

ODDS & ENDS.

Prof. Agassiz, in the Atlantic Monthly, comes to the conclusion that the continent of North America was at one time covered with ice a mile in thickness. The proof is that the slopes of the Allegheny range of mountains are glacier worn to the very top, except a few points which were above the level of the ice mass. Mount Washington, for instance, is over six thousand feet high, and the rough unpolished surface of its summit, covered with loose fragments, just below the level of which glacier marks come to an end, tells us that it lifted its head above the desolate waste of ice and snow. In this region, then, the thickness of the sheet cannot have been much less than six thousand feet, and this is in keeping with the same kind of evidence in other parts of the country; for, wherever the mountains are much below six thousand feet, the ice seems to have passed directly over them, while the few peaks rising to that height are left untouched. The glacier, he argues, was God's great plow, and when the ice vanished from the face of the land, it left it prepared for the hand of the husbandman. The hard surface of the rocks was ground to powder, the elements of the soil were mingled in fair proportions, granite was carried into the more arid and unproductive granite districts, and a soil was prepared fit for the agricultural uses of man. There are evidences all over the polar regions to show that at one period the heat of the tropics extended all over the globe. The ice period is supposed to be long subsequent to this, and next to the last before the advent of man.

A curious rebel visitor came stealthily into our lines at Petersburg one night during last week. He was invited to remain and partake of a bounteous repast—coffee, pork, and "hard-tack." Consent soon followed the request. While refreshing his inner man, our guards were regaled with many a story, diverted with many quiet drolleries and quaint sayings. There is something strange in these meetings—where those who but the day before cursed each other in the heat of battle, and before early dawn, at the sound of the bugle horn, may slay each other when full of the bread eaten sociably together. This man came by night, not to gain information, but to eat his supper. During the day our pickets had been twitting them with what they had for supper—Soft bread, sour kraut, and potatoes had just been issued. The rebels would not believe this to be a "true bill." Hence this man's visit. No one in imperfect health could resist food with so much gusto. He had brought with him that excellent sauce—of late years grown unfashionable—hunger. After staying his inordinate appetite with a marching ration, he took his departure.

Josh Billings, being duly sworn, deposes as follows: That most men had rather do a smart thing than dew a good one. That backsliding is a big thing, espeshly on ice. That there is 2 things in this life for which we are never fully prepared, and that is twins. That ignorance is bliss, ignorance of sawing wood, for instance. That the virtues of woman are awl her own, but her frailties have bin taught her. That some people are fond of bragging about their ancestors, and their grate descent, when, in fact, their "grate descent" is just what's the matter of them. That a woman kant keep a secret nor let ennybody else keep one.

Charles to the altar led the lovely Jane, and, to her father's house returned again, where, to convey them on their wedding tour; already stood a brilliant each and four, when, lo! the gathering showers at once descended; cloud rolls on cloud, and warring winds contended; this moves him not, but in he hands his bride, and seats himself enraptured, by her side; when thus to cheer the fair one he begun; "I hope we soon shall have a little sun." But she, to whom the weather gave no pain, who heeded not the blast nor pattering rain, but most about her future state betrotht her, said: "My dear, I'd rather have a daughter!"

A CARD.— WITMER'S BRIDGE, Lancaster Tp., July 30, 1860. MESSRS. EVANS AND WATSON: GENTLEMEN— The small size No. 1 Salamander safe which I purchased from your agent, Mr. Adam R. Barr, in Lancaster City, on July 20th, 1858, has been subjected to a very severe test, which it withstood in a most satisfactory manner. This safe, containing all my books together with valuable papers belonging to myself and some to my neighbors and friends, and representing a value of over Twenty Thousand Dollars, ($20,000) was in my Mill which was destroyed on the night of the 27th of July, 1860, and passed through the fiery ordeal unscathed. The safe was on the second floor and fell to the basement of the Mill, and was subjected for six hours to an intense heat among the ruins, which was greatly increased by the combustion of a large quantity of grain confined within the brick walls. After the fire the safe was opened and the books and papers taken out in a state of perfect preservation, the paper not even being discolored. This fact was, however, to many by no means a better recommendation of your safe than could be expressed in any other words from me. Yours Respectfully, [sig] SAMUEL RANCE. A large assortment of the above quality of Fire and Thief Proof Safes always on hand and for sale at as low rates as any other firm, at EVANS & WATSON'S, No. 16 South Fourth st., Philadelphia. 1864. TINWARE! 1864. SHEET-IRON WARE. COPPER WARE. J. & H. HERRINGTON Desire to call the attention of the public to their new TIN SHOP now opened in the large brick building on the corner of Main and Franklin streets opposite the Mansion House and next to the Banking house of Bell, Smith & Co., Johnstown Pa., where they pursue manufacturing all kinds of TIN, SHEET-IRON AND COPPER WARE. Their work will be made by the best workmen and of the best materials. They are determined to sell all kinds of ware at the cheapest rates, wholesale and retail. P. S.—All orders for SPOUTING attended to on the shortest notice and on reasonable terms. Johnstown, December 8, 1859-tf. —Blanks of all kinds printed at this office.
