

MISCELLANY.

"EIGHT MORES TWELVE."—A Dutchman leased his lands to an oil company last spring, on condition of receiving one-eighth of the oil produced. The well proved to be a pretty good one, and the farmer began to think that the oil men should give him a better chance, and vintared to tell them so. They asked him what he wanted. He said they ought to give him one-twelfth. The agreement was finally made, with the understanding that the Dutchman was not to tell any one. All went smooth until the next division day came, when our friend was early on hand, to see how much better he would be off under the new bargain. Eleven barrels were rolled to one side for the oil men, and one for him. This did not suit him. "How's dish," says he. "I tink I was to get more as before; py jinks, you make mistake." The matter was explained to him, that he formerly got one barrel of every eight, but it was his own proposition to only take one of every twelve. This revelation took him aback. He scratched his head, looked cross and relieved himself of self-reproach by indignantly remarking: "Vell, by dunder, dat ish de first time as ever I knowed eight was more as twelve."

A RUSTIC MAIDEN ON MATRIMONY.—A country girl, whose sisters had married badly, was about to take the noose herself. "How dare you get married," asked a cousin of hers, "after having before you the unfortunate example of your sisters?" The young girl replied with spirit: "I choose to make a trial myself. Did you ever see a parcel of pigs running to a trough of hot swill? The first one sticks in his nose, gets it scalded and then draws it back and squeals. The second burns his nose and stands squealing in the same manner. The third follows suit, and squeals too. But still it makes no difference with those behind. They never take warning of those before, but all in turn thrust in their noses, just as if they hadn't got burned or squealed at all. So it is with girls in regard to matrimony—and now, cousin, I hope you are satisfied."

ESSENCE OF YOUNG AMERICA!—Scene—Cabin of the New World. Little boy with a "letter in the post-office," eyeing old gentleman in blue and yellow, and with a large mouth. Little Boy (inquiringly)—"Who made that suit under your nob, old feller?" Old Gentleman—"You are impudent." Little Boy (suggestively)—"Careless cuss, wan't he?"—out a little deeper he'd had yer head off."

AN APERIENT and stomachic preparation of Iron purified of Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the highest medical authorities, both in Europe and the United States, and prescribed in their practice. The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions, indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case. In Nervous Affections in which it has been tried, it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz: In Debility, Nervous Affections, Emaciation, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Diarrhoea, Erysipelas, Injunct Consumption, Scrophulous Tuberculosis, Salt Rheum, Menstruation, Whites, Chlorosis, Liver Complaints, Chronic Headaches, Rheumatism, Intermittent Fevers, Pimples on the Face, &c. In cases of GENERAL DEBILITY, whether the result of acute diseases, or of the continued diminution of nervous and muscular energy from chronic complaints, no trial of this restorative has proved successful to an extent which no description, nor written attestation would render credible. Invalids so long bedridden as to have become forgotten in their own neighborhoods, have suddenly reappeared in the busy world as if just returned from protracted travel in a distant land. Some very signal instances of this kind are attested of female sufferers, emaciated victims of apparent marasmus, sanguineous excretion, critical changes, and that complication of nervous and dyspeptic action to air and exercise for which the physician has no name. In Nervous Affections of all kinds, and for reasons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation of iron must necessarily be salutary, for, unlike the old oxides, it is vigorously tonic, without being exciting and over-heating; and gently, regularly aperient, even in the most obstinate cases of costiveness, without ever being a gastric purgative, or inducing a disagreeable sensation. It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably effectual and permanent a remedy for Piles, upon which it also appears to exert a distinct and specific action, by dissipating the local tendency which forms them. In Dyspepsia, innumerable are its cures, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often sufficed for the most habitual cases, including the attendant costiveness. In unbroken Dyspepsia, even when advanced to Dysentery, confirmed, emaciating, and apparently malignant, the effects have been equally decisive and astonishing. In the local pains, loss of flesh and strength, debilitating cough and remittent hectic which generally indicate Injunct Consumption, this remedy has allayed the alarm of friends and physicians, in several very gratifying and interesting instances. In Scrophulous Tuberculosis this medicated iron has had more than the good effect of the most cautiously balanced preparations of iodine, without any of their well known liabilities. The attention of females cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative, in the cases peculiarly affecting them. In Rheumatism, both chronic and inflammatory—in the latter, however, more decidedly—it has been invariably well reported, both as allaying pain and reducing the swelling and stiffness of the joints and muscles. In Intermittent Fevers it must necessarily be a great remedy and energetic restorative, and its progress in the new settlements of the West, will probably be one of high renown and usefulness. No remedy has ever been discovered in the whole history of medicine which exerts such prompt, happy and fully restorative effects. Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exertion immediately follow its use. Put up in neat fat metal boxes, containing 50 pills. Price 75 cents per box; for sale by druggists and dealers. Will be sent free to any address on the receipt of the price. All letters, orders, etc., should be addressed to R. B. LOVELL & CO., General Agents, 20 Cedar street, N. Y. May 31, 1860.—ly.
