A BUDGET OF BLUNDERS .- We have all heard of Sir Boyle Roche's blunders. Dickons gives us an account of some of those which happily are preserved. In one of his speeches he said : "Sir, I would give up half-nay, the whole of the Constitution to preserve the remainder." This, however, was parliamentary Hearing that Admiral Howe was in quest of the French, he remarked, somewhat pleasantly, that the Admiral would "sweep the French fleet off the face of the carth." By-andby came dangerous times of disaffection, and honest men's lives were insecure .-Sir Boyle writes from the country to a friend in the capital this discouraging view of his position : "You may judge," he says, "of our state, when I tell you that I write this with a sword in one hand and a pistol in the other."

On another occasion, when the famous letters to the Public Advertiser were ettracting universal attention, Sir Boyle was heard to complain bitterly of the attacks "of a certain anonymous writer called Junius." He it was who recounted that marvelous performance in gymnastics, when, in a tumult of loyalty, he "stood prostrate at the feet of his sovereign."-He it was who denounced in withering language the apostate politician who "turned back upon himself." He it was who istroduced to public notice the ingenious yet partially confused metaphor of the rat. "Sir," he said, addressing the Speaker of the Irish House, "I smell a rat. I see him floating in the air; but mark me, I shall yet nip him in the bud."

There was the famous speech which

Mr. Speaker, why we should put ourselves out of the way to serve posterity. What has posterity ever done for us?" He was a little disconcerted by the burst of laughterthat followed, and proceeded to explain | BEST QUALITY, put up and PAINTED at his meaning. "By posterity, sir, I do not mean our ancestors, but those who are to come immediately after them." His invitation to the gentleman on his travels | MINER'S LAMPS, was hospitable and well meant-but equivocal. "I hope, my lord, if ever you come within a mile of my house, you'll stay there all night." He it was who stood for the proper dimensions of the wine-bottle, and proposed to Parliament that it should be made compulsory that "every pint bottle should contain a quart." Very pleasant, and yet perfectly intelligible was his meaning -- though it unhappil took the fatat bovine shape—in his rebuke to the shoemaker when getting shoes for his gouty limbs :- "I told you to make one longer than the other, and instead of that you have made one smaller than the other-the opposite."

A CARD. WITMER'S BRIDGE, Lancaster Tp. July 30, 1860. MESSES. EVANS AND WATSON: GENTLEMES-The small size No. 1 Salamander safe which purchased from your agent, Mr. Adam R. Bar, in Lancaster City, on July 20th, 1855, has been subjected to a very severe test, which it withstood in a most satisfactory manner. This Safe, containing all my hooks together with valuable papers belonging to nyself and some to my neighbors and friends, and represeting a value of over Twenty Thousand Dollars, ($20,000) was in my Mill which was destroyed on the night of the 27th of July, 1860, and passed through the flery ordeal unscathed. The Safe was on the second floor and fell to the basement or the Mill, and was subjected for six hours to an intense heat among the ruins, which was greatly increased by the combustion of a large quantity of grain confined within the brick walls. After the fire the sare was opened and the books and papers taken out in a state of perfect preservation, the paper not even being discol This fact was, however, to many bystanders a better recommendation of your Sa'es than could be expressed in any other words from Yours Respectfully, SAMUEL RANCE. A large assortment of the above 4 ity of Fire and Thief Proof Safes always hand and for sale at as low rates as any other EVANS & WATSON'S. firm, at
