing this fall, that they will never again even think of reorganizing their shattered forces.

By reference to one of our new advertisements, it will be found that our friend Clinton R. Jones has just received and opened a large assortment of Boots, Shoes, &c., at his rooms, one door east of Thompson's "Mountain House." He has determined to sell as cheap, if not a little cheaper, than any similar establishment in town, and consequently invites all those in want of good "understandings" to roll in, confident that he can suit everybody.

New Goods.—We would state to the readers of The Alleghanian, that our friends Messrs. Davis & Jones, at "Variety Hall," are just in receipt of a large, new and elegant assortment of Dry Goods, Boots and Shoes, Hardware, Queensware and Groceries, to which they respectfully invite the attention of purchasers. They have also on hand, Fish of almost every variety. All who want to buy cheap, should bob round and see the stock.

"EXTRACTS FROM PENCILLINGS AT SEA."—We hope to be able to give the readers of the Alleghanian a second paper from these Pencillings at Sea, in our next issue. We feel that these life sketches of foreign scenes will be appreciated not only for their own merit, but as picturing what one we all know, has seen and heard while in distant lands.

MASQUERADE.—A grand fancy dress ball came off in town last night. The affair was a "surprise party." About thirty ladies and gentlemen assumed "characters," and played them out well.

N. Y. MERCURY.—Those of our readers who are fond of a good literary paper, and wish to subscribe, should send on their names to the above journal.

DIED.—At her residence, in Clearfield township, on Sunday evening, 11th inst., Mrs. BETSEY WILL, aged about 50 years.
