MISCELLANY.

At a late hour last evening, says the New York Tribune, of a few days since, we were surprised to learn that the street. celebrated Lola Montez, Countess of Landsfeldt, lay at the point of death, and was not expected to survive the night. On Saturday morning, she arose in her usual health, but soon complained of giddiness, and, lying down, was at once deprived of speech and motion, by a paralytic stroke. Sunday and Monday, she was able to partially recognize those about her, but yesterday she seemed to have lost all consciousness, and was pronounced by her medical attendants as beyond hope of life .--For some time past, she has resided at No. 15 Clinton Place, and during her sickness has been faithfully cared for by several of her intimate friends.
