ERRATUM.—In our last number, in an article under the caption of "The approaching School Convention," instead of "that decrease or increase of salary (of County Superintendent) would only affect this county to the amount of one hundred dollars of such decrease or increase," the sentence should read, "to the amount of ONE DOL-LAR in one hundred dollars, of such decrease or increase." EDITORIAL ETCHINGS .- The Board of School Directors of Johnstown borough out of about forty applicants, selected the following corps of instructors to take charge of the schools of that place. The summer term opened on Monday last: Superintendent, Mr. E. W. Mauck; Teacher n Department No. 1, Mr. Willlam Turner; No. 2, Miss Mary M. Swank; No. 3, Messrs. D. A. Peck and J. F. Condon; No. 4 Misses Maggie A. Ramsey and Maggie J Lane; No. 5, Miss Sarah E. Harbison; No. 6, (Kernville,) Miss Agnes Montgomery. -A young man named Rice was drownin Clearfield creek, White township, on Sunday of last week. He attempted to cross the stream above Younkin's dam on a raft, but in consequence of the swiftness of the current, was unable to do so; and on jumping from his frail craft, struck his head on the wall of the abutment, and sank to rise no more. The body was recovered .- Hen McPike, of the Echo, was in town on Saturday last. During his stay he managed to eall around and see us several times, and our former good opinion of him was only more fully confirmed by each visit. Long live Henry .- The ay party which was intended to have been held on Tuesday, did not come off, in usequence of unforeseen circumstances. astead of a large turn-out on the occasion as was anticipated, it was a blow-out .--For a specimen of flowery poetry, our readare referred to the ode to a boquet, in le last week's Echo. Those posies, it would seem, were not "born to blush uneen, and waste their fragrance," etc .--Some of the lady members of the Presbyterian congregation at Johnstown, have presented their pastor, Rev. Hughes, in the eastern end of town, where they can have their desires fulfilled. In another column will be found an enumeration of some of the articles composing his stock, which see .- Capt. James Murray, of this place, and Henry A. M'Pike, of Johnstown, have received the appointment of assistant Census Marshals for this county. Both good men.

A HINT .- The time is rapidly approaching when that more fortunate portion of the inhabitants of the hot and over-crowded cities who do not belong to the "can'tget-aways," will be packing up and leaving for the watering-places and summer resorts; when, unable longer to endure the sweltering heat, reflected from countless walls of brick and stone, they will be seeking for a cool and invigorating nook in which to repose for a season from the arduous toils and cares of business. There are many such places to be found; but unfortunately for the happiness of guests, these generally happen to be celebrated resorts-where fashion and dress usurp the place of comfort and ease. Ebensburg combines in an eminent degree all the ne cessary essentials towards the enjoyment of strangers-cool and invigorating breezes, healthy climate, romantic scenery, forests swarming with game and streams filled with trout, good hotels, and quietness .-Why not come to the mountain village, then, gentlemen of elegant leisure-retired business men with families-everybody,-and pass the dog-days? Come, and our word for it, Cape May will thenceforth possess charms for you no more, Newport will Pale its ineffectual fires, and Saratoga sink into utter insignificance in your estimation before the summer is half ELECTION OF Co. SUPT .- The Directors of Cambria county will meet on Monday next to elect a Superintendent for the public schools. As there are one hundred and fifty directors in the county, and about a dozen applicants for the office to be filled, there will doubtless be a busy time in town. If at any time the duties of these preservers of the "nation's bulwark" should become tedious or irksome- if the wheels of business should chance to clog-to vary the exercises, we would suggest the propriety of their adjourning, and marching in a solid body to our office, where they can entertain themselves by subscribing for The Alleghanian, (if they have not already done so.) After this, business will go on with renewed briskness, and we doubt not such a selection will be made for the office in view as will reflect eredit on all concerned. The experiment can easily be tried, and will be found to be worthy of all acceptation.

[FOR THE ALLEGHANIAN.] THE BEAR AND THE SAW MILL.-A hungry bear, searching for food, lighted upon a saw mill which stood on the little Hill. The man who attended it was eating his dinner when Bruin walked up to the mill. Seeing the bear coming, the man started from his seat, and climbing up to the beam of the mill, sat upon it .-Bruin sat down on his haunches, and begreat satisfaction. But the man, having recovered from his fright, thought he would disturb the bear's equanimity, by setting the saw in motion. So crawling softly along the beam, he leaned over, and down went the gate, and on came the water. In a moment the saw began to dance, and the log on which Bruin sat, to slide toward it. It was now the Bear's turn to start. He leaped from the log, gazed at the saw a moment, and then with a growl of defiance, leaped upon the saw, and hugging it to his breast in a fit of fury, was soon changed into a dead Bear. The man you may be sure, was very well pleased DRY GOODS. with this. He got rid of a troublesome visitor, and Bruin's body was worth more than the dinner which he had lost. But when the saw mill went off, "all was lost."
