

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

EBENSBURG AND CRESSON RAILROAD.—On and after Monday, March 3, 1862, trains on this road will run as follows:—

LEAVE CRESSON.—At 7.00 A. M., or on departure of Fast Line East. At 11.05 A. M., or on departure of Mail Train East. LEAVE EBENSBURG.—At 8.10 A. M., connecting with Through Express West. At 3.10 P. M., connecting with Mail Train West.

A CAMBRIAN KILLED.—A battle was fought at Paris, Tennessee, on the 12th inst., between a battalion of Union troops, assisted by a portion of the Curtis Iowa cavalry regiment, and the Rebels, in which the latter were routed with a loss of one hundred killed, wounded and prisoners. Our loss was five men killed and four wounded. So runs the substance of a recent telegram from Gen. Halleck to the War Department.

Subsequent information has developed the fact that among the number of Federal troops who fell at this battle is William W. Ivory, formerly a resident of this county, but for a number of years past of Nebraska city. We have no definite particulars concerning the manner of his death, other than that he fell in the performance of his duty. We extract the following truthful obituary of Sergeant Major (this being the position he held in his regiment) Ivory from the columns of the New York Herald:

Sergeant Major Wm. W. Ivory, who fell on the 12th inst., at the battle of Paris, was a Pennsylvanian by birth, and removed from Philadelphia to Nebraska City, Nebraska Territory, in 1858, where he became one of the contracting surveyors of that Territory, under the late John C. Calhoun, noted in the Kansas broils. Sergeant Ivory was appointed in 1861 Receiver of Public Moneys, United States Land Office, at Dacotah, Nebraska Territory, by President Buchanan, which office he held at the beginning of the formation of his regiment, in which he was appointed to the office of Sergeant Major, though being thought fully capable of holding a commission, having seen service in Mexico throughout that struggle. He was a fine, spirited, chivalric, noble, impulsive man. His age was about twenty-nine years.

All honor to the memory of the gallant spirit who laid down his life upon the altar of his country's good!

NEW MODE OF COMPUTING INTEREST.—A new mode of computing interest at six per cent. has been published, which appears eminently simple. The formula is this: Multiply any given number of dollars by the number of days of interest required, separate the right hand figure, and divide by six—the result will be the true rate of interest for such number of days at six per cent. This rule is so simple and true that every banker, broker, merchant and clerk should put it up for reference and use. There being no such a thing as a fraction in it, there is scarcely any liability to error or mistake. By no arithmetical process can the desired information be obtained with so few figures.

MILITARY.—Sergt. Robert M'Combie, of Co. A, Capt. Carroll, 55th P. V., Col. R. White, is now in this county on recruiting service. Col. White is a well known resident of this county, and a large proportion of his command are Cambrians. The division to which he is attached was stationed at Port Royal for several months, but is now at Fernandina, Florida. We would advise those who entertain a desire to don Uncle Sam's livery to give Sergt. M'Combie a call forthwith.

A branch recruiting office for the 14th regular infantry has been opened in this place, in the room above E. Shoemaker's store.

ANOTHER CAMBRIAN AT DONELSON.—Mr. Jerry Powell, a son of Mr. David Powell, of Cambria township, this county, was present at and participated in the capture of Fort Donelson. He enlisted in a Chicago battery, and was captain of a gun during the engagement. He was not injured.

Bully for Little Cambria! Her brave sons turn up, in greater or less numbers, in every battle of the campaign!

SINGULAR ACCIDENT.—The Tribune says that Samuel Bracken, Esq., a citizen of Johnstown, met with a painful accident a few days since. While engaged in bleeding a horse in a narrow stall in his stable, having unintentionally tied the halter around the horse's neck so tightly as to choke him, the animal fell upon Mr. B., breaking his leg in two places—once at the ankle and again below the knee.

TO OUR PATRONS.—Owing to divers and sundry reasons—all of which it is unnecessary to here enumerate—no paper will be issued from this office next week.

COUNTY INSTITUTE.—A County Institute will be held at Wilmore, Cambria county, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, the 16th, 17th and 18th days of April, 1862. Prominent educators from other counties are expected. It is earnestly hoped that there will be a full turnout of the Teachers, Directors, and friends of Education throughout the county. At the close of the Institute, Professional Certificates will be issued by the County Superintendent to all holders of the First Class Provisional.

W. A. SCOTT, Co. Supt. S. B. M'COMBICK, HENRY ELY, JAMES POTTS.

TO PARENTS.—Mr. Edward D. Evans—a well and favorably known tutor of this place—has just opened a select school in the Union School House. He is an excellent scholar, and in every way competent to "teach the young idea how to shoot." As his terms are moderate, Mr. E. should receive a good share of public patronage and support.

ATTENTION, LADIES!—A meeting of the "Ladies' Hose Association" of Ebensburg, to take action in the matter of the disbursement of the unexpended funds of said society now in the hands of the Treasurer, will be held at the Union School House, on to-morrow (Friday) evening. A full attendance is requested.

