The Soul and Sinew Market.

President James Buchanan, in his late Message, dwells at considerable length upon the proposed re-opening of the infamous African Slave Trade, and condemns the proposition as well upon the score of expediency as of humanity. Of course, all this looks very well in print, but coming from the source it does, we confess we have not much faith in it. It is a trite maxim, but nevertheless a very true one, that "actions speak louder than words." If the President is sincere, why is it that he hugs to his bosom and takes into his confidence, the very men who openly proclaim themselves in favor of that which he affects to denounce ? Why is it that he makes such humiliating concessions to the Slave-Power, as those which so profusely interlard other portions of his Message? And why is it that he knowingly and wilfully permits the Slaveocracy to mould and control his administration, so as to make it subserve at all times the interests of the South ?

The object which the extreme South has in view, in the re-opening of the African Slave Trade, is to cheapen Slave Labor. Those of that highly favored section who deal at all in the article, take quite a practical view of the subject, and prefer to steal a nigger rather than buy one, even though that economical way of doing business should prove detrimental to the market of Slave-breeding Virginia. The fact is, the high price of cotton, and the consequent demand for Slave Labor, have so increased the prices of human chattels, in the "Old Dominion," that it is now no small matter to stock a plantation with a home article of niggers. In proof of this, we refer to the following schedule of prices taken from a late number of the Richmond Enquirer :

In the earlier days of this mighty Re public of ours, few (if any) were to be found who would think of defending Slavery upon principle. All without distinction of party or creed, seemed to regard it as a great social and moral evil; the only question being as to the proper mode of getting rid of it. Now, however, there are nunbers in the South, and a few in the North, (with shame be it spoken) who do defend the institution on principle, and who vainly search the Scriptures with a view of bringing to it the sanction of Divine authority. We might overlook such silly conduct on the part of a Southern man, now that the agitation of the Slavery question has become so great. But when a Northern man can get up, in the great city of New York, and assert that Slavery ' is not only not unjust; it is just, wise and beneficent"-when he can do this, and be applauded by the "Democracy" there assembled, then indeed we may consider that we have fallen upon evil times. Such exhibitions of dough-faceism and dirt-eating are sickening in the extreme ; they must be disgusting even to the people of the South.

Charles O'Conor, a legal gentleman of New York, is responsible for the great po-Slavery "is not only not unjust; it is just, wise and beneficent." Mr. O'Conor, in so saying, has certainly said a very great thing on the subject of Slavery, and for aught we know, may be a very great man; regions, etc., will cost about $10,000 .-- | though we hardly think the latter possible. But of this we are certain : greater and better men than Mr. O'Conor have said greater and better things on the same subject. Read :

"Slavery is inconsistent with the genius of Republicanism-it lessens the sense of the for other parties on shares. The profits ed. qual rights of mankind and habituates us to tyranny and oppression." Luther Martin of Md. "It [Slavery] is so odious that nothing can be sufficient to support it but positive law." Lord Mansfield. "It is injustice to permit Slavery to remain for a single hour." William Pitt. "Slavery is contrary to the fundamental law of all societies."

Montespuieu. "Slavery in all its forms, in all its degrees, s a violation of divine law, and a degradation of human nature." Brissot. "Those are men-stealers who abduct, keep, sell, or buy slaves or freemen.'

"Slavery is detrimental to virtue and indus-Beattie. "Slavery is a system of the most complete Plato. "While men despise fraud, and loathe rapine, and abhor blood, they will reject with indignation the wild and guilty phantasy that man can hold property in man. Brougham. "Slavery is a state so improper, so degradof human nature, that it ought not to be suffered to exist." Burke. "No man is by nature the property of another.' Dr. Johnson. "A system [Slavery] which is not only opposed to all the principles of morality, but as it appears to me, is pregnant with appalling and inevitable danger to the Republic. Baron Humboldt.

