ODDS & ENDS.

☞ Two young men met one evening at the house of acquaintances, some young ladies, for one of whom both gentlemen entertained tender feelings. In a spirit of frolic, one of the ladies turned off the gas, whereupon, the young men, thinking it a favorable moment to make known the state of their feelings to the fair object of their regard, moved seats at the same instant, and placed themselves, as they supposed, by the lady's side. But it so happened that she had also changed seats at the same moment, and the gentlemen were, in reality, seated next each other. As the young men could not whisper without betraying their whereabouts, they both gently took, as they thought, the soft little hand of the charmer, and when, after a while, they ventured to give a gentle pressure, each was surprised to find it returned with an unmistakable squeeze. It may well be imagined that the moments flew rapidly by in this silent interchange of mutual affection. But one of the girls, wondering at the unusual silence of the gentlemen, stepped noiselessly out, and suddenly returned with a light; and there sat the young men—most lovingly squeezing each other's hands, and supreme delight beaming in their eyes. Their consternation, and the ecstacy of the ladies, may be imagined, but cannot be described. One of the young men was afterwards heard to say, "that he thought all the while his friend's hand felt a leetle hard!"

☞ The Sultan of Turkey was recently afflicted with an attack of the disease known as the jamping toothache. His dentist was summoned, but could not be found at his lodging: he had, in fact, gone to a hunt. For three hours messengers on fleetest steeds sought for him, the Sultan, meanwhile, roaring with pain till the entire household seemed to hear in their ears the twang of the bowstring. Fortunately one of them remembered an obscure dentist whose sign was out in a remote quarter. This member of the profession was found, a ragged man in a garret, and was whisked away to the palace. Twelve valets seized upon him, cleansed him, brushed him, tumbled him into comparative decency, and sent him, forceps in hand, into the presence. He extracted the tooth, and the warm regard of His Serenity, and was at once named special dentist, with a great monthly salary, an immediate gift of large amount, and a noble residence.

☞ A most remarkable mistake is shown in the following mixing of two articles—one concerning a preacher, and the other about the freaks of a mad dog—which occurred in a hurried "make up" in a printing office:

"Rev. James Thompson, rector of St. Andrew's church, preached to a large concourse of people on Sunday last. This was his last sermon. In a few weeks he will bid farewell to his congregation, as his physician advises him to cross the Atlantic. He exhorted his brethren and sisters, and after a short prayer, took a whim to cut up some frantic freaks. He ran up Timothy street to the College. At this stage of the proceedings a couple of boys seized him and tied a tin kettle to his tail, and he again started. A great crowd collected, and for a time there was a grand scene of running and confusion. After a long race he was finally shot by a policeman.'

☞ "Isn't it strange," remarked the Broker, "that, in the present scarcity of silver, the prospect of an issue of a variety of American coin for the benefit of the army should create so much discontent?"

"What variety of change do you speak of?" asked an anxious countryman, who had a stocking full of "change" at home.

"I refer, sir," replied the courteous Broker, "to the prospect of 'Winter Quarters.'"

☞ "Well, Jones, does your girl still continue to love you?"

"Yes, more than ever."

"Indeed! What evidence have you of that?"

"Why, she makes me presents."

"What has she given you lately?"

"Oh, she has made me a present of my picture, which I paid five dollars for, before I gave it to her!"

☞ Fifty damsels, sent out from England to Vancouver's Island, had, upon arrival, to be housed in a Government building and a guard put over them, in order to protect them from the rush of amorous swains. They were all soon disposed of; but whether by lot, or to the highest bidders, does not appear. The Vancouver paper clamors for more, but prefers dairy maids to governesses.

A CARD.—
WITMER'S BRIDGE,
Lancaster Tp. July 30, 1860.
MESSRS. EVANS AND WATSON: GENTLEMEN—The small size No. 1 Salamander safe which I purchased from your agent, Mr. Adam R Barr, in Lancaster City, on July 20th, 1859, has been subjected to a very severe test, which it withstood in a most satisfactory manner. This Safe, containing all my books together with valuable papers belonging to myself and some to my neighbors and friends, and representing a value of over Twenty Thousand Dollars, ($20,000) was in my Mill which was destroyed on the night of the 27th of July, 1860, and passed through the fiery ordeal unscathed. The Safe was on the second floor and fell to the basement of the Mill, and was subjected for six hours to an intense heat among the ruins, which was greatly increased by the combustion of a large quantity of grain confined within the brick walls. After the fire the safe was opened and the books and papers taken out in a state of perfect preservation, the paper not even being discolored. This fact was, however, to many bystanders a better recommendation of your Safes than could be expressed in any other words from me. Yours Respectfully, [se13 SAMUEL RANCK.