RESUSCITATED.—The Blairsville Record, after an absence of many weeks, has again made its appearance upon our table. It is published by J. Irvin Steel, and presents a rather neat appearance. We commend it to the encouragement and support of the Blairsvillagers.

BOROUGH MATTER.—The Council of Ebensburg borough have made the following appointments for the ensuing year: Clerk to Council, C. T. Roberts. Street Commissioner, James Myers. Weigh Master, Griffith G. Owens.

MARRIED.—On Monday, 10th inst., at the Railroad House, Wilmore, by the Rev. J. F. Kuhman, Mr. HARRISON WARD to Miss ELIZA CREW, both of No. 4, Washington township.

N. PARTICULAR B.—C. T. Roberts, at the Ebensburg Jewelry Store, keeps constantly on hand and for sale cheap, all manner of clocks, watches, jewelry, musical instruments, etc. Give him a call!

A CHANGE.—Mr. John Lloyd has been appointed Clerk to the County Commissioners, vice C. D. Murray.

From the Cambria Regiment.

CAMP CAMPBELL, near Washington D. C. March 13, 1862.

To the Editor of The Alleghanian: Owing to the multifarious duties devolving upon the Adjutant of the 54th P. V. since we received orders to leave Camp Curtin and report ourselves at Washington, I have not had sufficient time to write you a note until now.

In pursuance of the order received, we have at last cleared our skirts of Camp Curtin, and are now snugly ensconced in a quiet little camp on the Hindsburg road, near the National Capital. We are daily engaged in square, company and battalion drills, and otherwise perfecting ourselves in the art military. Ere long we hope to so perfect ourselves that we will not be either afraid or ashamed to measure our length with any regiment Pennsylvania has in the field. Even now, soldiers from other camps passing our lines and seeing our drills very frequently inquire whether we are not Regulars. The bad influence Camp Curtin discipline and Harrisburg dissipation has had upon our men is being rapidly effaced under the strict discipline Col. Campbell has instituted. Every man has his proper place here, and every man must be in that place when the proper hour arrives. The game of "old sager" won't win.

For some purpose unknown to us, we have been singled out from the rest of the regiments that were with us in Camp Curtin and ordered to encamp by ourselves some miles distant from where they have been quartered in a body. Perhaps this argues a forward movement for our Regiment, and perhaps it means something else. At all events, we have been informed by Brig. Gen. S. Casey that when his Brigade moves over to Dixie, the 54th goes with him. There has been a constant stream of fresh troops coming in from the States to take the place of the old Regiments being moved out. But so quietly is all this done, that unless you just happen to be on the street and see the passing body you would not know they were in motion.

The mud in this vicinity has been completely dried up and the roads are in splendid trim. The only sign we have here of the terrible mud is the woful appearance of the Government horses. If ever there was a set of abused animals, the poor brutes in the employ of Uncle Sam can have a claim to the renown of having served the hardest taskmasters the world ever produced. Poor horses! they certainly deserve a place in the Horse Heaven when their toils on earth are ended.

Being somewhat used up with a very severe cold, we applied for leave of absence from camp duties yesterday, in order to go and see the sights. Our request was readily granted, and in company with a brother officer we sallied forth. Bending our steps toward the city, we soon entered Pennsylvania Avenue, and following it we suddenly found ourselves near the White House. Taking a peep at the premises and satisfying ourselves that all was in order there, we crossed the street and entered the beautiful park in which stands the bronzed statue of old Hickory, seated on his rearing charger. There is a perfectness in this statue that strikes the beholder with a feeling of mixed reverence and awe—reverence for the man whose nerve preserved his country, and awe because it seems that the hero is seated there in full life and vigor. So perfect is the statue, that even the veins seem as though the blood was coursing merrily through them. After lounging for a time on one of the neat iron seats in the Park, we wended our way to the Smithsonian Institute. Here is food for the curious. For hours we wandered through the building, examining the thousands of specimens of every imaginable shape, size and color—animal, reptile, insect, fowl, &c., &c. Here are curious specimens of fancy work from Siam, China, Japan, the Islands of the Pacific and the South Sea Islands—food enough to keep even a gourmandizer in the curious feasting for days before he could possibly get through. The Gallery of Indian paintings is a no small feature in this mammoth curiosity. We spent some time in it, but our companion not being blessed with the same amount of appreciation for the fine art as we, hastened us away. We would like to have remained in the Library Rooms for some time, but our friend urged us on through the Statuary Rooms and out of the building, to hasten over and take a look at Congress.

Arrived at the Capitol, we found a seat in the Senate Gallery, and listened to the remarks offered by various Senators on the Bill to tax us Government employees ten per centum, &c. Senator Clark's remarks made us feel good, but we have a very poor appreciation for what was said by Messrs. Wilson and Hale. Senator Hale is certainly an aristocrat. His idea of the distinction between the Volunteers and Regular army officers seems to us to point out the Regulars as a kind of aristocracy—something considerably superior to the Volunteers. But want of time will not permit me to present to you the Senator as I would like. There is one thing sure, however—there is one who can't vote for Hale for President.

