

ODDS & ENDS.

THE "LADIES' MAN."—By his air and gait, the ultra fashionable style of his clothing, the killing curl of his mustache, the "look and die" expression of his simpering face, his stream of small talk, and sundry other signs and tokens of a plethora of vanity, and a lack of soul and brains, you may distinguish at a glance the individual who plumes himself upon being a "ladies' man." His belief in his own irresistibility is written all over him. And to say the truth, your ladies' men have some grounds for their self conceit. It is indubitable that girls do sometimes fall in love, or what they suppose to be love with fellows who look as if they had walked out of tailors' fashion plates—creatures that by the aid of the various artists who contribute to the "make up" of human pinuppers have been converted into superb examples of what art can effect in the way of giving man an unusually appearance. The woman who marries one of these flutterers is to be pitied; for, if she has any glimmerings of common sense, and a heart under her bodice, she will soon discover that her dainty husband has no more of a man's spirit in him than an automatic figure on a Savoyard's hand organ. But a woman worth a true man's love is never caught by such a specimen of ornamental hollow ware. A sensible woman is, in fact, a terror to "ladies' men," for they are aware that her penetrating eye looks through them, and sounds the depths of their emptiness. She knows the man indeed from the trumpery counterfeit, and has no touch of the masked propensity to jump at a fleshy bait, in her whole composition. The lady's man should be permitted to live and die a bachelor; his vocation is to dangle after the sex, to talk soft nonsense, to carry shawls and fans, to astonish boarding school misses, and to kindle love flames as evanescent and harmless as the fiz of a squib. If, however, he must needs become a Benedict, let him be yoked with some vain and silly flirt, his natural counterpart. So shall the law of fitness not be outraged.

BOSOMS.—The following strange advertisement recently made its appearance in a Massachusetts paper: "Bosoms—just opened. A fine bosom for 17 cents—a very nice bosom for 25 cents. Our stock of bosoms is full, and at very low prices."

This a frightful picture! Of course, the "full" and "very nice" bosoms are all well enough—in fact, taken in that shape, they are decidedly a favorite with the community; but the bare idea of "opening" them at seventeen and twenty-five cents apiece overwhelms us most unanimously! The prices are low—Massachusetts certainly knocks the persimmons in that direction. Seventeen cents!—we should think so. However, there's no telling to what extent one will cotton to the public's predilection for postage stamps nowadays. Not any!

MAN OF HONOR.—Some people have nice ideas of honor. For instance: At an up-town whilst party, last week, two of our money kings, Broadstreet and Wallstreet, were playing against each other. Broadstreet had just taken the odd trick; the "honors" were "easy." "That makes us four," said Broadstreet, marking that number of points for his side.

"No, three," said Wallstreet.

"Excuse me; it is four."

"Come! I'll bet you five dollars that it was only three."

"Well," replied the cautious financier, "I don't feel sure enough to bet, but I'll give you my word of honor."

A Horticulturist advertised that he would supply all kind of trees and plants, especially "pie-plants of all kinds." A gentleman therupon sent him an order for "one package of custard pie seed," and a dozen of mince-pie plants." The gardener promptly filled the order by sending him four goose eggs and a small dog.

A furrier wishing to inform the public that he would make up furs in a fashionable manner, out of old rags which ladies might have at home, appended the following to one of his advertisements: "N.B.—Capes, victorines, &c., made up for ladies in fashionable styles out of their own skins!"

A young lady, a scissile girl, by the way, enumerated the following different kinds of love: The sweetest, a mother's love; the longest, a brother's love; the strongest, a man's love; the dearest, a woman's love; and the sweetest, longest, strongest, dearest, love—a "love of a bonnet!"

At a meeting the other evening, an energetic individual arose and proposed that a "committee of young ladies and gentlemen be appointed to raise children for the Sunday School!" To be sure,
