LOCAL ETCHINGS.
Plenty: game in the adjacent woods.
Refreshing: the "shower" of Sunday.
Seeding: the wild geese, for a warmer climate.

To-morrow evening is Halloween. Be on the alert, boys.

Consult first page of to-day's paper for a readable letter from Co. F, Capt. Jones, 133d Penna. Vols.

Circulating around: Assistant Assessor N. I. Roberts, with his imposing "book of entry."

For a superior Clock, Watch, or article of Jewelry, go to C. T. Roberts & Co.'s, High street.

The surest way for a business man to accumulate a speedy fortune is to advertise liberally. Printer's ink, judiciously applied, works wonders.

The Philadelphia Sunday Mercury suggests the nomination of our fellow-townsmen, R. L. Johnston, Esq., as the next Democratic candidate for Governor. They might go farther and fare worse.

The Johnstown Tribune learns that Marshall R. Carmon, son of Mr. R. Carmon, for many years a citizen of this place but latterly of Missouri, was wounded in the head in the recent great battle of Corinth.

The Tribune notices the death in hospital at Sharpsburg, of typhoid fever, of David A. Wilson, and at Hagerstown, of the same disease, of William King, both of Co. A, 133d Penna. Vols., and both of Johnstown.

A. Kopelin, Esq., of Johnstown, has been appointed Deputy U. S. Marshal for this county, with power to compel the attendance of refractory conscripts at designated points of rendezvous. We hope, for the credit of our county, that his services may not be required in a single instance.

John Roberts and Thomas D. Jones, both of whom have been with us for some weeks past, the former on recruiting service, and the latter recuperating from the effects of a wound received at the second battle of Bull Run, have gone back to their regiment—11th Reserves, company A. Luck go with them!

News has been received here to the effect that John Barnes, son of Mr. William Barnes, of this place, was killed in a recent skirmish in Kentucky by being shot through the head. He belonged to Co. C, Capt. Williams, 19th U. S. infantry, and was in the service over a year. He was about 18 years old.

Sergt. John E. Scanlan, who was wounded twice and severely at the battle of Gaines' Hill, and Thomas D. Litzinger, captured by the rebels at the same fight and yet a paroled prisoner—both of Co. A, 11th Penna. Reserves—are at home. The former, owing to the severity of his injuries has been discharged from the service. Their presence is welcome as coals at Christmas.

Something like a hundred of the drafted militia of this county, under the superintendence of Commissioner Harr, took their departure hence for Harrisburg on Thursday morning last. On their arrival at that city, they were provided with quarters in Camp Curtin, and immediately formed into a company, when an organization was effected by the election of John C. Robb, of Conemaugh, as Captain. We did not hear the names of the other officers. The residue of the drafted men will be gathered up and forwarded during the present week.

The thirty-second session of that excellent institution, the Eldersridge Academy, commences next Tuesday, 4th proximo. Those who have a desire to enter upon a thorough course of studies could not possibly do better than to patronize this school. The Principal, Rev. A. Donaldson, is a gentleman, a ripe scholar, and a sincere Christian, while the balance of the Faculty are fitted in every respect for the satisfactory performance of their various duties. Eldersridge is a pleasant and healthy location in Indiana county, easy of access from every direction. As to terms of tuition, &c., see advertisement in another column.

WINTER ON THE HALF SHELL.—We of the Mountain—had the fortune, or misfortune, if you prefer, of being visited last week and the present by two or three dainty little falls of snow, which, although their destiny was nothing greater than to become the prime cause why of a beautiful and bountiful supply of mud for the time being, still persistently thrust themselves in on our observation as the avant couriers of the dread Frost King. Of the battering, chattering, roaring Old North Wind. Of, in short, Winter. Winter, with his hoary beard and chilling breath, feeble limbs and chattering teeth, whose prerogative it is, once and again, to

"Rule the varied year,
Sullen and sad, with all his rising train:
Vapors, and clouds, and storms."

Together with numerous other shivering et ceteras not necessary to mention.

He is coming, is this late resident of the North Pole, and it snow use attempting to disguise the fact!

We flatter ourselves that we don't "go back on it" in the least when we say that we have failed, as yet, to experience that golden era in the cycle of human-natural existence—that honey-moon in Time's general oasis—that pungent and romantic old periodical, when the crisp-yellowish leaves lend their enchanting tints to the sombre sky, and the sky and leaves together impart a mellow fragrance to the atmosphere equalled only by the perfumes wafted seaward from the Isles of the Blest or the odor emitted from the cork of a bottle of Green Seal—known as Indian Summer. As applied to the year of our Lord, 1862, we believe this season has failed to come to time. Is this the style? Is the aboriginal summer to be permitted to turn a summersault over our heads into the latter end of next fall without our special protest? Nanie. If Winter is about to fasten his icy clutches upon us in dead earnest, then, indeed, is the "winter of our discontent" to hand.

