One of our exchanges makes an excellent comparison between Gen. M'-Clellan and Jack Bunsby. "Little Mac" declares for war and the Union, and then tells the Chicago peace party that they must have meant the same thing when they voted the war a failure and swore to an armistice. Jack Bunsby's position is equally clear :

'My name's Jack Bunsby. And what I says I stand to. Whereby, why not? If so, what odds? Can any man say otherwise? No. Awast, then! Do I believe this here son and heir's gone down, lads? Mayhap. Do I say so? which? If a skipper sends out by Sen' George's channel, making for the Dows, what's right ahead of him? The Goodwins .-He isn't forced to run upon the Goodwins, but may. The bearings of this observation lays in the application of it. That ain't no part of my duty. Awast. then, keep a bright look-out for ard, and good luck to you."

A Union torehlight procession took place in Washington on Friday eve. The parade went to the White House, and called upon the President to make a speech. The President spoke as follows: "Fellow-citizens-I was promised not to be called upon for a speech to night, nor do I propose to make one; but we have been having some very good news for a day or two, so I propose that you give three hearty cheers for Sheridan. While we are at it, we may as well consider how fortunate it was for the secesh that Sheridan was a little man. If he had been a large man, there is no telling what he would have done with them. I propose three cheers for General Grant, who knew to what use to put General Sheridanthree cheers for all our noble commanders. and the soldiers and sailors-three cheers tor all the people, everywhere, who cheer the soldiers and sailors of the Union .-And now, good night."

King Charles II. on a certain time paying a visit to Dr. Busby, the doctor strutted through his school with his hat on his head, while his majesty walked complacently behind him, with his own hat under his arm; but when he was taking | street. his leave at the door, the doctor with great humility thus addressed the king: "I hope your majesty will excuse my want of re- east of Thompson's Hotel. spect hitherto; but if my boys were to imagine there was a greater man in the kingdom than myself, I should never be able to rule them?

A great political meeting in Springfield, I'linois, was gladdened and amused by a banner borne by two wounded soldiers, representing a globe, which Lincoln was prying up with a rail, while Andy Johnson was seated crosslegged upon the North American part of it, tailor-fashion, sewing up a huge reut. Old Abe says to him, "A few more stitches, Andy, and the dear old Union will be mended!"

"Sergeant, you have come home, I suppose, to vote the Democratic ticket," said a merchant in New Redford to a veteran who entered his store.

"I have been shooting Democrats for three years," said the soldier, "and I am not in the habit of voting for the game I kill."

CARD. WITMER'S BRIDGE, Lancaster Tp. July 30, 1860. MESSRS, EVANS AND WATSON: GENTLEMEN-The small size No. 1 Salamander safe which I jurchased from your agent, Mr. Adam R. Ba r, in Lancaster City, on July 20th, 1858, has been subjected to a very severe test, which it withstood in a most satisfactory manner. This Safe, containing all my books together with valuable papers belonging to myself and some to my neignbors and friends and represeting a value of over Twenty Thousand Dollars, ($20,000) was in my Mill which was destroyed on the night of the 27th of July, 1860 and passed through the fiery ordeal unscathed. The Safe was on the second floor and fell to the basement of the Mill, and was subjected for six hours to an intense heat among the ruins, which was greatly increased by the combustion of a large quantity of grain confined within the brick walls. After the fire the safe was opened and the books and papers taken out in a state of perfect preservation, the paper not even being discolored This fact was, however, to many bystanders a better recommendation of your Safes than could be expressed in any other words from Yours Respectfully, SAMUEL RANCK. A large assortment of the above qualty of Fire and Thief Proof Safes always on hand and for sale at as low rates as any other
