

MISCELLANY.

The Shipplaster Confederacy.

We have now on exhibition at our office a simon-pure Confederate ten-cent shipplaster, issued by the Bank of Tennessee, which reads as follows:

"The Bank of Tennessee will pay Ten CENTS to bearer."

"Nashville, Dec. 1, 1861."

It is signed "For the President," by a string of mysterious-looking characters, apparently a cross between Sancerit letters and Egyptian hieroglyphics, which, as near as we can interpret them, spell Elery. Probably the clerk was heartily ashamed of the picaresque business at which he was employed, and was resolved not to be known in the matter.

This sorry-looking attempt at money making, which throws the sea-shell currency of the Africans and the soap currency of the Mexicans entirely in the shade, has for its vignette a train of cars—the same, we suppose, that Duckner stole from the Louisville and Nashville railroad—and at the upper corners, fac-similes of the old Spanish bit with the crown, pillars and inscription: "Hispania et Ind. Rex,"—that is, "King of Spain and India."—What a motto and emblem for this self-styled Republic! The paper of the bill is of the same quality used by tallow-chandlers in their candle-boxes. We think the bill, on the whole, very appropriately gotten up and embellished. It is as flimsy, mean and dirty as the Confederacy itself, and quite as worthless.

Its very smell and touch suggest bankruptcy, repudiation, and out-at-elbowness. Still, we think we could suggest some improvements for the next issue. We like originality along with appropriateness. The designer has the whole book of natural history to choose from, and all the mythology, and the minor embellishments may be taken from alligators, Eumenides with their snaky heads, pelicans, harpies, rattlesnakes, buzzards, Tantalus, Ixion, the Titan labor of piling rocks to reach the skies, burning torches, whips of scorpions, and "terror, rage, paleness, and death," the attendant ministers around the throne of Pluto.—The motto on the right might read: "The way we get our rights," and that on the left,

"If so very soon we're done for, We wonder what we were begun for."

The bill might also read: "The Bank of Tennessee will never pay the bearer," as every one knows that not one of this wretched spawn of bankruptcy will be redeemed. The Pillars of Hercules are appropriate as a legend to this bill, if read aright, to show that it requires God-like powers to sunder a continent as the straits of Gibraltar now flow between Abyla and Calpe.

There is a volume of eloquence in this insignificant scrap of paper, akin to that which speaks so touchingly and forcibly from the rags and squalid wretchedness of a prodigal, whose vice and riotous career have plunged him into the depths of misery and want. What a comment does it offer upon all the lofty vauntings we were wont to hear from the DeBows and Keitts, and Wigfalls and Memmings, on the inexhaustible wealth of the Cotton States, which we were insultingly told were to wave their sceptre triumphantly over the prostrate form of all countries that raised nothing but grain, meat and tobacco! Cotton, the pitiless tyrant, was to put his heel on the head of the prostrate world, and all were to do him reverence. And here, on a little strip of paper, we read the shameful refutation of the prophecy. It speaks in thunder tones of a vortex of want, bankruptcy, and shame. Every glimpse which we obtain of the Southern Confederacy proves its terrible failure, and,

"—like a sail unfurled Shows all its rents and patches to the world." —Louisville Journal.

"THAT'S WHAT AILS THEM!"—Col. Jennison, Kansas, 1st Cavalry, is a small man—delicate constitution; a physician originally from Livingston county, N. Y. When the Border Ruffian horde went into Kansas to elect the first Territorial Legislature, they passed Jennison's house.—His wife and only child attracted by the cavalcade, went to the door, and while standing there, were both shot dead by the ruffians. "That's what ails Jennison the Jayhawker."

Jack Montgomery, of the Kansas Cavalry, is a Kentuckian—a mild, gentlemanly, highly educated man—a clergyman, and a graduate of Oberlin. When the Border Ruffians, in one of their raids, reached Montgomery's home, they took him prisoner, tied him to a tree, and brought out his wife—an educated, accomplished lady—and violated her person in the presence of her husband; and "that's what ails Montgomery."

A REFRESHING REVIVAL.—At a late revival meeting in New Jersey, one of the brethren became anxious to pile the altar with mourners, and for that purpose left his seat and went among the congregation, personally exhorting his acquaintances to quit the error of their ways. Approaching an individual who drawlingly talked through his nose, he began with:

"Don't you want to go up?" "Nay."

"Don't you want to join the church?" "Nay."

"What would you do if the Lord were to come for you?" "Well," drawled out the old sinner, "I'd kill a chicken, bake some biscuit, and do the best I could under the circumstances. Don't reckon he'd get mad!"

THE WEEKLY PRESS. THE WEEKLY PRESS has been established on a secure and permanent foundation; but it is, in reality, a marvellous example of the degree of favor which a rightly-conducted LITERARY, POLITICAL AND NEWS JOURNAL can receive at the hands of a liberal and enlightened Public.

The general features of the Paper, in addition to its POLITICAL AND NEWS DEPARTMENTS, will be POETRY, SKETCHES, BIOGRAPHY and Original and Selected TALES, chosen for their lessons of Life, Illustrations of History, depicture of Manners, and general merit, and adapted, in their variety, to the tastes of both sexes and all ages.

THE LITERARY CHARACTER OF THE WEEKLY PRESS, now universally acknowledged to be of an elevated stamp, shall not only maintain its present high standing, but shall be enhanced by important and valuable contributions from able Writers.

THE POLITICAL COURSE OF THE WEEKLY PRESS need not be enlarged upon here. Independent, steady and fearless, it has battled unwaveringly and zealously in defence of THE RIGHTS OF THE PEOPLE against Executive Usurpation and Unfair and Tyrannical Legislation; ever declaring and adhering to the doctrine that POPULAR SOVEREIGNTY constitutes the fundamental basis of our free institutions, and that the intelligence and patriotism of our Citizens will always be preservative of a just, wise and salutary Government. These are the principles to which THE WEEKLY PRESS has been committed, and to these it will adhere.

A CARD.—WITMER'S BRIDGE, Lancaster Tp. July 30, 1860. MESSRS. EVANS AND WATSON: GENTLEMEN—The small size No. 1 Salamander safe which I purchased from your agent, Mr. Adam R. Barker, in Lancaster City, on July 29th, 1858, has been subjected to a very severe test, which it withstood in a most satisfactory manner. This safe, containing all my books together with valuable papers belonging to myself and some to my neighbors and friends, and representing a value of over Twenty Thousand Dollars, ($20,000) was in my Mill which was destroyed on the night of the 27th of July, 1860, and passed through the fiery ordeal unscathed. The safe was on the second floor and fell to the basement of the Mill, and was subjected for six hours to an intense heat among the ruins, which was greatly increased by the combustion of a large quantity of grain confined within the brick walls. After the fire the safe was opened and the books and papers taken out in a state of perfect preservation, the paper not even being discolored. This fact was, however, to many bystanders a better recommendation of your Safes than could be expressed in any other words from me. Yours respectfully, SAMUEL RANCK, [elc] A large assortment of the above quality of Fire and Thief Proof Safes always on hand and for sale at as low rates as any other firm, at EVANS & WATSON'S, No. 304 Chestnut st., Philadelphia.