Leaving the Senate, we entered the apartment for the outsiders in the House. There was some gentleman from Kentucky just entering upon a discussion, but his speech was so insipid that we soon found ourselves yawning from a sound sleep into which we had fallen. Finding we could not aid in Legislation, and recollecting that we had some little duties to perform ere nightfall, we took up our line of march for Camp.

This place is full of rumors, and as they are only rumors, I cannot at present say when we will leave; but I hope when we do I will find time to let you hear often from Hoax.

Letter From Harrisburg.

HARRISBURG, March 17, 1862. Correspondence of The Alleghanian.

Since my last communication, three measures of great public interest have been acted upon in one or other branches of the Legislature.

In the Senate, the Joint Resolution relative to the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia was passed on Thursday night, at about 12 o'clock.

In the House, on the afternoon of Friday, 7th inst., the general Appropriation Bill was passed with unusual unanimity.

The most exciting bill of the session, however, has been the following, originating with Mr. Hopkins, of Washington county: "Sec. 1. Be it enacted, &c., That the act of Assembly approved 7th March, anno domini 1861, entitled 'An Act for the commutation of tonnage duties,' be and the same is hereby repealed."

Mr. Williams, of Allegheny county, offered an amendment to the foregoing, as amended by Mr. Cassma, of Bedford county, to the effect that the act passed at the last session of the Legislature was unconstitutional, that said tonnage tax be restored as fully as the said repealing act had never been passed, and that it shall be the duty of the Attorney General to proceed forthwith to sue for, recover and collect by distress, or otherwise, the arrears of the said tonnage tax, which was due and owing at the time of the passage of said repealing act, together with such additional tax or duties as would have accrued upon the tonnage of said company, until the date of the present act, &c., &c.

Mr. Scott, of Huntingdon county, endeavored to further amend the amendment of Mr. Williams by substituting a proposition having in view the settling of the question of constitutionality by the Courts. But this appeared to the majority to be too tedious, they preferring to close the matter up by the "shorter form." It strikes me, however, that it will, in the end, be found that "the farther way around is the nearer way home." The Courts will, in the event of the final passage of the bill as proposed by the House, have determined the question at issue. Mr. Scott's amendment received only fifteen votes.

All attempts to further amend the proposition of Mr. Williams were voted down. The discussion of the questions involved in the bill brought out the best speakers in the House. It was debated up to a late hour on Thursday night, when a vote was taken upon the final passage of the bill, as amended by Mr. Williams, which resulted as follows:—Yeas, 79; nays, 25—Mr. Pershing voting nay. If the Senate pass the House bill, it will be a complete reversal of the action of the last Legislature. I will not attempt to decide as to which the present or the late House of Representatives properly reflects the popular will. Each Representative is amenable to his constituents for his vote.

The Senate will, no doubt, so amend the House bill that it will present the same features as Mr. Scott's proposition. In the end, a Committee of Conference will fix upon one or other of the opposing views, or one made up of portions of each, or, as is possible, let the whole affair "die a natural death." Then would be a fitting occasion for Sambo's soliloquy—'White man mighty uncertain!' The bill entitled "An Act to provide for the adjudication and payment of certain military claims," has passed both Houses. By its provisions, all volunteer officers who have been sworn into the service of the State or the United States will be paid from the date of their respective commissions. The U. S. Paymasters have heretofore calculated the officers' pay-rolls from the date of mustering into the service of the United States. The State now steps in, and will advance the pay to our volunteer officers for the time between the date of commissions and mustering in. Officers who have not been sworn into the service of the State or United States are not provided for. The bill also makes provision for the payment of claims for subsisting volunteers from term of enrollment up to arrival in camp. Heretofore the payment was limited to ten days for each man. Hugo.

War News.

Manassas—the "Gibraltar of the East"—was taken possession of by the Federal forces on Monday of last week. The Rebels had previously evacuated it, departing no one knows whither.

A battle was fought at Pea Ridge, Arkansas, on the 8th inst., which, after a terrific fight of three days, resulted in a glorious Federal victory. Our loss was about 450 killed and wounded. The Rebels lost 1,000 killed, wounded and prisoners. Ben McCulloch was killed. Our forces were commanded by Gen. Curtis.

New Madrid, Mo., has been evacuated by the Rebels, and taken possession of by our troops. We captured many guns, a large amount of ammunition, stores, etc., at this point.

Gen. McClellan has published an address to the Army of the Potomac, in which he says that the moment for his long looked for "advance" is at hand.

Gen. Fremont has been restored to the command of a division of the army.

Fighting is reported to be going on at Island No. 10. Gen. Pope has his batteries planted so as to command the river. Two or three little skirmishes have occurred along the Potomac.
