

ODDS & ENDS.

For a young gentleman just turned twenty-one, and a happy bridegroom at that, the Prince of Wales has fallen heir to an exceedingly pleasant fortune, immediate as well as prospective. According to the official report which has just been laid before Parliament, the net proceeds of the revenues of his Duchy of Cornwall, now placed to his credit, after the accumulation of twenty-one years, amount to no less a sum than £584,000, or within a fraction of three millions of dollars in our currency. This sum has been invested as follows: In consolidated three per cent. annuities, £232,969 8s 11d., and in reduced three per cent. annuities, £289,106 4s. 1d., making together a sum of £522,075 3s., of stock in these funds. There was also a sum of £12,000 reduced three per cent. annuities derived from another source, which the council directed to be transferred to the prince's trustees. With a clear capital of three million dollars, and a regular annual income of five hundred and fifty thousand dollars besides, the Prince and his wife may be said to have a very fair start in the world.

A young gentleman became smitten in the natural way, by the beauty of a youthful maiden, and honorably proposed marriage to her. The feminine said she was willing, but that her beloved parents were seriously of the opinion that she was "too young to marry yet," and therefore had most decided objections to her entering into matrimonial speculations at present. The swain said that such obstacles as enraged parents might be overcome by a gentle elopement, and requested to know if she would clandestinely leave the parental roof with him. Her reply was characteristic; she said— "Yes, or any other man!"

In addressing a Jury upon one occasion, the celebrated Mr. Jeffrey found it necessary to make free with the character of a military officer who was present during the whole harangue. Upon hearing himse several times spoken as "the soldier," the son of Mars, boiling with indignation, interrupted the pleader: "Don't call me a soldier, sir; I am an officer." Mr. Jeffrey immediately went on: "Well, gentleman, this officer, who is no soldier, was the sole cause of the mischief that has occurred."

A friend at West Point tells us a comical anecdote of a very diffident young clergyman, who had been invited to dine with a professional brother, who also kept a young ladies' boarding school. He was introduced to a bevy of the fair pupils in the drawing room, and among them to a Miss M., to whom he said, stammeringly: "A-a-a-a—Miss M., a-a-a-I-I-I am not entirely unacquainted with you. I-I-I had the honor of sleeping with your father a short time ago!"

Jones, the other day, asked Smith the following question: "We have had the age of iron, the age of gold, and the age of bronze, but what shall we call the present age?" "Why," says Smith, licking the back of a postage stamp, which he was about to apply to the envelope of a letter, "I think we had better call this the muck-age."

A lazy woman is the most worthless and troublesome piece of furniture a man can have. If she knows nothing about domestic duties, she is not a helpmate, but an incumbrance.

We hear a great deal about suspending the writ of habeas corpus, but when the government catches a traitor, why doesn't it suspend the corpus and let the habeas go?

A boozey fellow was observed the other day driving a pig, holding on to its tail and when asked what he was doing, replied that he was studying ge-hography.

A gentleman the other evening objected to playing cards with a young lady, because, he said, she had such a "winning way" about her.

The anger which flushes the face is not so deadly as that which makes it pale. The red heat is less intense than the white.

It has been ascertained that the man who held on to the last, was a shoe-maker.

Marriage must be favorable to longevity; who ever saw an old maid who lived to be more than thirty?

A CARD.—

WITNER'S BRIDGE, Lancaster Tp. July 30, 1890. Messrs. EVANS AND WATSON: GENTLEMEN— The small size No. 1 Sausander safe which I purchased from your agent, Mr. Adam R. Barr, in Lancaster City, on July 20th, 1888, has been subjected to a very severe test, which it withstood in a most satisfactory manner. This safe, containing all my books together with valuable papers belonging to myself and some to my neighbors and friends, and representing a value of over Twenty Thousand Dollars ($20,000) was in my mill which was destroyed on the night of the 27th of July, 1890, and passed through the fiery ordeal unscathed. The safe was on the second floor and fell to the basement of the Mill, and was subjected for six hours to an intense heat among the ruins, which was greatly increased by the combustion of a large quantity of grain confined within the brick walls. After the fire the safe was opened and the books and papers taken out in a state of perfect preservation, the paper not even being discolored. This fact was, however, to many bystanders a better recommendation of your Safes than could be expressed in any other words from me. Yours respectfully, SAMUEL RANCK.

A large assortment of the above quality of Fire and Thief Proof Safes always on hand and for sale at as low rates as any other firm, at EVANS & WATSON'S, No. 16 South Fourth st., Philadelphia.
