

LOCAL ERCHINGS.— Going off again—the slow. A bad day for fitting—Monday. The Argument Court for the March term commenced yesterday.

What we Want—good local correspondents from every section of the county.—File in, gentlemen. Came in like a lamb and went out ditto—March. O, old adage! you are falsified awfully this time.

It is currently reported and generally believed that oil has been struck a few miles below Hollidaysburg. A little daughter of Alex. Mock, of Altoona, was scalded so severely several days since as to result in her death.

Dr. Michael Hay, an old and highly respected citizen of Johnstown, died at his residence at that place on the 21st ult. Take particular notice to D. J. Evans' advertisement of a Lost Watch. A reward of three dollars is offered for the return of the missing article.

The Post Master for this borough has not yet been named, but the general supposition is that Major John Thompson, of the Mountain House, will be the lucky appointee. He will make a good officer.

The Poor Directors of Huntingdon county have contracted for the erection of an additional poor-house building, especially for the accommodation of the insane, 33x26 feet, one story, and to cost $500.

A man named Peter Shaeffer, who resides in Westmoreland county, was recently robbed of three hundred and sixty dollars, besides several notes and papers of value, on the open highway, by two men with blackened faces.

Attention is directed to the advertisement in another column of Messrs. Lloyd & Hill, Wilmore. Those indebted to the late firm of Wm. H. Gardner & Co. are called upon to settle their accounts. See to it.

Our friend Robert D. Thomas has opened out a Tailoring establishment in his own personal name in the room above Evans & Son's store, where he holds himself in readiness to do up fits in the most approved manner and on the shortest notice. Give him a call.

APPOINTMENTS BY THE M. E. CONFERENCE.—The annual session of the Pittsburgh Conference of the M. E. Church, held at M'Connellsville, Ohio, closed on Monday evening, 25th ult., after a harmonious session of five days—Bishop Ames presiding. The following are the ministerial appointments for this district:— Presiding Elder, William Lynch; Blairsville, J. W. Shirer; Indiana, John C. High; Johnstown, D. P. Mitchell; Greensburg and Latrobe, W. W. Roup; Kittanning, R. Cunningham; Dayton, S. Burt; Elderton, F. D. Fast, J. F. Hill; Marchand, J. S. Lemon, D. W. Wampler; New Florence and Robinson, W. Long, A. P. Leonard; Mechanicsburg, J. D. Knox; Burrell and Apollo, W. A. Stewart, R. G. Heaton; New Derry, M. J. Montgomery; Ebensburg, S. F. Show, J. G. Gogley; Conemaugh, H. Mansell; Ligonier, J. S. Wakefield; Mt. Pleasant and West Newton, J. J. M'Illyer, I. A. Pearce; Saltsburg and Hopewell, J. Shane.

HOW TO GET THROUGH A CROWD.—We presume, dear reader, that you have often been wedged fast in a crowd. It is very unpleasant, the jamming, crumpling and crushing of a large and enthusiastic body of men, especially if you have an engagement and can't get out to fulfil it.— Besides, it is deleterious to "billed buds" and sensitive chapeaus. We think, therefore, that we are performing a praiseworthy deed by laying before a suffering fraternity the following rules for their guidance:—When you desire to get through a crowd, elevate your elbow high, and bring it down with great force upon the digestive apparatus of your neighbor. He will double up and yell, causing the gentleman in front of you to turn half way around to see what is the matter. Punch him in the same way, step on his corns, pass him, and continue the application until you have reached the desired point. This plan never fails.

SHADE TREES.—Now is the time to plant shade trees, and those who have not attended to the matter should see to it at once. According to our estimate of beauty, nothing so enhances the appearance of a town as the cultivation of ornamental and shade trees along the streets. And when the outlay required for such beautifying is so small—for the trees can be furnished for about fifty cents apiece—the only wonder is that it is not practised to a far greater extent. We would like to see continuous rows of trees along all the streets. "Scatter the germs of the beautiful," and let us sit under the shadow of our own locusts and maples next summer.

THE FIRST INSTANT.—The usual, or rather an unusual amount of "fitting" came off on Monday. Among those who have changed their locations are: Herr Foster, of the Arcade, who has gone into the Logan House; Isaac Crawford, of the Logan House, removed to the Arcade; C. R. Jones, boot and shoe store, removed to office one door east of D. J. Evans & Son's store; Blain, barber, removed to office one door west of Dr. Bunn's drug store; E. J. Mills, store, removed to post-office building.

JUST SO.—For an illustration of the fact that you can buy goods as cheap in Ebensburg as in the Eastern cities, proceed immediately to C. R. Jones' store, where you can satisfy yourself on the score. Remember the place—one door east of D. J. Evans & Son's store, and almost immediately opposite Davis & Jones' store, High street.