FOR PIKE'S PEAK .- From present appearances we should judge that the emigration to the gold regions of Pike's Peak will be far grater the coming season, than ever before. From all quarters of the East, West and South we hear of the organization of companies, who will go out prepared with all the necessary implements, such as quartz crushers, cleaners, sluices and other articles calculated to faciliate the extracting of gold from the rock in which it is concealed. LAWRENCE, Mass., Jan. 10, 9 o'clock, amounts contributed by Cambria County P. M .- One of the most terrible catastrophies on record occurred in this city this afternoon. The Pemberton Mills fell with a sudden crash at about 5 o'clock, while some 600 or 700 operatives were at work.

12,50 The Mills are a complete wreck. 200 68,75 or 300 persons are supposed to be still in 55,86 the ruins. 500.00

Some 18 dead bodies have already been taken out together with 284,00 some 25 persons mortally wounded, besides some 50 persons in different stages of mutilation. Mr Chase, the agent, and Mr. Howe, the Treasurer, escaped by running from the falling building.

It is impossible as yet to tell the cause of the disaster.

The scenes there beggar all description. Some two or more acres of ground are piled up with every description of machinery from the fallen buildings.

Huge bonfires are burning to light some two or three thousand persons who are working as if for their own lives, to rescue the unfortunate persons, many of whom litical postulate just quoted, to wit, that chine shops in Chicago and other cities are crying and begging to be released from BOSTON, Jan. 11 .- The Lawrence catastrophe casts a gloom over this city .--Hon. David Sears presided at a meeting of 20 gentlemen to-day, who subscribed $2,000 for the relief of the sufferers, and appointed a committee to solicit further subscriptions.

One hundred and sixty-two are missing. This embraces all those known to have been killed, and those of which no tidings have been obtained. Fifty-two persons are yet confined in the brick and mortar. One hundred and thirty dead bodies have been removed to the City Hall, or been delivered to recognized friends.

the accident, the daughter of James Bannon, ten years old, was penned fast in the ruins when the flames broke out. Seeing there was no escape for her, she took her due-bill from her pocket and handed it to another girl who was near her, and said :

this to my poor, dear father, and bid him good-bye for me.'

The Lawrence Sentinel makes the num. ber of dead, 99; missing, 107; total, 206. Badly wounded, 109, slightly wounded, 100.

The Printer's Union, of Boston, subscribed one hundred dollars last evening for the relief of the sufferers.

THE PRINCE .- The young Prince Napoleon may be seen at any hour in the day running about Compiegne, as happy and healthy as any four-year-old. His little Imperial highness has several companions of his own age, who are decided Democrats, to judge from their manner of treating their Imperial playfellow; he is, I notice, however, quite ready to take his wn part, and battle most manfully for his turn on the mechanical horse, which runs around with one of the boys on his back, or for any of the numerous playthings that are always at the disposal of the children. The young Prince has much the looks of his father when serious, although he resembles the Empress when smiling. He is quite a linquist already, as he manages to make himself understood in French, English and Spanish.

TREMENDOUS TRAGEDY .- Quite a serious Indian tragedy is reported from Minnesota. The circumstances, as detailed, are as follows :- During the time of the annual payment made to the Chippewas a year ago, a Chippewa warrior was shot dead by another of a different band, of the same tribe. Although strong efforts were made by the civil authorities to effect an arrest, yet the murderer escaped. Nothing was known of his whereabouts until he turned up last week at Swan River. Having entered the camp, the squaw of the murdered warrior recognized him. She immediately procured a gun and shot him dead. His brother, who happened to be present, levelled his rifle and killed the sqaw on the spot. Her brother then shot the latter, and was in turn killed. Thus four have fallen to satiate the retaliating vengeance so sweet to RPHANS' COURT VALUABLE REAL ESTATE T

"In looking round at the slave sales in Richmond, made at the well-known marts of Dickinson, Hill & Co., Pulliam, Betts & Co., Hector Davis, and others, we find that active negroes, likely families, as well as boys and girls, command high prices, and there are several gentlemen in market who are purchasing for their own plantations in the South. For the benefit of our county and Southern readers, we will give below the state of our slave market, and the average prices brought by slaves in Richmond : No. 1 men, 20 to 26 years old, from $1,450 to $1,500.

