STTER FROM CAPT. LITZINGER'S COMPANY-FROM BEDFORD TO HUNTINGDON-YELLOW CREEK GAP-BACK TO CIVILIZATION-THE BOYS RECEIVE THEIR "FIGHTING CLOTHES" ETC .- CELEBRATION OF THE 4TH JULY-DEM. & SENT., AND COPPERBEADS IN GENERAL, ETC. "CAMP JUNIATA," HUNTINGDON, PA., July 12th, 1863.

forrespondence of The Alleghanian.

In conformity with orders received, on Friday evening, 3d inst., our company left Bedford borough for Pattonsville, arriving at the latter point, after a march of fourteen miles, on Saturday morning. Our Captain immediately reported to Lieut .-Col. Yarnell, commandant of the post, who ordered us to take up quarters in Yellow Creek Gap, distant from town one mile. This gap is one entrance to the celebrated Morrison's Cove, a rich and fertile valley, teeming with animal and vegetable life. The position is a natural fortification, its merits enhanced by a judicious application of pick and shovel. A hundred men should be fully competent to guard its right of way against a thousand. Saying which, we say about all that can be advanced in favor of Yellow Creek Gap. It is a highly sequestered spot, away from the great throbbing heart of the nationisolated, alone. Railroads there are none, while telegraphs are viewed in the light of an impossibility. As a consequence, news is a rare commodity there. Papers are always a couple of days old when received, scarce even at that, and costing town. "Camp Juniata" is a very pleasant location, with the single exception that, himself. being cleared ground, the rays of the sun are enabled to beat upon our devoted heads with a fury against which our shelter tents are but inadequate protection. There are two other camps beside ours in this immediate locality, known respectively as Camps "Warrior" and "Jackson."

We will most likely be organized into a regiment in the course of a day or two, to be composed of Huntingdon, Blair and Cambria men.

Our company celebrated the "glorious 4th" in gay old style. After the firing of a salute, and the reading of the Declaration of Independence, Mr. Wm. T. Davis, our worthy Chaplain and Surgeon, was called upon, and delivered a thrilling address, brimful of patriotism and love of country. He was rapturously applauded throughout. This at a point five miles south of Pattonsville.

The Bedford Gazette, of late date, in an article denunciatory of the doings and misdoings of the militia, makes honorable mention of our company, by saying, in effect, that throughout the campaigu in that locality, we acted like gettlemen and scholars. Which nobedy can deny. Coming from the source it does,-a rabid copperhead journal- would it be improper to consider the acknowledgment in the light of a compliment?

En passant, your correspondent must not iorget to return thanks to Mr. Joseph Durburrow, of the Bedford Inquirer, for many favors extended to us during our sojourn in his neighborhood. May he live two hundred and fifty years!

Has your old friend, the Dem. & Sent., as yet arrived at a knowledge of the fact that the Rebel army, under Lee, has actually invaded Pennsylvania? And has he heard of the battle of Gettysburg? A couple of weeks since, your correspondent noticed that that delectable journal treated the "invasion" as a creation of the imagination-as a humbug-"a big scare"thereby affording the enemy all the aid "Betsy Jane" never knowing the boundand comfort within its power, by deterring less love ever gushing forth for her from men from rushing to the rescue to roll the depths of his manly bosom: back the advancing tide of treason. Within ten days thereafter, the bloodiest battle of the war was fought-and on Pennsylvania soil, too! A big scare, forsooth !--heaven preserve our loyal old Keystone from other scares like unto it! Had Meade and his gallant army been defeated, instead of overwhelmingly victorious, in the late battle, we should have seen whether it would have proved a scare or a terrible reality. Our proud old Commonwealth prostrate, at the foot of a rapacious and insolent foe, her people subjected to taunts and insults, and her wealth and substance squandered, would have fully attested the truth of the latter proposition. Your correspondent may remark, in conclusion, that our presence on the tented field in the present crisis is only one of the fruits of Copperheadism. Had all men in the North sustained the war for the Union, as they should have donesunk the partizao in the patriot-there certainly would have been no "emergency." The Rebels never would have advanced north of Mason and Dixon's line had they not been led to suppose that they would find friends in our midst. So they did, but their triends proved to be poltroons, for they failed to fight for either one side or the other.

