

ODDS & ENDS.

Josh Billings explaineth drafting, as follows:
Widder wimmin, an their only sur, is xmp, provided the widder's husband has already served 2 years in the war, and is willing to go again; I believe the supreme court has decided this thing forever constitutional.

Once more; If a man should run awa with his draft, he probably wouldn't ever be allowed to stand the draft again; this looks severe at first sight, but the more you look at it, the more you can see the wisdom into it.

Once more; Nempt as those who have been drafted into the stait prizzen for trying to get an honest living, by supportin 2 wives at onst; also, all them people who are craze and unsound on the goose; also all nusepaper correspondents and fools in general.

Once more; No substitute will be aksepted that is less than three, or more than ten feet high, he must not be afraid of the itch nor the rebels, he must know how to chew tobacco and drink por whiskey, moral character aint required, as the government furnishes that and rations.

Conclusively; no person can be drafted but twice in two different places without his consent, but all men has a right to be drafted at least onst, I dont think even a writ of habeas corpus could deprive a man of this last blessed privilege.

Those who visit the sick soldiers and do good in the hospitals, occasionally get a gleam of fun among all the sad scenes, for any wag who has been to the war seldom loses his humor, though he may have lost all else save that and honor. Witness a sketch from life: C—, good soul, after taking all the little comforts he could afford to give to the wounded soldiers, went into the hospitals for the fortieth time the other day, with his mite consisting of several papers of cut chewing tobacco—solace for the wounded as he called it. He came to one bed, where a poor fellow lay cheerfully humming a tune, and studying out faces on the papered wall. "Got a fever?" asked C—. "No," answered the soldier. "Got a cold?" "Yes, cold lead." "Where?" "Well, to tell you the truth, it's pretty well scattered. First, there's a bullet in my right leg—hit the bone—that fell out. And I tell you what, friend, with all this lead in me, I feel, sincerely speaking, a little heavy all over."

The "local" column of the Richmond Examiner furnishes the following facetious item: For the first time in our varied experience, we saw a barrel of flour hauled up Governor atreet in a hearse! The public stared, but the driver drove on. When we came to recollect that flour was five and six hundred dollars per barrel, and that the struggle for bread was one of life and death, we better appreciated the connection between the hearse and the barrel of flour.

A little urchin, begging in the city the other day, was asked by a lady who had filled his basket, if his parents were living.

"Only dad, marm," said the boy. "Then you have enough in your basket now to feed the family for some time," said the lady.

"Oh, no, I haven't neither," said the lad, "for dad and me keeps boarders; he does the housework and I does the marketin."

"Going, going, just a going!" was cried out by an auctioneer. "Where are you going?" asked a passer by.

"Well," replied the knight of the hammer, "I am going up to the Zoological Gardens, to tell the managers that one of their baboons is loose."

A Providence newsboy the other day was yelling out: "Washington 'tired 'round!" "What," said a gentleman, "is Washington surrounded by?" "Forts," answered the youth, as he dashed away.

A crusty old bachelor says, that Adam's wife was called Eve, because when she appeared, man's day of happiness was drawing to a close.

The Chinese picture of ambition is a mandarin trying to catch a comet by putting salt on its tail.
