

LOCAL ETCHINGS.—An Irishman named Herbert was arrested in Millville borough on Monday week, upon the charge of assault and battery with intent to kill. The victim of the villain's malice was his own wife, whom it was scarcely expected would survive the inhuman treatment received at his hands. This representative of the M. O. W. B. is now in jail, to await his trial at the coming session of our county Court.—The dwelling house of Henry Custer, in Richland township, together with its contents, was entirely destroyed by fire on Thursday of last week. The loss is estimated at from $1,000 to $1,200. So we learn from the Cambria Tribune.—We are sorry to learn that our kind and obliging young friend, Mr. William Woolverton, for several years Telegraph Operator at Wilmore, has been transferred to Harrisburg, to act in a similar capacity. We wish him success in his new position.—Mr. Lewis James, of Cambria township, met with a rather serious casualty at Johnstown one day last week. He was driving a two-horse wagon across the railroad at that place, when a train of cars came suddenly upon him, the locomotive striking and killing one horse and maiming the other, and shattering the wagon to atoms. Mr. J. himself was caught by some portion of the train and dragged a considerable distance, injuring him severely but not fatally. A rather bad accident, but still a narrow escape.—It has been definitely decided by the Canal Department of the Penna. Railroad, that the Western Division of said canal will be "kept open" during the coming season, and orders have been promulgated for its repair. This is satisfactory intelligence!—We are rejoiced to learn that Wm. H. Gardner, Esq., of Wilmore, has received the appointment of a clerkship in the Treasury Department at Washington.—He is abundantly competent for the duties of the position, and will make a No. 1 of his class.—Saturday next, the 22d inst., is the anniversary of the birthday of the Father of his Country—Washington. We have, as yet, heard of no steps being taken for a proper observance of the occasion.—The protracted meeting of the Methodist Church in this place is progressing, with most gratifying results.—The Indiana Messenger says that John McCadden, of that borough, a man between sixty and seventy years of age, has joined a military company in that county and been mastered into the United States service! All honor to the brave old patriot!—Godey for March has been received. It is superbly illustrated, and is filled with its usual choice stock of reading matter. No lady should be without it.—We would advise our readers to drop in at Mrs. Stahl's jewelry store, and examine the new stock of clocks, watches, jewelry, etc., just received. Owing to the low figure at which they are marked, they are going off like "hot cakes."—We are requested to announce that the nomination of candidates to be voted for by the electors of Cambria township on next Friday, will be held in the Court House on the morning of the election. Those interested will please make note.—Approval of this: we are reminded that no candidates have as yet been named for the various offices of this borough. The void should forthwith be filled by the formation of a Union ticket, composed of an equal number of Democrats and Republicans. Party politics and predilections should not be allowed to enter into the matter whatever.—The protracted meeting held in the Disciples Church of this place during the past week, under the leadership of Rev. O. P. Miller, of Pittsburg, met with much success. The exercises were largely attended, and quite a number of converts were received into the church.—We are informed by Nix Kinkead, one of "em," that the recruits now in camp at Philadelphia by Capt. William Johnston's cavalry company number between thirty and seventy men. The probability is that the company will be filled up to the maximum standard in a few days.—Our "excellent sleighing" was sorry state, hath departed. What on Monday was a prime article of "crystallized snow"—a bling of beauty as joy as long as it lasted—is now transmogrified into an ugly ocean of mud. Mud here, mud there, mud everywhere! Our injunction to the Weather Clerk is, Dry up as speedily as possible! Peterson for March already on our side. It keeps pace with the times, and goes a step or two in advance. Every body in the land should subscribe for it.

MUSTER ROLL OF THE SILVER GRAYS.—In lieu of a communication, our excellent Silver Gray correspondent, "High Private," this week sends us the annexed list of the commissioned and non-commissioned officers and privates of the company. SHERIFF'S SALES.—The following is an abstract of the real estate advertised to be exposed to public sale, by the Sheriff of Cambria county, on Monday, 24 of March next: John S. Rhey, Ebensburg borough, half lot of ground, with two story frame house and stable. William A. Alter, Johnstown borough, lot of ground, with two story plank house. Theresa Fromald, Johnstown borough, part of lot of ground, with two story brick house and plank stable. John E. McKinzie and Peter J. McKinzie, Chest Springs borough, two lots of ground, with three story plank house and frame stable. Findley Cameron, Carroll township, piece of parcel of land, containing fifty acres, with a saw-mill. Martin Miller, Susquehanna township, piece of parcel of land, containing fifty acres, forty acres cleared, with one-and-a-half story plank house and log barn. John Ott, Johnstown borough, lot of ground, with two story plank house and plank stable. Terrence Delozier, Carroll township, piece of parcel of land, containing forty acres, five acres cleared, with two story plank house and plank stable. A. J. Weakland, Clearfield township, piece of parcel of land, containing one hundred and seventy-three acres, one acre cleared, with plank house, log house, plank stable and saw-mill. Jacob A. Alter, Johnstown borough, lot of ground, with two story plank house.

