

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

LOCAL ERCHINGS.— Looming up—the new depot. Lingers in the lap of spring—winter. Drying up slowly—the oil excitement. Ditto—our highways and byways. Coming—the trout-fishing season. Per sequence, the Standard man is in ecstasies.

Beecher says that "Nothing on earth can smile but man." This may be true, but we have often heard a horse-laugh. Mr. E. F. Lytle, our present efficient Register and Recorder, has removed with his family from Wilmore to this place.— We give him welcome.

Two "called gemmen," who reside in Johnstown, indulged in the rare sport of a free fight the other evening, during the continuance of which one of the parties was severely stabbed.

A man named Emanuel Lloyd was committed to our jail on Tuesday, charged with having feloniously appropriated a coat, vest, watch, and the sum of twenty dollars from the Perry House, Johnstown. He was arrested at Duncannon.

The Echo says that Johnstown is exceedingly unhealthy at the present time, and that a large number of deaths have occurred during the past ten days.

The following appointments of Postmasters for offices in Blair county have been made: For Hollidaysburg, James Bingham; for Altoona, Geo. W. Patton; for Williamsburg, W. J. Spencer; for Frankstown, H. J. Kephart.

J. A. Whissel, the up-town baker, has removed his establishment to the building formerly occupied by Geo. McCann, almost immediately opposite Geo. Huntley's tinware depot. His customers are requested to drop in and see him.

It is stated that a firm at Oil Creek are the lessees of a fountain well from which they have realized, within a few weeks, upwards of twelve hundred barrels of oil. One remarkable fact about the well is this, that while it yields bountifully during week-days, it "remembers the Sabbath day to keep it holy"—in other words, it ceases to flow on that day. It is the model well of the region—which nobody will claim to deny.

John McAlain, one of the first settlers in Tod township, Huntingdon county, died at his residence on the 25th ultimo, aged over one hundred years. The Globe says of this centenarian, that he was at one time the most powerful man in the whole county. His voice was so strong that he could be heard in conversation a mile distant, and he could make himself heard two miles. Peace to the pioneer's manes.

The weather has taken another of these sudden changes so common to our climate, and once again, snow, sleet and rain hold supreme sway in our midst. Comfort yourselves, ye fearing ones, with the consolation that such weather

"Is but the prelude to a glorious Spring." The adjourned Court of Indiana county commences on the 25th inst.

We had the pleasure of taking by the hand our young friend, C. W. Dougherty, the other day. He is located on the Broad Top region, and has come back on a pop visit. Enjoy yourself!

Mr. E. J. Mills has removed his Grocery store from the western end of town, to the Post office building, where he will still continue to furnish the public with everything in his line. Give him a call.

Persons having horses which they wish to dispose of can have an opportunity for doing so this month. Chas. Dahlman will be in Ebensburg from the 9th to the 15th of April, and at Carrolltown from the 15th to the 17th of April, for the purpose of buying horses.

One Gillespie was arrested and lodged in jail on Saturday evening for fighting. He was discharged the next morning on payment of costs.

There are two thousand five hundred and fifty-four passenger and freight cars on the Pennsylvania Railroad. Quite an imposing array of rolling stock, truly.

Who speaks? Our segar-box, through some singular combination of circumstances, is about 'gin out.' A wink is as good as a nod—and we here leave the matter. We beg leave to inform the public that we now hold ourselves in readiness to execute all manner of Job Work on the shortest notice. Send in your orders.

The Huntingdon Journal pronounces the establishing of the "Workingmen's Advocate" as an effort to break up the Republican party in Huntingdon county. On the contrary, the Globe thinks that the new party will run in on Leoco-Focoism. We hope the latter speculation may prove correct.

DIED.—At his residence, at Cresson, this county, on Tuesday morning, 9th inst., Mr. JAMES S. CLARK, aged about 40 years.

The deceased was a well known and highly respected citizen of our county.— He was formerly a resident of this town, but for about two years past has filled the position of ticket agent on the Pennsylvania Railroad at Cresson. By his demise, the community in which he resided loses a valuable citizen, his wife a kind husband, and his children a fond and indulgent parent. He lived and died a sincere Christian. May he rest in peace!

—The friends of the deceased are invited to attend the funeral, from his residence, to-day, (Thursday,) at 10 o'clock.

CONTRACT AWARDED.—The contract for carrying the mails in Hollidaysburg has been awarded to Maj. Raymond, of the Whip, at a salary of $360 per annum. This is as it should be. We like to see printers—that hard working but illy-repaid class of people—remembered in the distribution of political prizes. Traugh, of the Standard, the former incumbent of the office, subsides gracefully. May luck be with him in his retirement.

—We have learned that beside the above streak of luck, Maj. Raymond has received or is to receive a first-class Consulship, but to what country we are not informed.

PRESIDENT JUDGE.—We are informed that the Bar of the twenty-fourth Judicial district have, without distinction of party or politics, unanimously called upon Hon. Geo. Taylor, the present Presiding Judge for that district, to permit his name to go before the people for re-election. This is a meet and fitting tribute to the many abilities with which Judge Taylor has always adorned the bench, and we trust that he will respond favorably to the wishes of the people.

NOTICE EXTRAORDINARY.—In consequence of the "very hard times"—that harp of a thousand strings so extensively played upon just now—C. R. Jones continues to sell ready-made clothing, boots and shoes, hats and caps, etc., at very low prices. For particulars, call at his store and see his list of prices. Remember the place—one door east of D. J. Evans & Son's store, High st.

APPOINTED.—Maj. John Thompson, Jr., mine host of the "Mountain House," has been appointed Postmaster for Ebensburg. Mr. T. is eminently qualified for the position and will make an excellent public servant. The post office is to be removed in a day or two to the building one door east of the Mountain House.

