ETCHINGS.—The Johnstown Tribune last week made its appearance enlarged and improved. It now contains seven columns to a page, each column considerably longer than before. It is one of the largest papers outside the cities, and, seeing that Messrs. Swank and Elder are its editors, we are confident it will be one of the best. Success to it!...

YOURS, TRULY.—We have received a letter from a particular friend, of which the following is an extract:

OIL CITY, Oct. 6, 1864. Dear Alleghanian:—I don't see knives mentioned in your "benefit" bill, but thinking that perhaps one of Wostenholms' best would prove not altogether unacceptable, take occasion to "celebrate the anniversary of the 'birth' of The Alleghanian," the sixth, by making the tender of one, and send it with the hope that The Alleg. may continue to live on past a thousand years—and still live on!

Thank you! thank you! We were just out of a knife when this was received, and didn't exactly know where and how to get another. Which renders the gift doubly valuable. The failure to mention pocket cutlery in the catalogue of things by us receivable as a "benefit" was a clear oversight on our part, and does not prevent us from being glad at the omission being thus practically brought to our notice. We would here say, that any of our "numerous friends" desiring to press a souvenir or gift upon our consideration are not obliged to confine themselves to the list of articles enumerated by us. On the contrary, they are at liberty and are hereby requested to patronize a list of their own, and make their own selections. Again, thank you, kind friend!—thank you for both the knife and the good wishes. You are one of nature's own noblemen, and we are—yours, truly.

A SQUAD OF CAMBRIA COUNTY MEN CAPTURED.—On the 3d inst., a skirmish took place between a battalion of the 204th regiment P. V. and Moseby's command, near Manassas Junction, Va., wherein Lieut. Hay and thirty-three privates (all Cambria county men) of Co. D, were captured. Co. D had been detailed as skirmishers, when Moseby's cavalry made a sudden and unexpected charge upon them, and gobbled them up. The following are the casualties and missing in the company:

Wounded—Lieut. David Hutzen in thigh; Corporal Joseph Hutzen, right shoulder. Missing—First Lieut. John B. Hay, Sergeant Geo. Fleming, Sergeant Joseph Luther, Corporal Peter Beemish, Corporal John Luther, Corporal John Heckman, Michael Berry, Leonard Boyer, Sylvester Crum, Christian Dorris, Conrad Eichensayer, Geo. Fisher, Henry Forber, John Forsyth, Levi Horner, Henry Hartman, Reuben Hoffman, Thom. J. Hughes, Adam Kemry, Samuel Kern, John Lewis, William Luther, Anthony Miller, Wm. Morry, Ferd. Newkirk, Ed. Page, John Peterson, Luke Rattigan, C. S. Roshon, John Smith, George Wier, Wm. Young.

FROM JOHNSTOWN. THE ELECTION—RESISTANCE TO THE DRAFT IN RICHLAND TP.—ONE MAN SHOT—MILITARY—MR. GEORGE D. BERLIN HIMSELF AGAIN. Correspondence of The Alleghanian.

JOHNSTOWN, October 17, 1864. The election passed off remarkably quietly here. The vote falls short of that polled at the Governor's election. In the 5th ward and Millville boro. there is an opposition gain, while in Conemaugh and Cambria boros. they fall behind considerably. Barker leads his ticket in four wards Johnstown and in the first ward Conemaugh. The largest vote polled is for Engelbach.

On Monday night last, a squad of the cavalry stationed here proceeded to Richland township to arrest deserters. A family named Fox, two of whom had been drafted and failed to report, attempted to resist the squad, and at least one shot was fired from their house at the soldiers. The fire was returned, and John Fox, who is thought to be the one who first shot, was struck in the back by a bullet, which penetrated the lung, inflicting a mortal wound. The father and two sons, a man named Baumgardner, who has been drafted three times, a man named Kroft, and another named Horner were all subsequently arrested and brought to the military camp in this place. Horner was subsequently released, as it was found he had never been notified of the fact that he had been drafted. The others were sent to Provost Marshal headquarters on Wednesday. The wound of John Fox, who was not removed from home, must prove fatal.

Mr. John Ryan, a worthy citizen of Cambria boro., was also arrested on Monday, but upon producing proof that he had reported and had been exempted, he was promptly released. A number of Capt. Bonacker's company, 54th P. V., arrived home here last week, their term of service having expired. These boys have seen some pretty active service latterly. They are all loud in praise of their gallant Colonel, John P. Linton, who is expected home the present week.

By a letter from City Point, Va., I learn that the 21st Pa. Cav. are now in camp near that place, and that they will be remounted as soon as they can be supplied with horses. This regiment has been through several severe actions in front of Petersburg, and mourns the loss of many of its members, among whom are some brave Johnstown boys. Standing at the depot one day last week, I was agreeably surprised to see Mr. George D. Berlin, agent to recruit negroes in the revolted States, step off the train. It was currently reported and generally believed a few weeks ago that the guerillas in Georgia had gobbled him up, and in accordance with their usual custom, had strung him up to the nearest tree. But it appears the story was a canard, and I am glad of it.

