

ODDS & ENDS.

A gallant officer in a regiment raised not a hundred miles away, who never quailed under the fire of rebel bullets, fell an easy victim to a pair of bright eyes, whose owner wore an apron bearing the emblem of our country's flag, and who was waiting on "the boys" at a festival. The Colonel wishing to make the acquaintance of the lady, remarked: "That is a pretty apron you wear, miss." "Yes," said the maiden; "this is my flag." "I have fought many a hard battle under that flag," rejoined the colonel. "Not under this flag, sir," indignantly exclaimed the beauty, as she swept away, leaving the gallant son of Mars perfectly dumbfounded.

A high private of extraordinary dimensions lumbered into the presence of General Thomas and asked for a furlough, adding, "General, I wish to go home and see my wife." "How long is it since you have seen your wife?" inquired the General. "Why," he answered, "I haven't seen my wife for over three months." "Three months!" remarked Gen. Thomas, "why, I haven't seen my wife for three years." "Well, that may be," rejoined the other, "but you see, General, me and my wife ain't o' that sort." Of course the high private got his furlough alter that rub.

Said the second wife of the witty Judge S, in a reproachful way, as the horse was drawing them up the hill, "My father always walks up all the hills." "So did my first wife," was the reply. "There," said Mrs. S, giving him some trifle, "that is in return for your abuse." "Yes," said he, "you are like the sandal tree, that sheds its sweetness on the axe that cuts it down." "Then you intend to kill me, do you? When do you mean to do it?" "Not till you are good; I think you can't have a better security for your life."

Not long since one of the field officers of the 1st Blankton Volunteers rode up to the head-quarters, his horse reeking with foam from hard riding, dismounted, and gave the reins to Giles, saying, "feed him." "Is he not too warm to feed now?" inquired Giles. "No, you may feed him with impunity." "Impunity? Quartermaster Jones has furnished the usual amount of forage, but nary pound of impunity!"

Magistrate—"What brought you here sir?" Prisoner—"Two officers please your honor!" Magistrate—"Then I suppose liquor had something to do with it?" Prisoner—"Yes sir, they were both drunk."

England is now getting her supply cotton principally from the new fields sown in various parts of the world. The prices, however, are yet enormously high. Within a year or two after the settlement of our present troubles, we predict that cotton will be lower in the market than ever.

A Dampor.—At a recent railroad dinner, in compliment to the legal fraternity, the toast was given:—"An honest lawyer, the noblest work of God." But an old farmer in the back part of the hall rather spoiled the effect by adding in a loud voice, "And about the scarecrows!"

The Poughkeepsie Press says:—Quite a rosy-looking girl from the country actually went into a cooper shop in this city, and innocently asked one of the workmen what he charged for hooping frocks!

A minister took for his text—"the flesh, the world, and the devil," and informed his astonished audience that he should "dwell briefly on the flesh, pass rapidly over the world, and hasten as fast as he could to the devil!"

Why do hens always lay in the day-time? Because at night they all become roosters.

What is humberg? When your wife says she loves you, but don't sew the buttons on your shirt.