Best plough boys, 17 to 20 years old, $1,350 to $1,426.

Boys from 15 to 17 years old, $1,250 to $1.375.

Boys from 12 to 14 years old, $1,000 to $1,200.

Best grown girls, 17 to 20 years old, from $1.275 to $1,325.

Girls from 15 to 17 years old, $1,150 to $1,250.

Girls from 12 to 15 years old, $1,000 to $1,100.

Of course the quotations only represent the rates offered for the best class of slaves. The inferior grades are numerous, and command prices in accordance with the quality."

It is for the purpose of obtaining Slaves at lower rates than those above quotedto get them practically for nothing-that the fire-eaters of the South are straining every nerve to re-open the African Slave Trade. They do not relish the standard by which Slave-breeders estimate the value of human beings-a standard based upon the rise and fall of the cotton market .---They are not willing to give a bale for a a body, even though they get a soul into the bargain ; for the latter, however precious some may consider it, is generally regarded by them (to use the expression of the renowned Mr. Toots) as of "no consequence-no consequence at all."

The advocates of the revival of the African Slave Trade, while they bring to its support the strong and effective arguments of great pecuniary and financial gain, are emboldened by the fact that the administration of James Buchanan connives at the movement. Whilst the President fills his offices with such men ; receives them into full "Democratic" communion : and makes them his confidential friends and advisers-his anathema against the Slave Trade is not very consistent, and certainly not in very good taste. It is too well calculated to remind one of that famous individual, who, "with one hand, put a penny in the urn of poverty, and with the other, took a shilling out."

CONGRESS .- The Speaker for the lower House has not yet been elected, PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE .- The Pennsylvania Legislature commenced its electing Wm. M. Francis, of Venango ing by its own weight. Speaker. Russell Errett, of Pittsburg, was elected Clerk. The House of Representatives met at 12 o'clock, and proeceded to the election of a Speaker .and Henry Dunlap, of Philadelphia, were placed in nomination and, a ballot being a will to remove the rubbish, they very had, resulted as follows :- Lawrence, soon relieved some rooms so that the dead (Opp.,) 65; Dunlap, (Dem.,) 33.-E. Mr Rauch appointed the following officers for the House : Assistant Clerk-John Hall; Transcribing Clerks-J. S. ruins. Picking, L. Rodgers, S. C. Slavmaker, M. Wyand. The House then elecied J. R. Mathews, opp. Sergeant-at-Arms; J. C. Morgan, Door-keeper; A. D. Smith, Messenger ; and Isreal Gutelius, Postmaster. The officers elected were all the nominees of the Opposition caucus.

DECREASING .- The Mormons, according to their own census, are decreasing in Utah. In 1850 they numbered 38,000 ; in 1857, only 31,022; and in 1858, only about 30,000. They claim, however, that they are increasing in the country at large and in the world, and they ascribe the diminution in Utah to temparary causes and absences. It is computed that there are 32,000 in Great Britain and Ireland, and 7,000 on the continent of formed Churches of France, Switzerland, Europe, besides some 5,000 in Canada, 4,000 in California, and several thousand in the Eastern States and South America. Altogether they number 126,000. Utah is the only place where they practice potimes, have deplored and denounced hu- lygamy and carry out their theories of man bondage, as a social, moral, and po- civil government as well as of religion, and it is the only place where they do not increase.

Still the work of removal went on. The force-pump and engines on the ground were at once got to work, and have been pouring torrents of water on the flames so that at 11:30, the fire does not seem to gain, and hopes are entertained that it will be stayed.

12. Midnight .- Calamity succeeds calamity ! In ten minutes the whole mass of ruins has become one sheet of flame. The screams and moans of the poor burned creatures can be distinctly heard, but no power can save them.

The Washington mill was in great jeopardy, the wind blowing towards the Dock mills, whose counting room touches the Pemberton mills.

Jan. 11 .- 1 P. M .- We have very little additional in regard to the dreadful catastrophe. A large portion of the killed are young girls, and many of them being main supports of their parents.

The fire was confined to the ruins of the Pemberton mills. The loss of property is estimated at