HOME-MADE TAR.—It may not be known to some of our readers at a distance, nor even to many at home, that a good quality of tar is manufactured in the mountains of Cambria, Somerset and adjoining counties out of the knots of the pitch pine. Such is the fact. The manufacture of this substitute for North Carolina tar is carried on quite extensively, and has already considerably depreciated the price of the latter article. We believe it answers nearly all the purposes of the original. So says the Johnstown Tribune.

OVER!—The election is now over, and we feel safe in saying that fully one-half the candidates are also over—the left!—Summer is over, and the season of balmy zephyrs. The rebellion is the next thing to over. Speaking of the rebellion reminds us that incontrovertible testimony proves that the rebels are illy clad. If they only lived here, they might easily remedy this misfortune by going to J. M. Thompson's cheap store, Ebensburg, and buying themselves each a suit of winter clothing.

OCTOBER.—It is October. In the ripened field A goodly harvest waits the farmer's hand; In gen'rous showers the stately orchards yield Their mellow fruits, and over all the land A bounteous Providence has scattered good. O, richest month of all the changing year! Thou comest not with penitential tear, But steps of ling'ring flame and hand of blood. Thy breath has touched the woods, and day by day The grand old trees take fire, and burn away; In showers, like sifted gold, their yellow leaves Fall on the reapers as they bind the sheaves; But thy soft gales cold wintry winds bring, And in thy glory something breathes decay.

—Frank K. Herlinger, of this county, now a soldier for the Union and stationed at Camp Curtin, called to see us last week. He was looking well as usual. —Coolish; the weather, latterly.

FROM OUR SOLDIERS. LETTER FROM CO. C, 209TH P. V.—PLEASANT WEATHER—WHAT THEY ARE DOING—A MAIL AT LAST—ALL WELL—MUSTER ROLL OF COMPANY. Correspondence of The Alleghanian.

BERMUDA HUNDRED, Oct. 10. One-third of October is gone, the time of the "sere and yellow leaf" is here, and yet the sun sends his rays with a heat that is far from comfortable to those who have been fanned the summer long by the cool breezes of the Alleghanies. While with you the Frost King has begun to nip, and earth is disrobing herself of her green, with us the flies still gather in swarms, the grasshopper jumps from beneath the foot at every step, and the musketo bites with a frequency and a keenness that are far from comfortable. Nature would still triumph in her summer glory had not the necessity of war disrobed the earth of her beauty, and left the beautiful places desolated.

Our object here is to hold a portion of the line of fortifications extending from the James on the right to the Appomattox on the left. Our principal duty is that of picketing. On the picket line is no firing, though the posts are within easy hailing distance. On Wednesday, the 3d instant, we received the first mail had since our departure from Harrisburg. Since then it has come regularly. The health of the company is good.—But two were reported this morning to the Surgeons, and only one each day for several days past. None of the company either are or have been dangerously ill since we left Ebensburg.

The muster-roll of the company is as follows: Captain: Robert Litzinger. Lieutenants: 1st Samuel W. Davis. Sergeants: 1st Samuel Singleton. 2d Alex Jones. 3d Elbridge Stiles. Corporals: 1st Flory H. Barker. 2d Thos. J. Evans. 3d Richd. W. Pryce. 4th Wm. H. Davis. Privates: Chrstr. C. Adams, Jonathan Jones, M'Ginley J. Adams, John A. Jones, Reuben Brown, Evan S. Jones, Thos. W. Brookbank, William A. Jones, Thos. Bumford, William W. Jones,* James C. Burnett, Daniel T. James, Hartman Berg, David J. James, Wm. Clement, William M. James, Wm. H. Clark,* Thomas Jervis, Rodney Charles, John Kelley,* Terrence Delozier, Jackson Lamberson, H. W. Delozier, G. W. Lamberson, John Duffey, Richard D. Lane,* John E. Davis, Alex. Leslie, Joshua J. Davis, James Lee,* Francis Murray,* Thos. B. Davis, John Morgan, Thos. D. Davis, Wm. H. Montague, Jack Davis, James Myers, Henry Darr, James Myers, John Darby, David O'Brien,* Uriah Emigh, David Powell, Jr., Hugh H. Evans, John Rager, Evan C. Evans, John Schwauster,* Thos. E. Evans, Peter Earhart, George Smith,* James Farley,* Gordou Sinclair,* Edward Francis, Wallace S. Stiles, Jacob Fulmer, Wm. Stonebraker, Richard Griffith, Adam Shinafelt, John Gittings, Thos. R. Williams, Ed. W. Humphreys, Peter Wagner, Henry Houz, Thos. R. Jones, Robert A. Jones, James Yinger.

Truly, GAMMA. QUERIES.—Do the opposition of Ebensburg intend having a bonfire and torch-light procession over their late "victory" at the polls? If so, who will pay for the tar and oil? Will they bet, and how much, that M'Clellan will carry the State by "50,000 majority"? Did they, or did they not, mean "Good boy, Barker!" when they said "Good bye, Barker"? Are they still able to exclaim—"Thank God! our country is saved!" How are you, Ex-tray!
