EDITORIAL ETCHINGS .- From present indications it would appear that the reign of Winter is well nigh ended. The trees have commenced to put forth their buds, but the voice of the blue-bird is not yet heard in the land .- A riderless horse, covered with mud, and having his saddle completely turned, was caught on Saturday night, near Thompson's Mountain House. Apprehensions for a time were felt that both the horse and its rider had gone over the "big cut," or some other dangerous descent, but it was ascertained that such was not the case-the horse having only broken loose from where he was hitched, and amused himself by rolling in the mud. --- William D. Our friends, Cham Roberts and Clint Jones, intend visiting Philadelphia next week-the former to purchase goods for a new jewelry sore which he intends opening in this place, and the latter to buy boots and shees. They will, doubtless, on their retum, report progress through the columns of The Alleghanian .- Mr. Lemuel Davis, listerm on Wednesday of last week with annum. public exhibition .- The attention of preaders is directed to the fourth chapter of the History of Cambria County, our citizens. -- Sixteen new success of the Order for the past six months is unparallelled .- Some talk is being ad with regard to the utility of organizing a fire company in this place. Should such be the case, the Skwirt will likely be of ing at present so rusty that it is almost to turn the cranks .- Court. st week, was kept up till six o'clock on ustay eve--fully making amends for the shurtness of the term of the previous - Applicants for the office of Coun-Superintendent are becoming very nu--For the benefit of those who reford of them, we would state that Blain hatrout-fishing season is rapidly approachas much to the delight of those who are statorially inclined. -- In consequence of the temoval from this place of Robert Litzinger Esq., the Ebensburg Brass Band leader." We understand however, that Phother member takes his place, his place being filled by a new personage. So that, of their soul-enchanting harmony .- Evtrybody says that Dr. Bunn sells splendid lights, and we say everybody says the truth. Several of the young men of our town intend entering upon a course of Olumercial studies, ere long, in the Iron City College, at Pittsburg.——We understand that quite a number of subscription belools will be opened out during the coming summer, for the benefit of the bung ideas .- Mr. Edward D. Evans, later of the second Union School, termibated his professional labors for the present by an examination and exhibition yesesday. - The attention of those of our tealers who desire to purchase fruit and tramental trees, vines, &c., is directed to Feek. OUR TABLE .- "Godey's Lady's Book" for April has been received-in advance of all other monthlies. The number is a capital one. The steel engraving entitled to be expended for statuary and pictures to "Spring," is a chef d'œuvre of artistic taste; the fashion plates and other embelishments are superb; the contributions are of a superior order; and-well, taking it all in all it's considerably the best fashion magazine now published.

of the "Home Monthly"-a periodical newly started in Boston, and edited by William Thayer. It is devoted to Literature, Religion and Home Education, and is a very good specimen of a good highteacher of the third Union School, closed | toned magazine. Price two dollars per

The "Student and Schoolmate" for March-a very tastefully gotten up and exceedingly interesting little monthlywhich appears this week. It is replete is to hand. It is published at Boston, The cost of this structure will be about a with information, and should be read by by Messrs. Robinson, Greene & Co., at quarter of a million of dollars. In it will be the low price of one dollar per annum.

> IN LIMBO. - James Morris, recently notieed in our columns as having perpetrated a most diabolical outrage upon the peron of a little girl, at Carrolltown, and then taken a hasty departure, was arrested last week at Eric. The District Attorney of our county being duly apprized of the fact, immediately sued out a process, and on Monday morning last, Deputy Sheriff Zahm went to Erie to execute it. He rereturned with the prisoner vesterday .-Morris has been placed in the most secure cell in our jail, and we understand from Jailor Todd, that no one will be permitted to- see or converse with him save his portions of the costume. Accompanying the above notice, was a large and delicious wedding-cake-a fact which clearly evinces that the bride and groom, in the midst of their marriage fesivities, did not suffer themselves to be unmindful of that poor though worthy individual, the printer. In consideration of the premises, we hereby tender to the hapa consequence, we are not to be deprived py pair our best wishes for their future prosperity and happiness, trusting that their children's children even unto the fourth generation, may rise up and call them blessed.

> LECTURE .- Col. M. Hasson, on invitation, delivered a lecture, on Monday evenng last, before the scholars of the Union School. Business of importance prevented us from being present on the occasion, but we may state that we have heard the effort spoken of in the highest terms .-Indeed, with the Col's literary ability and experience as a teacher, he couldn't fail to deliver a good lecture on educational Washington Correspondence.

Washington, March 19, 1860. The Secretary of War has communicated to Congress the report of the "Art Commission," who recommend an appropriation of $167,000 adorn the Capitol They suggest that the embellishments be of a purely national character, and that American artists be preferred. There are many scenes in the revolutionary and pioneer periods of our history, which, if faithfully transferred to canvass by any of our eminent artists, or chiselled out of dull, We have received the March number | cold marble, by any of our great sculptors, would be delightful to look upon, and cause a proud feeling to thrill through every patriotic heart; it is well, therefore, that the commission recommend that our early history be commemorated in this manner for the benefit | FISH, SALT,

> W. W. Corcoran, Esq , the wealthy banker. is constructing a vast building at the corner of 17th st. and Pennsylvania avenue, one square west of the White House, which, when completed, he designs presenting to the city for the use and benefit of the Art Association. deposited the works of American painters and sculptors, and ere the wheel of time has relied over one or two centuries, I doubt not it will contain as many specimens of the beautiful. classic and grand in art as any of the present collections in Rome or all Europe.

> Our American Ladies, determined not to be surpassed in art by the "lords of creation," are cultivating a remarkable talent for the brush and chisel. Miss Lander, a sister, I believe, of my wagon road friend, is now at Rome, exercising her rare talents as a sculpor. The New Yorkers are just now in cestaies with her embodiment, in marble, of Longfellow's Evangeline. She has presented the Acadian hero reclining on a bank, strewn with flowers, in a graceful and pleasing position, and has produced a novel effect by polishing at Rome, has furnished some of our best paintings, and attempted statuary, but in the latter has succeeded but indifferently.

> At a party given a few evenings since by Senator Thompson, of New Jersey, to the members of the Legislature of that State, now in this city, two gentlemen, (!) uninvited, "rung in," to use a familiar word. They were ery summarily ejected from the premises .-This has become a nuisance in the metropolis, and should be abated. To a private party, no one, possessing the characteristics of a gentleman, should go without an invitation. It is a breach of etiquette and shows a lack of good breeding, and would not be telerated in things up in more hifalutin style than in the backwoods.

> For the benefit of your lady friends, I would remark that the ladies this spring wear their dresses shorter in front than last year, so that those having pretty feet can display them .-They are also heavily flounced, the deepest flounces being the uppermost. Besides, the little bonnets are in the last stage of decline, the present style covering, at least, a portion of the head. The Zouave hat, for girls, is made of pedal braid-is very pretty and saucy, and the edges are laid over instead of being rolled up. The Adelaide hat, for little folks, is of hemp and half hair braid, with a fall of white blonde trimmed with white satin buglesand looks decidedly coquettish.

> Everybody and "the rest of mankind," who have the dust, are going to see and hear little Patti, in Luchea, to-night. They say she is a 'screamer" in the opera, and brings down the house. I regret not belonging to the Presson the present occasion.

> A cold wet rain is falling all day, and I am reminded of an old-fashioned election day on the Mountain.
