

ODDS & ENDS.

How a Modest Man was Mistaken.—The Syracuse Standard says: In Lowell, at a lecture a few evenings since, a gentleman, the most modest of his sex, and no less polite than modest, was sitting in a pew rather remote from the light. A pretty lady sat next him. Looking at the floor during the lecture, he espied what he thought was the lady's handkerchief, the lace-trimmed edge just visible under her dress. Turning to his pew-mate he gallantly whispered, "You have dropped your handkerchief, madam!" Before she could reply, he proceeded to pick it up. Horror! he had seized the edge of her pet-skirt, and did not discover his mistake until the top of a gaiter boot stared him in the face, and the faint sound of a laugh just nipped in the bud by the application of a real handkerchief, warned him of his mistake. Moral—Don't attempt to pick up anything with lace to it, before you know what it is.

A glass of whisky is manufactured from perhaps a dozen grains of corn, the value of which is too small to be estimated. A pint of this mixture sells for one shilling and it, of a good brand, is considered well worth the money. It is drunk in a minute or two—it fires the brain, sharpens the appetite, deranges and weakens the physical system. On the same sideboard upon which this delicious beverage is served lies a newspaper. It is covered with half a million of types—it brings intelligence from the four quarters of the globe. The newspaper costs less than the glass of grog—the juice of a few grains of corn; but it is no less strange than true that there is a large portion of the community who think corn juice cheap and the newspapers dear!

Daniel Webster said: "Small is the sum that is required to patronize a newspaper, and amply repaid is its patron I care not how humble and unpretending the gazette he takes. It is next to impossible to fill a sheet without putting into it something that is worth the subscription price. Every parent whose son is away from home at school, should supply himself with a newspaper. I will remember what a marked difference there was between those who had access to newspapers and those who had not. Other things being equal, the first were always superior to the last in debate, composition, and general intelligence.

Printer's LITANY.—From want of gold, from wives that sold, from maidens old, by thurgers "sold"—preserve us. From foppish sneers, mock auctioneers, and woman's tears—deliver us. From stinging flies, from coal black eyes and babies' cries—deliver us. From seedy coats, protested notes, and leaky boots—protect us. From creaking doors, a wife that snores confounded hoarse, and dry goods stores—protect us. From shabby hats, and torn cravats, and flying brickbats—save us.

It is calculated that a single pig-weed, if left undisturbed, will ripen more than 10,000 seeds, each capable of producing a successor. The seeds of the duck sometimes number over 18,000 on a single plant, and the toad flax leaves provision for more than 45,000 plants the following year. Barlock will multiply 21,000 fold and the common stinging nettle ripens 100,000. Scarcely a weed comes to maturity without scattering from 1,000 to 10,000 or more seeds; to injure crops and annoy the cultivator.

A loafer who had got his Fourth of July load on, "fetched up," against the side of a house that had been newly painted. Showing clear by a vigorous effort he took one glimpse at his shoulder, another at the house, a third one at his hands, and exclaimed: "Well that's a mighty careless trick in whoever painted that house, to leave it stand out all night for people to run against!"

A chap out West named Barnes, who had made a speech at a public meeting, was criticized in the village paper, which said it was a very patriotic address, but the speaker slandered Lindley Murray awfully. The next day, Barnes wrote a note to the editor, declaring he never knew such a man as Lindley Murray in his life, and therefore could not have slandered him!

A rogue asked charity on pretense of being dumb. A lady having asked him with equal simplicity and humanity, how long he had been dumb, he was thrown off his guard and answered, "From birth, madam." "Poor fellow!" said the lady, and gave him half a crown.

To err is human; to forgive divine.
