N APERIENT and stomachic prepa-A ration of Iron purified of Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the highest medical authorities, both in Europe and the United States, and prescribed in their practice. The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions, indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case, Innoxious in all maladies in which it has been tried, it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz:

In Debility, Nervous Affections, Emuciation Dyspepsia, Constipation, Diarrhaa, Dysentery, Incipient Consumption, Scrofulous Tuberculosis, Salt Rheum, Mismenstruction, Whites, Chlorosis, Liver Complaints, Chronic Headaches, Rheu matiem, Intermittent Fevere, Pimples on the Facr. etc.

In cases of General Desility, whether the result of acute diseases, or of the continued. diminution of nervous and muscular energy storative has proved successful to an extent which no description nor written attestation would render credible. Invalids so long bedridden as to have become forgotten in their own neighborhoods, have suddenly reappeared in the busy world as if just returned from protracted travel in a distant land. Some very signal instances of this kind are attested of emale sufferers, emaciated victims of apparent marasmus, sanguineous exhaustion, critical changes, and that complication of nervous and dyspeptic aversion to air and exercise for which the physician has no name. In Nervous Affections of all kinds, and for casons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation of iron must necessarily be alutary, for, unlike the old oxides, it is vigorously tonic, without being exciting and overheating; and gently, regularly aperient, even in the most obstinate cases of costiveness, without ever being a gastric purgative, or inflicting a disagreable sensation.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably effectual and permauent a remedy for Piles, upon which it also appears to exert a distinct and specific action, y dispersing the local tendency which forms physicians, in several very gratifying and interesting instances. In Scrofulous Tuberenlosis this medicated Iron has had far more than the good effect of the most cautiously balanced preparations of iodine, without any of their well known liabilities. The attention of females cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative in the cases peculiarly affecting them.

In Bhenmatism, both chronic and inflamatory-in the latter, however, more decidedlyit has been invariably well reported, both as alleviating pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles, In Intermittent Forers it must necessarily be
