

MISCELLANY.

A MERITED COMPLIMENT.—Col. Thos. A. Scott, Vice President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and now engaged in important service connected with the Government as the great director of the movements of troops on the Southern railways, is thus handsomely alluded to by the North American:

"Mr. Scott has been appointed by the Government to reconstruct the almost demolished roads in Virginia over which the Federal troops and munitions are to be carried into the rebel country. When the first rush of soldiers found its way to the Pennsylvania Railroad, Mr. Scott erected a line of telegraph to the Governor's rooms at Harrisburg, and there sat night and day, with watch in hand, superintending the running of the trains, exhibiting powers of endurance literally astonishing in so moderate a physique. He is now in charge of all the railroad lines in possession of the Government that lead to Washington. While a publication of all that has been done would be improper, it is well to say that under an exterior of extreme modesty, Mr. Scott has performed tasks of the greatest importance to the Government, and that no man upon the side of the Union during the present crisis has rendered more valuable aid to General Scott than his Philadelphia namesake."

General Nathaniel Lyon, whose brilliant exploit at Booneville is now the theme of every tongue, is a native of Connecticut, having been born near the birthplace of the Hon. Gideon Welles, Secretary of the Navy. He graduated with honors at the West Point Academy, and entered the regular army as a Second Lieutenant in the Second Infantry, his first commission bearing date on the 1st of July, 1841. He was promoted to a Brevet First Lieutenant shortly afterward, and subsequently to a Captaincy. He has occupied the latter rank, practically, since the 11th of June, 1857, and was booked for advancement to a high position on the first opportunity, he being entitled to that title by Brevet before his recent appointments to a Lieutenant-Colonelcy and a Brigadier-Generalship.

DOESTICKS ON WOMAN-DRIVING.—If a woman owned Flora Temple, she would not hesitate to match her to run a race with an express train through a swampy country, and would out, with a horse whip, the hide all off the little mare if she didn't distance the locomotive. There never was a woman who would or could drive a horse reasonably and treat him properly.

AN APERTIENT and stomachic preparation of Iron purified of Oxygen and Carbon by combustion in Hydrogen. Sanctioned by the highest medical authorities, both in Europe and the United States, and prescribed in their practice. The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and unhealthy looking complexions, indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case. Innoxious in all maladies in which it has been tried, it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz: In Debility, Nervous Affections, Emaciation, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Injunct Consumption, Scrofulous Tuberculosis, Salt Rheum, Misanthropy, Whites, Chlorosis, Liver Complaints, Chronic Headaches, Rheumatism, Intermittent Fevers, Pimples on the Face, &c. In cases of GENERAL DEBILITY, whether the result of acute nervous or of the continued diminution of nervous and muscular energy from chronic complaints, or trial of this restorative has proved successful to an extent which no description nor written attestation would render credible. Invalids so long bedridden as to have become forgotten in their own neighborhoods, have suddenly reappeared in the busy world as if just returned from protracted travel in a distant land. Some very singular instances of this kind are attested of female sufferers, emaciated victims of apparent marasmus, sanguineous exhalation, critical changes, and that complication of nervous and dyspeptic ailments, to air and exercise for which the physician has no name. In Nervous Affections of all kinds, and for reasons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation of iron must necessarily be salutary, for, unlike the old oxides, it is vigorously tonic, without being exciting and over-heating; and gently, regularly aperient, even in the most obstinate cases of costiveness, without ever being a gastric purgative, or inflicting a disagreeable sensation. It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably efficient and permanent a remedy for Piles, upon which it also appears to exert a distinct and specific action, by dispersing the local tendency which forms them. In Dyspepsia, innumerable as are its causes, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often sufficed for the most habitual cases, including the attendant costiveness. In unchecked Diarrhoea, even when advanced to Dysentery, confirmed, emaciating, and apparently malignant, the effects have been equally decisive and astonishing. In the local pains, loss of flesh and strength, debilitating cough and remittent hectic which generally indicate Injunct Consumption, this remedy has always the alarm of friends and physicians, in several very gratifying and interesting instances. In Scrofulous Tuberculosis this medicated Iron has had far more than the good effect of the most cautiously balanced preparations of iodine, without any of their well known liabilities. The attention of females cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative, in the cases peculiarly affecting them. In Rheumatism, both chronic and inflammatory in the latter, however, more decidedly—it has been invariably well reported, both as alleviating pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles. In Intermittent Fevers it must necessarily be a great remedy and energetic restorative, and its progress in the new settlements of the West, will probably be one of high renown and usefulness. No remedy has ever been discovered in the whole history of medicine which exerts such prompt, happy and fully restorative effects. Good appetite, complete digestion, rapid acquisition of strength, with an unusual disposition for active and cheerful exercise immediately follow its use. Put up in neat metal boxes, containing 50 pills. Price 50 cents per box; for sale by druggists and dealers. Will be sent free to any address on the receipt of the price. All letters, orders, etc., should be addressed to R. B. LOCKE & CO., General Agents, 20 Cedar street, N. Y. May 31, 1860-1y.
