

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

LOCAL ETCHINGS.—John Harshberger, a member of Capt. Bonaker's company, 54th regiment, Col. Campbell, was killed on the railroad in Harrisburg, some days since, by being run over by a train of cars. A suspicion of foul play in the premises is entertained, from the reason that the unfortunate man was known to have been in possession of some seventeen dollars a short time before his death, whereas but five cents were found upon him afterward.—To-morrow is St. Valentine's day, on which occasion, as the legend hath it, the birds will prove their devotion to Union by choosing their respective mates for the coming summer. We point a moral herewith by saying to those of our readers who approximate to the feathered creation by reason of their incessant "bbling and cooing:" Go and do likewise.—Mr. Frank Hay, of Johnstown, whose safe recently refused to open at bidding, has had the difficulty remedied by shipping it to Philadelphia and allowing the makers to operate on it. The cost of transportation, etc., amounted to over twenty dollars—which sum is rather steep than otherwise, all things considered. Mr. H. has the satisfaction of knowing, however, that his money has been invested in a very safe channel!—Last Sunday was the coldest day of the season in this latitude. The thermometer ranged somewhere below 0—in close proximity to the point where the machine gears out and the feggers run into the ground. Ugh!—We are sorry to learn that our matrimonially disposed young friends, the Misses Sorrento—whose manifests appeared in these columns some weeks since—have signally failed as yet in securing their "hearts' brightest, fondest dream"—to wit, a couple of husbands. Take courage, fair ones—hope on. There never was a goose so gray, but one day, soon or late, some honest gander came that way and took her for his mate!—William Aretruce, convicted some three years ago in this county of the manslaughter of young Beemish, and sentenced to the penitentiary for the term of four years and six months, has been pardoned by Governor Curtin.—William Lewis, a track-layer in the employ of the Cambria Iron Company, while standing on the track in front of one of the drifts in the ore mines, on Saturday week, was struck, knocked down and run over by a car issuing from the drift, and so severely injured that he died the following day.—The Standard is afraid that there will be a poor show for juleps, cobblers, smashes and ice cream in Hollidaysburg next summer, owing to the scarcity of ice thereabout. This will be melancholy, indeed! The people of that gay and festive burg will have our sympathies, in case the above gloomy foreboding prove true.—The house of Wm. Carland, in Allegheny tp., this county, together with its contents, was completely destroyed by fire on the night of the 30th ult.—The Borough election, which is to be held on Friday week, appears to absorb very little public attention. The first step toward naming candidates for the various offices remains yet to be taken.—Those in need of clocks, watches and jewelry should go to Mrs. Stahl's to purchase. She keeps a good assortment always on hand.—The time allowed by law for the killing of pheasants and rabbits expired on the 1st of the present month. Sportsmen should make a note of this, and not render themselves liable to prosecution.—On Saturday last, Mr. Jack M'Bride, a teamster in the employ of Mr. P. Collins, in this place, had one of his legs fractured by a mule stumbling and falling upon him.—A squad of about forty recruits for Capt. Linton's cavalry company left this county for Philadelphia on Saturday last. The officers of this company are: Captain, William Linton; 1st Lieutenant, Geo. J. Rodgers; 2d Lieutenant, Chas. Zimmerman, Jr.; 1st Sergeant, George Wehn.—In view of the extreme high swindle now charged for coffee, a great many substitutes are proposed, for the accommodation of those who are unwilling to either give up the use of the article or pay the price required to procure it. We have tried on a few of these hard-times arrangements, and candor compels us to say that they do admirably—provided you shut your eyes and hold your breath when drinking! Rye whiskey is passable; but that's not saying that rye coffee is ditto. Certainly not!—Go to Evans & Son's store for dry goods, groceries, hardware, queensware, &c.—They keep a large and varied stock on hand, and well cheap.

EVIDENTLY NOT A SILVER GRAY.—We clip the following spicy correspondence from a late number of the Harrisburg Patriot & Union:

QUARTERS OF SILVER GRAYS. CAMP CURTIN, Feb'y. 8, 1862. Editors of "Patriot and Union"—Gentlemen: In the local column of your paper of the 7th inst., I find the following: Robt. McCracken, a Silver Gray, wandered away from Camp, and fell into the hands of the Philistines. He was decidedly drunk for an old man, but pleading hard, and promising to stop these youthful indiscretions, he was permitted to go to Camp. As we have no name on our roll that corresponds with that of the distinguished individual referred to in the foregoing, it is evident that either you or the "Philistines," or both, have been deceived. The reputation of the Silver Grays is of too much value to ourselves and our friends, to permit the charge preferred in your article to pass without contradiction. You will confer a favor by correcting the mistake. Yours, Resp'y. THOMAS A. MAGUIRE.

A VILLAIN NABBED.—Samuel Welsh, who will be remembered as the individual incarcerated in our county jail in the summer of 1860, for the heinous offence of committing a rape upon the person of a married woman in Jackson township, and who made his escape therefrom after a confinement of about a month, was recaptured in Allegheny City on Monday. He was removed hither on Tuesday, and remanded to jail, where it is to be hoped he will remain until he secures the just retribution of his crime.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. John Bumford, of this place, met with an accident one day last week which came well-nigh proving fatal. When driving a sled down the descent from the west end of town, the locking-machine came in contact with a stone, causing it to fly back suddenly and with great force, and striking Mr. B. a terrific blow in the region of the left eye. He was severely and even dangerously injured, but is now recovering.