The Alleshanian. quarters, about one mile south-west of them it would ever be carefully cherished as a token of their love and esteem for Lemon, the meeting closed. -We very much regret our inability to furnish our readers the addresses entire. but the fact that Mr. Hartsock replied extempore, while we had no "short-hand" reporter present, precludes all possibility Cambria co., having been granted to the subof our doing so.

OBITUARY .-- It becomes our painful duty to chronicle the death of another of Cambria's brave sons upon the battle field. FREDERICK J. EVANS, who belonged to Co. A, 11th Pa. Reserves, was killed in the late sanguinary battle of Gettysburg. The deceased had been a resident of Cambria township, but when the hand of Treason was stretched forth to desecrate the fair temple of liberty, he nobly went forth to vindicate the honor of an outraged | JULY next.

and insulted country. He laid his life as an offering upon the gory altar of liberty, and she has accepted the sacrifice.

Mr. Evans was a young man of irreproachable character,-warm hearted and generous, he was beloved by all with whom he was thrown in contact. We sympathize with the family and relatives of the deceased in this deep affliction, but feel assured they mourn not as those who have no hope, but rather looking forward to a glorious re-union "where the wicked cease from troubling, and where the weary are at rest."

By REQUEST .- It always affords us a great deal of pleasure to accommodate our patrons, in the way of disseminating usetul knowledge, and general literature of an enlivening nature. For these reasons, we depart from our rule of requiring the names of authors to accompany their productions, and, "by request," publish the following "fragment," not only as a benefit to mankind in general, and to love-lorn swains in particular, but also lest the author should languish on the 'desert air' of unrequited affection, by reason of his

THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE. ---- 1563.----

The New York Tribune first issued in 1841. now in its twenty-second year, has obtained both a larger and a more widely diffused circulation than any other newspaper ever published in America Though it has suffered, in common with other journals, from the volunteering and departure of tens of thousands of its patrons to serve in the War forthe Union, its circulation on this 6th day of December, 1862, is us follows :

ALL REAL PROOF OF ALL THE

215,375 Aggregate, Pre-eminently a journal of News and of Literature, The Tribune has political convictions which are well characterized by the single word REPUBLICAN. It is Republican in its hearty adhesion to the great truth that "God has made of one blood all nations of men"-Republican in its assertion of-the equal and inalienable rights of all men to "life, liberty. and the pursuit of happiness"-Republican in its steadfast, earnest, defiant hostility to every scheme and effort of the Slave Power. from the Annexation of Texas to the great Rebellion, to grasp the empire of the New World and wield the resources of our country for its own aggrandizement-Republican in its antagonism to the aristocrats and despots of the C'd World, who fondly hail in the perils and cak mities suddenly thrust upon their American counterpart the overthrow and ruin of the Model Republic-Republican in its hope and trust, its faith and effort, that this atrocious Rebellion must result in the signal overthrow of its plotters, and the firm establishment of equal rights and equal laws throughout the whole extent of our country, wherein Liberty and Union shall indeed be "one and inseparable" henceforth and forever. The Tribune levotes attention in calmer times, and to some extent in these, to Education, Temperance, Agriculture, Invention, and whatever else may minister to the spiritual and material progress and well-being of mankind; but for the present its energies and its columns are mainly devoted to the invigora-tion and success of the War for the Union. Its special correspondents accompany every considerable army and report every important incident of that great struggie which we trust is soon to result in the signal and conclusive triumph of the National arms and in the res-toration of Peace and Thrift to our distracted, bleeding country. We believe that no otherwise can a fuller or more accurate view of the progress and character of this momentons conflict be o ... sined than through the regular perusal of our columns, And w cargestly solicit the co-operation of all friends of tH5 National cause, which we regard and uphold as that of Universal Humanity, to sid us inextending its circulation. ten cents apiece! To rely upon unreliable rumors, floating hither and thither, is a rather indifferent method of becoming posted on matters and things; so it were safe to infer that the Yellow Creek Gappers, as a general rule, are but indifferently posted. Peace might be declared, and they fight (provided an enemy chanced to make his appearance) for nearly a week without knowing it !