So!—By the last Dem. & Sent. we see that our friend, Mr. James S. Todd, has become publisher of that paper. So you've gone and done it, have you, Jeems?—Well, we wish you success, and hope that your fondest anticipations in the newspaper line may be realized.

OYEZ, OYEZ!—A bill authorizing the Governor to appoint an auctioneer for Ebensburg borough has gone through the State Legislature. The lucky appointee has not yet been signified. The office will be a fat take, and no mistake!

OUR JOHNSTOWN LETTER.

To the Editor of The Alleghanian: After a long absence I am again with you. Attribute not my silence to "secession proclivities;" on the contrary, I am the stiffest kind of a back-boned Union man. The fact is, items of interest have been so scarce hereabouts lately that it is almost impossible to compile a readable letter.

The "irrepressible conflict" broke out in our midst the other day. Two big darkeys, coming afool of each other, amused themselves and a crowd of spectators by indulging in a regular South Carolina rough-and-tumble. The finale of the affair was that they were accommodated to a hearing before the Mayor and then committed to answer.

Our Post Office has afforded us all an excellent opportunity to do up an unlimited amount of talking for the past month or so. When the news reached here that I. E. Chandler had been named as the successor of Postmaster Boggs, some of the disappointed applicants varied the programme by imitating the army in Flanders. I, in common with a large and uninterested fraternity, consoled myself by quoting the well-known passage, "Blessed are they who expect nothing, for they won't be disappointed."

Our oil wells are still in full tide of successful operation; but the "unctuous" hasn't yet been tapped.

YODER. JOHNSTOWN, April 9, 1861.

LETTER FROM OILIANA.

OILIANA, April 9, 1861.

To the Editor of The Alleghanian: I am progressing. But I had had luck the other day. When I had attained the depth of thirty-four feet—which remarkable event occurred on last Tuesday at 11.20 A. M.—the augur I was using became firmly fixed in the rock, and all my efforts to remove it therefrom proved abortive. I didn't waste time in useless lamentations over the mishap; on the contrary, I wasted it in vain attempts to dislodge the drill by block-and-tackling it. Nanie—which is the Hindoo for 'no go.' I am a philosopher, you know: so I concluded to take things as they came, and trust to Prov. for the rest. Therefore, I procured a copy of the Dem. Sentimental, and sitting down on the spring-pole, I proceeded to read aloud some of those pleasing colloquies between Mordicai and Jonathan Oldbuck, Jr., which are only to be found, or discovered, in that singularly interesting sheet—terms twelve bits in advance, and the only Buckinridge paper in the county. Strange for till relate, even inanimate iron and wood could not stand all that. In exactly twenty minutes from the time of the stoppage, and five minutes after I had commenced reading, the boring apparatus, becoming disgusted with the aforesaid effusions, and thinking, doubtless, that its silence would be construed into acquiescence with the sentiments they contained, began groaning and creaking: I immediately sprang to my feet and gave the windlass a heave-ho: and in a few minutes more I had everything in excellent working order again. During the quarter of an hour intervening before noon, I busied myself drinking to the health of Mordicai, my oil well, and bores in general. After which, with undiminished appetite, I took my accustomed grubular refreshment.

[I am not superstitious, but don't this little episode of the clogging of the augur seem to typify the distracted condition of our National affairs and the ultimate settlement of the same? The thirty-four feet—them's the thirty-four States composing this great and enlightened old E. P. Unum; the banging of amicable relations between the tools and the workmen suggests the Secession dodge; and the success of my dernier resort, the literal effort, shows that the righting of affairs rests principally with the Press. Who can doubt it? Not me.]

But Politics avant! We are talking of extending the Eb. & Cresson RR. to this place. We need such an institution the worst kind of way. We held an informal meeting the other night to ascertain the sentiments of the people on the subject; and $500,000 were subscribed on the spot by me and a few others. And this is only an earnest of what we can and will do. The road is to be called the "Oiliana Sheet Lightning Branch." Bangs suggested as a motto for the Company the following: "Where we Branch we Rue it." Of course he was kicked out of the assemblage. The other day, quoth Cruise to me, "Why is the perfumed oil from my well something of an anomaly?" I gave it up on the third guess. "Because," said he, "although it comes from above it is scented from below." I thought it was a pretty big thing on oil.

But—I must to work. Great is oil, and I am its profit. Pray for me. Yours, Nevertheless, CALEB SMITH.

A CARD.—WYMER'S BARRON. Lancaster Tp. July 30, 1860. MESSRS. EVANS AND WATSON: GENTLEMEN.—The small size No. 1 Salamander safe which I purchased from your agent, Mr. Adam R. Barr, in Lancaster City, on July 20th, 1858, has been subjected to a very severe test, which it withstood in a most satisfactory manner. This safe, containing all my books, together with valuable papers belonging to myself and some to my neighbors and friends, and representing a value of over Twenty Thousand Dollars, ($20,000) was in my Mill which was destroyed on the night of the 27th of July, 1860, and passed through the fiery ordeal unscathed. The safe was on the second floor and fell to the basement of the Mill, and was subjected for six hours to an intense heat among the ruins, which was greatly increased by the combustion of a large quantity of grain confined within the brick walls. After the fire the safe was opened and the books and papers taken out in a state of perfect preservation, the paper not even being discolored. This fact was, however, to many bystanders a better recommendation of your safe than could be expressed in any other words from me. Yours Respectfully, SAMUEL HANCK. A large assortment of the above quality of Fire and Thief Proof Safes always on hand and for sale at as low rates as any other firm, at EVANS & WATSON'S, No. 304 Chestnut st., Philadelphia.