PERSONAL.—It gives us much pleasure to learn that our friend and fellow citizen, Thomas A. Maguire, Esq., has been elected Second Lieutenant of the celebrated "Silver Grays," now stationed at Camp Curtin. This honor has been well conferred. Mr. M. will be not what is now so common in our army—a mere "paper officer." He has served a good and sufficient apprenticeship in the ranks—as a "High Private," in fact—and is thereby perfectly qualified to set a squadron in the tented field, if need be, or initiate the raw recruit into the mystery of the profession of Mars. We congratulate him on his promotion, and hope this may be only the first turn of Fortunatus' wheel for him.—The Silver Grays are now fully organized, the Captain and Lieutenants having received their commissions from Governor Curtin.

INTERESTING TO TEACHERS.—A bill has been introduced into the lower branch of the State Legislature, making the school week to consist of five days only. The enactment of such a law, it appears to us, would be simply an act of justice to an overworked and, as a general rule, underpaid class of individuals. We hope it may go through.

QUERY.—What has become of our Camp Pierpont correspondent, "E?"—We, in common with our readers, miss his racy screeds most sadly. Write, good friend, and post us as regards the doings and general welfare of "Co. A."

THE CAMPAIGN IN THE INTERIOR. BEULAH, February 17, 1862.

From Our Particular Man of War.

It wasn't "the cannons' opening roar" at all that I heard at the conclusion of my last letter.

Some of my men had tipulated too luxuriously. In I-Openers, and that sort of thing. Thereby becoming Highlanders. And the like. The "boys" have been lying here, in a state of almost utter inactivity, for nine months past. Nine months is a passably long stretch of time. Nothing To Do is about as bad a companion and bedfellow as Nothing To Wear. Time and tide wait for no man. What your hands findeth to do, do with a looseness. Patience is not cautehouch.

Unlike Widow's supply of oleaginuous, this latter item occasionally gins out. I have had ocular and practical demonstration of the fact.

A barrel of contraband Boomerang is not calculated in any great degree to add to the harmony of either court or camp. In short, what with this and which with that, my men mutinied!

Whereupon, they appointed a committee from the drunkest of their number to confer with me as to when I intended making a forward move.

Not being able to discern their authority to pump me in the premises, I suggested that it was none of their biz.

"This Court," said I—"gentlemen, this Court knows itself; and knowing dare maintain."

They retired. After they had tuckered all around again, another committee came to me on the same errand.

This committee consisted of three. I immediately chopped off all their three heads off. They needed a salutary lesson to check their insubordination.

I always temper my justice with mercy. I then went out and smashed in the head of the barrel of contraband. After drinking its contents, I proceeded to feel better.

Calling my men about me, I read them a severe lecture on the error of their way. "Your attempt to coerce me into letting the feline out of the bag has failed. Signally failed, gentlemen, I say."

I looked fierce. They looked bad. "Now," said I, "I'll tell you when I'm a going to amblulate. If the weather prove auspicious, and the mud dries up, and it don't rain, D. V., et cet., we will probably move about the first of April, or the fourth of July, or, at furthest, when the leaves fall from the trees again. If, however, we don't get started on either of those occasions, the presumption may safely become violent that I intend to apply the principle of moral suasion to the enemy, by letting him severely alone."

They immediately presented me with a splendid sword, and begged pardon for having "swarmed" on me.

They have great confidence in me. I made a reconnaissance down the river on Tuesday. We attacked, reduced, captured, and otherwise successfully took, thirteen forts during the trip. They were all ably defended, but they couldn't quite withstand my masterly strategy and impetuous charges. These are considered as the most stunning blows the Rebellion has yet received.

We penetrated as far as Indiana county. The inhabitants along the route cheered lustily for the Stars and Stripes, and bespoke any stray chaws of tobacco that we might have had lying around loose. This is a cheering fact. It exhibits conclusively that the Amocanda is gradually fighting its folds, and that, unless something startling intervene, we will all be enabled, sooner or later, to subscribe for the county paper.

The people of this section are just now greatly agitated about the "Dog Law" question. Taxing Tea raised a respectable breeze in Boston once upon a time: taxing Tray has had a corresponding effect in Beulah. The points at issue are, Did our forefathers "fight, bleed and die" for the perpetuation of liberty to all mankind, dogs included, as some say? Or didn't they? And if so, how much? A dancing master's prevailing weakness is a bow: a dog's is a bow-wow. One is taxed: why shouldn't the other be? Musingly, CALEB SMITH.