Our camp was situated in the midst of a most luxurious forest. The stately oak, the graceful pine, the grim old hemlock, hickory, ash and laurel greeted us on every hand, and intertwined their boughs and branches so recklessly that a sight of the "ether blue" was a rare occurrence, indeed. Some poet, once upon a time, sighed for "a lodge in a vast wilderness." He should go thither-the Gap is a wilderness that in point of "boundless contiguity of shade" would most likely suit him. In such case, then would the adage that "there's no accounting for. tastes," be verified; for, for our part, we could see the "lodge," but not exactly in an "oh"-ing point of view. On the contrary, we preferred civilization.

On the following Wednesday, 8th inst., when we received orders to break up camp and march hither, you may be sure it was with no unpleasurable emotions we prepared to obey. We took the pike as far as Hopewell, seven miles distant, where we were furnished transportation on the Huntingdon and Broad Top Railroad to this point. Arrived here, without accident ment, instead of being run into town, where we could have obtained excellent accommodations, we were "dumped" out about a mile below, across the river, on a protracted piece of trestle-work belonging to the road,-the latter fact necessitating some very skillful engineering on our part before we were enabled to attain terra firma. The terra firma was found to consist principally of rocks and coal-ashes, upon which we had the pleasure of reposrng our wearied limbs until next morning. Your correspondent almost forgot to say that all the troops stationed at the Gap, numbering probably four hundred, from Chester, Delaware, and Cambria counties, under command of Lieut.-Col. Yarnell, accompanied us here. With the exception of the Cambria men, they constitute part of the 29th Penna. Vol. Militia.

Thursday morning we proceeded to ing a sympathetic chord in the bosoms of his teeth, biting and lacerating him dreadtown, and took up our quarters' in the many present, who should meet their fully. BIBLE PRESENTATION .- As announced in our last week's issue, the presentation of the Bible purchased by the 133d Regt at midnight: Through some mismanage- Pa. Vols., for their Chaplain, Rev. A. J Hartsock, took place in the Presbyterian church on Thursday evening, 9th inst. The meeting was presided over by Mr John Williams, who stated its object in a brief, pointed and patriotic address. He was succeeded by Rev. D. Harbison, who portrayed, in glowing language, the various scenes of conflict and danger through which the Regiment had passed during their nine months' campaign, and which had served to bring out more strikingly those traits of character which endeared Rev. Hartsock to the men under his care. His labors among the wounded and dying upon the sadly memorable field of Fredericksburg, as well as his care that those of that Regiment, who then and there yielded up their lives a sacrifice to their country, should receive Christian burial. were feelingly alluded to, thereby touch-

DIED .- In Cambria township, on Monday, 6th inst., Thomas Deveraux, aged about 19 years.

About two weeks previous to his death the deceased had been engaged in rolling logs, when the handspike which he was using escaped from his grasp, and struck him upon the breast. Several of his ribs were broken by the force of the blow, and the injuries received finally culminated in death.

The deceased had been a member of Co. F, 133d Pa. Vols., throughout their nine months' campaign. He escaped the deadly bullets of the enemy, only to find that Death, the great leveler of all mankind, visits alike the palace and the cabin, the field of, battle and the peaceful haunts of civil life. May he rest in peace.

A CAMBRIA TYPO WOUNDED .--- In a late number of the New York Tribune we observe that one of their late compositors, samed George T. Swank, was severely wounded at Gettysburg.

Mr. Swank, whose family resides in Johnstown, is doubtless well known to many of our readers. He was engaged in the New York Tribune office at the time of the call for nine months' men, but, deeming it his duty, he evlisted in the 27th Connecticut Volunteers, because he "thought the 'Yankees' were actuated by principle in their fighting." The reporter says he is doing well, and that no fears of his recovery are entertained.

Co. A .- By intelligence lately received from a member of Co. A, 11th Reserves, we are informed that during the battle of Gettysburg, one of their number, whom we have noticed elsewhere, was killed, and four wounded. The wounded are Lieut. D. Jones, John Keough, John Stevens and Edward E. Davis. Lieut. Jones was very slightly wounded, being able to remain on duty. Of the extent of injuries sustained by the others we are not informed, but hope they may not prove serious.

SAD ACCIDENT .- A man named Peter Wible, residing near Carrolltown, was recently attending to a horse, when the animal seized him by the shoulder with ved ready for use. Persons proposing for the above or any part of it will state price on cars, and their railroad station, or in raft at Dock Sreet Wharf. Iress C. ALBRIGHT & CO.'S U. S. Bakery, 5, 7 and 9 Dock St., Address PHILADELPHIA. an15,1863]
