How GEN. HOOKER TALKS ABOUT SURPRISES.—A correspondent writing from the army of the Potomac, says:
"General Hooker, so far, has shown himself to be a great chieftain, in the true sense of that term. He has done his utmost to bring up the spirit of the army, and his labor has been rewarded with the most gratifying success. The recent brilliant affair at Kelly's Fork, where our cavalry rushed upon the foe, without firing a shot, and sabred the rebels in their intrenchments, is but one indication of the great change he has wrought. The utter worthlessness of our cavalry had long been the standing reproach of this army. Whoever saw a dead cavalryman? was the derisive interrogatory from every branch of the service.
"Gen. Hooker resolved this should cease. He told his Chief of Cavalry he would have no more disgraceful 'surprises.'"—Said he to a brigadier of cavalry, "I know the South, I know the North. In point of skill, of intelligence and pluck, the rebels will not compare with our men, if they are equally well led. Our soldiers are a better quality of men. They are better fed, better clothed, better armed, and infinitely better mounted; for the rebels are fully half mounted on mules, and their animals get but two rations of forage per week, while ours get seven. Now with such soldiers, and with such a cause as we have behind them—the best cause, the most sacred cause since the world began, we ought to be invincible, and, by—sir, we shall be! You have got to stop these disgraceful cavalry 'surprises'! I'll have no more of them! I give you full power over your officers, to arrest, cashier, shoot whatever you will—only you must stop these 'surprises.'" And, by—sir, if you don't do it, I give you fair notice, I will relieve the whole of you and take command of the cavalry myself!" That is the kind of talk for tardy or delinquent officers, and the first fruits thereof may be read in the flash and ring of gallant sabres at Kelly's Ford. It is the kind of talk to reform an army, and to win battles, and to save a nation, and history will record every word in letters of gold."

A CARD.—WILMER'S BRIDGE, Lancaster Tp. July 30, 1860. MESSRS. EVANS AND WATSON: GENTLEMEN.—The small size No. 1 Salamander safe which I purchased from your agent, Mr. Adam R. Barr, in Lancaster City, on July 20th, 1858, has been subjected to a very severe test which it withstood in a most satisfactory manner. This safe, containing all my books together with valuable papers belonging to myself and some to my neighbors and friends, and representing a value of over Twenty Thousand Dollars, ($20,000) was in my Mill which was destroyed on the night of the 27th of July, 1860, and passed through the fiery ordeal unscathed. The safe was on the second floor and fell to the basement on the second floor and subjected for six hours to an intense heat by the combustion of a large quantity of grain confined within the brick walls. After the fire the safe was opened and the books and papers taken out in a state of perfect preservation, the paper not even being discolored. This fact was, however, to many bystanders a better recommendation of your Safes than could be expressed in any other words from me. Yours Respectfully, SAMUEL RANCK. [se13]
A large assortment of the above quality of Fire and Thief Proof Safes always on hand and for sale at low rates as any other firm. EVANS & WATSON'S, No. 16 South Fourth st., Philadelphia.
