

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

Thermometrical Observations. Prepared weekly, by Dr. R. S. Bunn. Table with columns for Time (7 A.M., 12 M., 6 P.M., A.M.), Wind, and Temperature.

LOCAL ETCHINGS.—In our notice of the new arrangement with regard to the carrying of the mail between this place and Indiana, via the Clay Pike, we last week committed a slight mistake in the date. We should have said that the mail would leave Ebensburg on Thursdays and arrive in Indiana the same day; and leave Indiana on Fridays and arrive in Ebensburg ditto.

At about 1 P. M., the grand procession of the Sons and Daughters of Temperance came off. The members of this body, to the number of about two hundred and twenty-five, dressed in full regalia, paraded through the principal streets, and from thence proceeded to Lloyd's Grove, a short distance below town, where their recherché intellectual bill of fare was filled out.

The festivities of the day were greatly heightened by the eloquent music discoursed at short intervals by the Ebensburg Martial Band. Young America—that is to say, that portion of Young America who could command packs of fire-crackers and toby cigars to light them with—exerted themselves in efforts to keep up a continual fizzle!

Our THANKS.—Whilst in Jefferson one day last week, our little friend, Miss Maria C. Hamilton, presented us with a very tastefully arranged bouquet. We tender her our thanks, and hope she may live to see the flowers bloom many summers to come.

BITTEN BY A SNAKE.—On the 4th inst., a young daughter of the late John Grove, of Taylor township, this county, whilst picking berries in the meadow near the residence of her mother, was bitten on the back of the hand by a rattlesnake. In spite of all efforts to the contrary, the bite proved fatal, and the sufferer died from the effects of the poison on Friday, at 4 o'clock, A. M.

CELEBRATION OF THE FOURTH.—The morning of the 84th anniversary of American Independence was ushered into existence by a drizzly, mizzly rain, accompanied by a rather extensive ringing of bells and exploding of gunpowder. The weather did not bode very fairly, but about 10 o'clock, however, the clouds dispersed, and the sun breaking through the vapor which surrounded it, dispelled all doubts on the subject, and with its warm and cheering rays infused new life into everybody and everything. Soon the country folks began to pour in, and by noon a larger crowd thronged our streets than has been seen in them for many a day.

The first regular demonstration of the day was the Sunday Schools' celebration. According to preconcerted arrangement, at 10 A. M., the various Sabbath Schools met at the Welch Independent Church, where instructive addresses were delivered to the scholars by Revs. Williams, Harbison, Powell, Shane and Lloyd. It was the intention of the schools to have marched in procession through town, but owing to the dampness of the weather, that portion of the exercises had to be foregone.

IN LUCK AGAIN.—Scarcely had the lower tier of our other box of cigars made its appearance, the other day, when the clerk of Mr. E. Sultzbaugh, of the Ebensburg Cigar manufactory, also made his appearance, bringing with him a box of super-weeds, which, after some preliminary remarks, he proceeded to tender us, for our especial use and behoof forever. By the smoke which so gracefully curls from them as we puff, it can easily be seen that they are of a superior brand. That Mr Sultzbaugh's career may not terminate as will his (our) cigars before very long—in smoke—is our sincere wish.

LEGAL.—In another column this week will be found the professional card of our young friend, G. W. Oatman, Esq. George has been a close student, and we know him to be possessed of all the requirements for the making of a good lawyer. We hope he may receive his reward.

PISCATORIAL EXCURSION.—On last Saturday afternoon, having nothing particular to do and more than a sufficiency of time to do it in, we, in company with a friend, went a trout-fishing. Our destination was in close vicinity to ye deserted village of Beulah. This somewhat famous location was once the seat of a flourishing little town, and contained all the concomitants of civilization; but it is now nothing but a miscellaneous heap of ruins—abode for bats and owls, and a burrow for foxes and rabbits. It is, in fact, totally "wiped out." Not a house or building of any kind rears its head aloft to bear witness to its former greatness, and not a vestige of its ancient grandeur remains to tell the tale. It is "deserted, ruined, alone!"—not even

Those who have fished up the Blacklick from the Beulah bridge, or, indeed, those who have fished along any stream where the branches of the impenetrable laurel on the banks meet and intertwine overhead, thereby causing the angler to follow the bed of the stream, sometimes up to the boot-tops in water, and with very wet coat-tail appendages caused by stooping to dodge projecting boughs, can appreciate our tramp and its varied pleasures. But without going into detail, we will state that after spending a couple of hours in this manner, we "broke off," and on counting fins, found we had succeeded in taking about four dozen of exceedingly captivating "beauties"—which amount, taking the medium of time embraced between going out and coming home into consideration, we flatter ourselves is rather respectable.

A COMPLIMENT.—We were agreeably surprised on Monday last, by having presented to us by James J. Will, Esq., on behalf of the lady portion of the Sabbath Schools of Chest Spring's borough and Ashland, a large and delicious pound cake—a relief of the good things which were provided at the celebration at the former place on the Fourth, an account of which is given elsewhere. Accompanying it was the following note:

From the Ladies of the Ashland and Chest Springs Sunday Schools:—ED. ALLEGHANIAN.—Sir: Please accept this cake as a token of our regard for you as a public journalist. May you ever continue free from bias and sectional prejudices—an uncompromising advocate of the rights of man, and of our glorious Free School System.

OUR THANKS.—Whilst in Jefferson one day last week, our little friend, Miss Maria C. Hamilton, presented us with a very tastefully arranged bouquet. We tender her our thanks, and hope she may live to see the flowers bloom many summers to come.
