gets mixed up with the crowd; see him DANIC ARRANGEMENTS! THE UNION FOREVER! suddenly, as if for the first time, rush up to him in a flutter of delight, call him brother Fred, and give him such another kissing as he hasn't had since he saw his sweetheart last."

"Yes, I would, if I were you," said Dora, sarcastically. "You daren't, you know." "Jon't I dare to, though? Wait and see !" And so I dropped back into the cushion in silence, till the train stopped at our station.

Dora gave me a wicked look, and whispered that she knew my courage would fail me; for the gentleman was really getting off I was not to be triumphed over, though and so we as we stepped out on the platform saw the crowd, and with a little bound, threw myself into his arms and kissed him full in the mouth, hysterically saying : "Fred, my dear, dear brother! how are you ?" I caught a glimpse of Dora-she was in danger of going into convulsions. I expected to hear the stranger confusedly say that there was some mistake; but to my surprise he gave me a hearty embrace -kissed me two or three times-said he was well-that I had grown a deal; and then inquired for my little friend, Dora -who, all this time, was exciting the days' notice. sympathies of the crowd, they supposed she was insane, judging from her franticlaughter.

"Father and mother are expecting you, Nellie, and are so impatient they can suarcely wait to see you. I was afraid you wouldn't know me; but I am really glad that my image has been treasured up so carefully in my little sister's heart."

I was bewildered beyond measure. It really was Fred, then; and I had not known him. I felt slightly ridiculous, and while introducing Dora to my brother, whispered to her to keep quiet in reference to my intended trick. I was too much confused to think of inquiring how he came to be in the cars without seeing me; so we all went to the carriage that was waiting for us, and rapidly drove home.

I had never known Fred to be so affectionate. He held my hand in his unnecessarily short intervals; but to tell the truth, I had never loved him half so well before-never thought him half so handsome.

We reached the gate. Mother kissed me and cried over me all at once; father repeated it; and finally, a frank, hearty voice broke out with:

"Hallo, sis! aren't you going to notice your scapegrace of a brother at all !" And to my astonishment, a handsome fellow I had not seen before gave me a genuine hug, and a kiss that you could have heard across the yard. "There is some mistake," I murmured. "Are you my brother Fred? I thought that gentleman was," pointing to the handsome fellow I had embraced at the depot.

"Why, sis, are you going crazy? Of course I'm your brother, and that fellow there is my college chum Archie Winters, who went half way up the line to meet meet you. What are you blushing at, Nell? There wasn't anything wrong in his going after you, was there? I didn't have time to go, and let him take your picture with him, so that he would be sure to know you. He's been playing off some of his mad pranks, and passing himself off for me, I'll warrant."

I looked at Archie Winters beseechingly; and as they were all going into the house I said to him:

"For pity's sake, don't speak of that mistake. How could it have happen-

"I overheard you in the cars; and will promise to keep your secret only on one condition."

He whispered something to me that made my face flush searlet; but I was at his mercy, and said I would think of it. I did think of it, reader; and to the delight of the whole family-Dora and Fred in particular-Archie and I were married in less than two months. And Dora said to me, as I bade her good-bye, that it would give unspeakable delight to

Fred and herself, if I would attend their

A CARD. WITMER'S BRIDGE, Lancaster Tp. July 30, 1860. MESSRS. EVANS AND WATSON: GENTLEMEN-The small size No. 1 Salamander safe which Perchased from your agent, Mr. Adam R. Barr, in Lancaster City, on July 20th, 1858, has been subjected to a very severe test, which it withstood in a most satisfactory manner. This Safe, containing all my books together with valuable papers belonging to myself and some to my neighbors and friends, and represeting a value of over Twenty Thousand Dollars, ($20,000) was in my Mill which was destroyed on the night of the 27th of July, 1860, and passed through the fiery ordeal unscathed. The Safe was on the second floor and fell to the basement of the Mill, and was subjected for six hours to an intense heat among the ruins, which was greatly increased by the combustion of a large quantity of grain confined within the brick walls. After the fire the safe was opened and the books and papers taken out in a state of perfect preservation, the paper not even being discolored. This fact was, however, to many bystanders a better recommendation of your Safes than could be expressed in any other words from Yours Respectfully, SAMUEL RANCK.
