To the Editor of the Alleghenian: Politics have distracted the country; I will briefly relate what has passed under my own observation, from its commencement till the present time.

I arrived in this country during President Washington's last term. At that time politics had not come into existence. All lived together as a band of brothers.

Then came the second campaign between Adams and Jefferson—the Feds supporting Adams, and the Anties Jefferson. At this time the former were called Aristocrats, and the latter Democrats.

Up to 1840, the two parties were denominated Democrats and Federalists. But the Feds then changed their name to Anti-Masons, and both parties became so mixed up that you could hardly know them apart, except by name.

Then was it enacted that all good citizens should vote without regard to property. Which is perfectly right, but is still a hard road to travel.

After this, it changed to Whigs. All this time I watched both parties closely, and found that there were good republicans in both parties.

THE WEEKLY PRESS. THE WEEKLY PRESS has been established on a secure and permanent foundation; but it is, in reality, a marvelous example of the degree of favor which a rightly-conducted LITERARY, POLITICAL AND NEWS JOURNAL can receive at the hands of a liberal and enlightened Public.

THE LITERARY CHARACTER OF THE WEEKLY PRESS, now universally acknowledged to be of an elevated stamp, shall not only maintain its present high standing, but shall be enhanced by important and valuable contributions from able Writers.

THE POLITICAL COURSE OF THE WEEKLY PRESS need not be enlarged upon here. Independent, steady and fearless, it has battled unwaveringly and zealously in defence of THE RIGHTS OF THE PEOPLE against Executive Usurpation and Unfair and Tyrannical Legislation; ever declaring and adhering to the doctrine that POPULAR SOVEREIGNTY constitutes the fundamental basis of our free institutions, and that the intelligence and patriotism of our Citizens will always be preservative of a just and salutary Government.
