PATRIOTISM IN EBENSBURG-Enthusiastic War Meetings-Formation of another Three Years' Company !- The enthusiasm on war matters has taken the form of a perfect furore in this section during the people been made more apparent than at the present time. One sentiment has taken possession of all-that the Rebellion must be utterly crushed, and a speedy and permanent peace conquered, if it takes the last man in our midst and the last dollar in our possession to do it with .---Our beloved Union is of too inestimable value to be broken and shattered and sunk in oblivion at the behests of Traitors, and right nobly has "Little Cambria," now as heretofore, given in her adherence to this holy sentiment. No patriot stops now to inquire as to the cause of the war, or to quibble on petty side issues. A fierce and desperate war is absolutely in existence-a war of mammoth and unparalleled proportions, and a war directly affecting our nearest and dearest interests as freemen-and the question now is, How shall this war be prosecuted to a speedy and definite conclusion ? To this end President Lincoln has made a requisition on the men, the proportion of which number falling to Cambria county is two companies. That a ready response be made to this appeal, and our quota filled out forthwith, is our duty as loyal citizens. The patriotism of the masses of the Mountain County is a matter of renown, and no extreme measures have ever to be resorted to to secure a host of hardy defenders of the honor of our Plag. Meetings are being held in every section of the county, volunteers are enrolling their names by the score, and the indications now are that Cambria county will have her full her sister counties! This is, in leed, something to be proud of. While in almost every county in the State the necessity of ultimately resorting to a draft is being canvassed, Cambria, without a moment's unnecessary hesitation, springs to the rescue. True men of all parties and predilections strike hands ip the good work, and rally together upon a common platform. It is enough for them to know that the country is endangered-that the danger be averted, if in their power lies, is a foregone conclusion. Our noble fellow-citizens and brethren who have responded to the call of duty may rest-assured that their sacrifices in this behalf will not be forgotten. Republics may be ungrateful, but their services will be enshrined forever in the hearts of a grateful people.

of the sense of the meeting. Gen. Jos. M'Donald and R. L. Johnston, Esq., respectively, in response to repeated calls, her share in the good work. then made their appearance and delivered speeches fraught with intense and burning patriotism. The committee on Resolutions having returned by this time, the Chairman made the following report :

RESOLUTIONS.

Whereas, The first wants of a great country are Independence, Liberty, Stability, Supremacy of Merit, and Comfort generally diffused, and the best government is that where every abuse of power can always be corrected past week. Never since the breaking out where, without social disorder, both the laws of the Rebellion has the patriotism of our | and the head of the government can be changed, and where one rules according to the will of ALL-such, we believe, being in an eminent degree the present Constitution and Government of the United States ;

And Whereas, By the present causeless and wicked rebellion the rebels intend to divide, weaken and overthrow this government ;-Therefore,

Resolved, That we fully endorse and approve three hundred thousand additional volunteers for the perfect and entire suppression of this rebellion in the least possible time and by the most effectual means.

Resolved. That we send forward our citizen soldiers for the purpose of fighting and conquering the rebels in arms against our government, and not for the purpose of guarding the property of rebel leaders ; and we, therefore, approve of the late policy of the War Department, that the patriot army shall subsist as far as possible upon the enemy's country.

Resolved, That this war is prosecuted to defend, protect and preserve the institutions founded by the wisdom, and purchased with the blood of our ancestors; that we regard them as a sacred legacy, to be handed down to all future generations unimpaired, at the peril of our lives.

Resolved, That the victorious achievements by our army and navy, within the last year, have added unperishable lustre to the American name, and "crowned our flag with loyal States for three hundred thousand never-fading glories." Though scarred and Cambria's quota-two companies-is mutilated, the old banner still unfurls to the

As a result of these and efforts to follow, a full company will leave Ebensburg for camp in a few days. Its muster-roll embraces the pride and flower of our town and surroundings, ready and willing to do their entire duty in whatsoever capacity they may be placed. May their efforts to the Principals, conspire largely to bring about that consummation we all so ardently desire-the utter crushing out of this infernal and causeless rebellion !