THE E. & C. RR. DEPOT.—The erection of this building, the contract for which was awarded to Mr. E. E. Evans, has been commenced. Its size is to be 80x35 feet, and the eastern end is to be on a direct line with the western boundary of Centre street. The terms of the contract require its completion on or before the first of June.

AND NO MISTAKE.—The firm of D. J. Evans & Son give notice through our advertising columns this week that they are now offering their entire stock of goods for sale at cost. Those desiring bargains—and who doesn't?—can get them there. Who speaks?

DIED.—On Monday, 1st inst., at her residence, in Allegheny township, Mrs. CATHARINE KAYLOR, aged about 63 years. In Loreto, on Friday, 22d ult., SEVERUS, son of William and Monica Litzinger, aged about 8 years.

An excellent hotel—Reamy's American House, Hollidaysburg. A model conductor—Cramer of the Brauch Train, Hollidaysburg. In good order—our steets.

LETTER FROM OILIANA. OILIANA, April 2, 1861. To the Editor of The Alleghanian: It is very slow work, is this boring business. When I wrote you before—which was one week ago—I was down twenty-three feet. I am only ten feet further down now.

Thirty-three feet, and no oil. Alas! Several good boarding-houses are needed here badly. (Tell the editor of the Mountaineer to make a note of this fact, and mention it in that list of What He Wants.) Grub is scarce; also high-priced. The principal or big dish at the house in which I formerly boarded was old bootlegs stewed in fle. For which, and such, we had to disgorge the neat little swindle of a V per diem. I couldn't stand it—neither the bootless legs nor the price. So I left—I think I did right. I now keep bachelor's hall. I lay in provisions each night from neighboring hen-roosts and spring-houses. Economical, but risky in the long run.

The weather continues favorable. The trees out here have already commenced leaving. One curiosity that I have noticed about our climate is this—In winter, when the atmosphere is cold and frigid, the trees are generally as bare as a delicious darling's shoulders when she is undressed for an evening ball; while in hot, sweltering summer they are arrayed in plentiful covering. Why not costume up in winter as a protection against Boreas' biting blasts, and go nude during summer? Sure enough. At least I think so.

I hear that the unfortunate dissensions which disturbed our beloved country before I embarked in my present spec. still continue. I am sorry for this. It is all wrong. On the word of a man who is determined to strike a hundred barrel oil well before many days, this excitement and fuss isn't the thing. I am a Union man; likewise a Northern man—and I can see no valid reason for destroying this great and enlightened E Pluribus Unum.

Besides, I am Captain of the Oiliana Guards, as noble-looking a body of drilled and disciplined men, from the commander down to the powder-monkey, as ever handled ramrod. And if those villainous Southern Reign-of-Terrorists kick up a row—not a war of words but a war of swords—I am distinctly and indisputably in. With Justice and Right as our shield, we will grasp the hideous paraphernalia of war and go in and win. The various fascinations of oil will give way to the pomp and circumstance of gellorious war. Tattoo, reveille, shoulder arms, cartouch-boxes, blood and glory; advance, retreat—no, sir—ce! blot out that last word—Charge, Caleb, charge! and on to Victory! [Wouldn't strong-minded women make good soldiers? they are so great on precipitating themselves into breeches.]

Our battle-ery is in the following thrilling and strictly original words: Strike—till the last armed foe expires! Strike—for your altars and your fires! Strike—for the green graves of your sires! God and Oiliana!

The "strike" part of this slogan, I take it, is something unique and altogether called for by the circumstances and surroundings. Patriotically, etc., CALEB SMITH.

A CARD.—WITNER'S BRIDGE, Lancaster Tp. July 30, 1860. MESSRS. EVANS AND WATSON: GENTLEMEN.—The small size No. 1 Salamander safe which I purchased from your agent, Mr. Adam R. Bar, in Lancaster City, on July 20th, 1858, has been subjected to a very severe test, which it withstood in a most satisfactory manner. This safe, containing all my books, together with valuable papers belonging to myself and some to my neighbors and friends, and representing a value of over Twenty Thousand Dollars, ($20,000) was in my Mill which was destroyed on the night of the 27th of July, 1860, and passed through the fiery ordeal unscathed. The safe was on the second floor and fell to the basement of the Mill, and was subjected for six hours to an intense heat among the ruins, which was greatly increased by the combustion of a large quantity of grain confined within the brick walls. After the fire the safe was opened and the books and papers taken out in a state of perfect preservation, the paper not even being discolored. This fact was, however, to many bystanders a better recommendation of your Safes than could be expressed in any other words from me. Yours Respectfully, SAMUEL RANCK.

A large assortment of the above quality of Fire and Thief Proof Safes always on hand and for sale at as low rates as any other firm, at EVANS & WATSON'S, No. 304 Chestnut st., Philadelphia.