SUDDEN DEATH.—The community was startled on Monday by the report of the death of Mrs. Jackson, wife of Dr. R. M. S. Jackson, of Cresson, this county. She died at Harrisburg, on the Sunday preceding, after an illness of but short duration. She was well known here, and highly esteemed for her many virtues.—Peace to her ashes!

SNOW.—The sleighing in this vicinity still continues excellent, and the merrie jingle of the bells is heard on our streets from morn till eve. Our wish is that this dispensation of the Weather Clerk remain unchanged for a month to come.

DIED.—At her residence in Clark county, Missouri, on the 10th ult., of inflammation of the breast, the wife of James Duane Stark, aged 54 years. Many of the friends of the deceased live in Cambria county.

MARRIED.—At the residence of the bride's father, on the 1st inst., by the Rev. S. T. Show, Mr. GILBERT A. BARKER, formerly of Maine, to Miss ELIZABETH ALLEN, of Chest Springs, Cambria county.

Superintendent's Report. Ebensburg, Feb'y. 1, 1862. Hon. T. H. BURROWS, State Supt.—My commission was received on Monday, January 6th, 1862; but circumstances, of which the Department has already been informed, prevented my entering upon the discharge of official duties until the 13th. In accordance with instruction 174, in the Journal, January No., 1861, I submit the following report of operations from the 13th of January, until the 1st of February, 1862: District Examinations.—During the interval between Mr. Swank's resignation and my appointment, the directors of several districts, viz: Cambria, Carroll, Clearfield and Taylor, were compelled to employ teachers who had no certificates. Having been notified of this fact, I examined these teachers, eight in number, and granted them certificates. Visitation of Schools.—Since my appointment, twenty-seven schools have been visited. The duration of each visit was from one to three hours; the time being occupied in examining classes, to ascertain their proficiency, and the manner in which they were instructed, and in noting the condition of building and furniture, the mode of teaching, capability of the teacher to impart instruction, &c. Institutes.—The teachers of Ebensburg and Cambria township, early in the winter, organized an institute, and have since held regular semi-monthly meetings. A call to a distant part of the county prevented me from attending the only meeting since my appointment. It is believed that, with this exception, there are no institutes in Cambria. It is now too late to remedy this evil; but if any effort of mine can effect it, there will be, next year, as many institutes as there are school-districts in the county. No. of days spent in discharge of official duty, 16. No. of official letters written, 10. Whole number of miles traveled, 237. The only difficulty encountered, was that of getting the company of directors, without losing time in going after them; but whenever I could see them they cheerfully accompanied me, and I have had one or more directors or citizens with me at nearly every school. I have been received and treated with marked kindness by the directors, teachers and citizens of every district visited. W. A. SCOTT, Co. Supt.

THE CAMPAIGN IN THE INTERIOR. BEULAH, February 10, 1861. From Our Own Correspondent.

Beulah—as I took occasion some days ago to observe—is safe! It was a big thing, was the garrisoning of this important outpost. In the early stage of the war, Mr. Beauregard allowed his eye to wander longingly hitherward. A gentleman of the most extreme credibility states that he even entertained the charitable crochets of crossing the Virginia line, making a rapid detour across the kentry, and seizing the city itself! He would thus have been enabled to establish a point d'appui for operations of a very offensive nature against the more northern portion of the State, Indiana county included. Johnstown, lying directly on the line of march of the advancing foe, would have fallen at the first blow. If not at the first, at the second or third blow at the furthest. In which case, the National Foundry in all likelihood would have been obliged to content itself with some other location. The gentleman who brings this intelligence can be relied on. Born of rich though honest parents, he has had advantages which incapacitate him from telling a lie. He was expelled from South Carolina for saying that the North Pole was a longer and better stick of timber than the South Pole. Such is the ignorance and impudence of the Shivelry! He lives at Suspende X Roads when at home. His latchstring hangs out. Beulah is safe! I was a few too numerous for P. G. T. I came in a dot or two ahead. The particulars concerning my timely occupation of my present position are too well known to require repetition. Everybody minds them. If they don't, they should. History adorns one of her brightest pages with an accurate account of that neat little affair. Turn to it and become posted. Suffice it to say that Beulah is safe.—The Oiliana Guards, Capt. Caleb Smith, are here. Apropos of Guards: It is axiomatic that this title is a favorite with military organizations. We have State Guards and National Guards, Curtin Guards and Capitol Guards, Safe Guards and Home Guards, Guards this, Guards that, and Guards the other. The Rebels have Beaura Guards and Black Guards. Beulah Bridge is guarded by night and day. Between the two, a pretty strict surveillance is kept up. Communication with the Federal Capital must be kept open, at whatsoever expense of blood, money, and other incidental et ceteras. The Blacklick river is subjected to a scrutinizing watch. I think it may be considered perfectly secure. I administered the oath of allegiance to it the other day. It took it without the least outward manifestation of fear, favor or affection. After which, I allowed it to run. I believe I am guilty of no breach of confidence—in fact, I am sure I ain't—when I say I am of the firm opinion that I can hold my present posish against any force that may be brought against me. The rank and file have great confidence in me. Any person wishing to send me any money or things will direct them to this post office. I make a reconnoissance down the river to-morrow. If I fall, write on my tombstone: "He dared do Right—side up with Care." This will be a happy combination, suggestive of Ten Eyck, David Crockett, Adams & Co.'s express, and other important public personages. "What is that?" It is—it is—the cannons' opening roar! I must go and see what the row's about. If anybody asks for me, tell him I still live, and give him a shilling to drink to my health. Suggest, moreover, that he drink out the change. If unable to do this, he can call up his friends. We meet again at Phillippi! Yours, CALEB SMITH.