Speaking of discontent reminds us of our brave soldiers. Last season they spent the cold months on the banks of the Potomac—they are still there. The question naturally arises, Will they be permitted to hibernate in a warmer climate—further South,—or, on the contrary, will their present pent-up Utica contract them and their powers until next spring? The contrary, we presume. Bad roads, according to current report, grow spontaneously in the region of the Potomac, and bad roads are a thing that can't be got over. Especially by army supply trains, and the like. Notwithstanding, "the contrary" will engender much discontent in the patient loyal North.

To return: Winter is coming! He will be with us sooner or later. With we of ye Mountain—sooner, of course.

Which suggests to a reflective mind, wood piles, coal-piles and piles of rocks, sleighridges and let'er slides, suthin' hot with water into it, chafing-dishes and fur overcoats, corn husked and housed, two in a bed and the inevitable "spoon fashion"—to which is annexed a tale, besides home contentment, fireside delights, ginger, and other big things—on ice.

Reader, do you take our paper? If not, it is essential to your present enjoyment and your perspective bliss that you mend your ways and do so forthwith.

Contains the latest and fullest news from all over the world. Correspondents everywhere and elsewhere. Other journals are slow and liable to err—we are reliable. We "would rather be right than President"—or any other man. Published Thursday mornings, rain or shine. Everybody reads it, and none of our subscribers has ever been struck with lightning. Per contra, they still vegetate luxuriantly, and are all able to discuss and endorse with due zest the Emancipation Proclamation. Go thou and do likewise!

Four weeks from to-day is Thanksgiving Day. You have abundant reason to render sincere acknowledgements to the Giver of all Good for the many blessings he has showered upon your unworthy head. We need only particularize, our preservation as a great nation, bountiful crops, un-extortionate prices, and health, strength and willingness to "keep the wolf from the door" during the hyemal holding of the reins. Attend to that duty.

On each successive visitation upon you of the "white apote" incident to a frigid condition of the atmospheric arrangements, and when—"r-r-r-rip!"—the angry winds moan and whistle about, and blow your hat off, may you, and each of you, reader, be soothed and sustained by the overpoweringly sweet reflection that you Voted the Republican Ticket and have Paid the Printer!

Then—come the wild weather, come sleet or come snow,
We'll stick to each other however it blow.

GODDY'S LADY'S BOOK.—This magazine still maintains unimpaired its high reputation for general excellence—in fact, like brands of rare vintage, as it grows older it grows better. The November number, which we have received, is filled to overflowing with good things. The colored fashion-plate is pronounced by the ladies—and they ought to know—to be superior to anything of the kind before attempted; the embellishments, in point of elegance as well as in number, defy competition, while the reading matter is choice and unexceptionable. During the coming year, Marion Harland, author of "Along," "Hidden Path," &c., will contribute exclusively to the columns of the Book.

Now is the time to commence making up clubs for the new volume! Look at the low prices—the best is always the cheapest:

One copy one year, $3. Two copies one year, $5. Three copies one year, $6. Four copies one year, $7. Five copies one year, $8. An extra copy to the person getting up the club, making six copies, $10. Eight copies one year, and an extra copy to the person sending the club, making nine copies, $15. Eleven copies one year, and an extra copy to the person sending the club, making twelve copies, $20. Any person having sent a club will have the privilege of adding one or more copies at the same club rates.

Goddy's Lady's Book and The Alleghenian will be sent to any address for the coming year on the receipt at this office of $3.50.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE.—This magazine, peerless queen of the monthlies, is to hand for November. Its contents are rich and varied. It abounds in reliable fashion-plates for the ladies, and superb steel and wood engravings; the literature is eminently superior to that found in the general run of such publications; the music is new and fashionable, while the Cook Book—a department in itself—is just the thing for wives and mothers. All in all, Peterson is the magazine for the times, and no lady can afford to be without it. As the time for subscribing to the new volume approaches, we would advise our readers, rich and poor, to take advantage of the fact and secure regular visitations from this brilliant fireside companion and trusty friend. Here are the terms, always in advance:

One copy one year, $2. Three copies one year, $5. Five copies one year, $7.50. Eight copies one year, $10. Twelve copies one year, $15. Sixteen copies one year, $20. To every person getting up a club of Three, Five, Eight or Twelve subscribers, an extra copy of the Magazine for 1863 will be given. If preferred, however, we will send as a premium (instead of an extra copy) an Illustrated Lady's Album, handsomely bound in gilt, or our new Magnificent Mezzotint, for framing—size 27 inches by 20—"Banyan Parting from His Blind Child in Jail,"—a match picture to our former premium, "Banyan's Wife Interceding for his Release from Prison." To every person sending a club of Sixteen, two extra copies of the Magazine will be sent, or any two of the other premiums.

AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST.—In our notice of the enterprise of this paper last week, we did not give the terms of subscription. The price is $1 a year, and subscribers sending now get not only the Agriculturist for all of 1863, (Vol. 22) but the rest of this year, and the map in addition, all for a dollar. We have received the maps, and can testify to their value. Address Orange Judd, 41 Park Row, New York City.

DISSOLUTION.—The partnership heretofore existing between the undersigned, under the firm of Davis, Jones & Co., was this day dissolved by mutual consent. The Business will be settled by either of the partners, at the stand of Robert Davis, for a limited time, where all having unsettled accounts will save costs by calling soon.
