by many of the virtuous and upright which its magnitude demands. The evil has been so long upon us that we have become familiar with it. We are like the Israelites of old, who tolerated idolatry so long amongst them that they lost that holy horror of it the law of God had first JOHNSTOWN STOVE & HOUSE-FURNISHinspired, and many fell victims to the revolting practice. This evil approaches us as the flattering insect does the industrious bee hive, where it deposites the egg that brings forth the destroying cankerworm, and where the unsuspecting family allow it to remain until it has completed the work of death. Mapy think it impolite to refuse to take a glass with a friend, and thus that friend is encouraged in that which is fast working his ruin. Parents allow their children to go where strong drink is dealt out, and to associate with those who use it. Is it any wonder that many of them become drunkards, when t ley are thus being educated to it? Virtous young ladies look with complacency upon young men who are olten found street. quafing the intoxicating cup. Is it any wonder the young men do not regard the practice as a bad one when it is uncondemned by their fair companions ? A word as to the remedies for this evil, and it requires but a word, because to speak of the causes suggests the remedy. I contend we should bring temperance into politics By this I do not mean to say that there should be a distinct political organization, with the one idea of temperance. But let the subject be bro't to bear upon existing parties." Let every temperance man resolve, and let that reselution be made known, that he will give his suffrage to no man who sanctions by his practice this monstrous evil.. Let them bring their influence to bear at the primary elections of their respective parties, and clsewhere, and we will soon see a change in the character of the men who are elevated to place and power. It is a burning shame upon this nation and this State that our congressional and legislafive halls are often swayed by the stormy passions of the inebriate. Let there be Temperance Leagues formed for the disremination of temperance principles and the enforcement of the present statutes upon the subject Let the young lady. as she values her own happiness and that of her sex, indignantly spurn from her his profession ervices to the ladies and genlager-beer saloon, and whose breath is polluted with the perfumes of strong drink. Finally, let each one, male or fe male, who regards the present and eternal freet. happiness of mankind, bear an unwavering testimony on the side of temperance and virtue. Then may we hope that this limany unfortunate victims saved.
