

ODDS & ENDS.

THE CURIOUSITIES OF INSANITY.—A man was arrested yesterday in an old rebel uniform, wandering about the streets.—He was taken to the Reserve Corps room, at Fifth and Chestnut, where the idea that he was a rebel was quickly dispelled by the discovery that he was insane.

"What's your name?" inquired the officer. "Almighty," was the reply. "That is a queer name. What is your first name?" "God."

"You have some other name, haven't you?" "I have a thousand names here, but I am God Almighty. I am a rebel general. I went into fifteen battles. Oh, I was not impressed. I own that I've fought against this country with good will all the time."

At this juncture the man was recognized as an inmate of the insane department of the Almshouse, who had escaped the day before. How he came to procure the tattered uniform of a rebel is something for which it is hard to account.—He looked weary and hungry. He was asked,

"Would you like to have some dinner?" "No," was the reply. "I don't eat. I haven't eaten anything for fifteen thousand years."

The wanderer was told that he would be sent back to the Almshouse. "You'd better not do that," said he, with menacing look. "There was an accident there the other day. That was the work of my vengeance. If you send me there again, I'll open the heavens and thunder down the whole buildings. So beware!"

They locked him up, and last night conveyed him to his old quarters. This form of insanity is by no means uncommon. Some months ago there were four persons at the same time in the Almshouse who fancied themselves the Supreme Being, and two women who claimed to be the Virgin Mary. What is also singular is that these several aspirants for divine power quarreled with each other when in juxtaposition, and ultimately their separation became necessary. The subject of this writing is a new comer at the institution.—North American.

The Cincinnati Gazette of Saturday last says that a book publisher of that city the day previous received a business letter from Clearfield county, Pennsylvania, which contained this information: "The people here are all crazy about the coming draft. They have already been holding meetings to prepare to resist it.—Some of them are spending the last cent to procure firearms. Ex-Governor Bigler is at the head of it. I hope it will be long before he receives what he justly deserves." In other localities we hear of similar preparations, and the Government should be fully prepared to attend to these gentlemen when the time arrives.

An Irishman was once brought before a magistrate charged with marrying six wives.

The magistrate asked him how he could be so hardened a villain. "Please yer honor, I was trying to get a good 'un."

"I say," said a dandy to an intelligent mechanic, "I have got an idea in my head."

"Well," replied the other, "cherish it with great care, or it will die for the want of companions."

The necromancers swept the magic circle in times of old; but there is none so beautiful, none with charm so potent, as the circle of light and of love around the old-fashioned fire!

He who in this world resolves to speak only the truth, will speak only what is too good for the mass of mankind to understand, and will be persecuted accordingly.

The best cough drops for young ladies—wear thick shoes, dress all over, and stop lacing.

Most of the shadows that cross our path through life are caused by our standing in our own light.
