CHAT WITH OUR READERS.

In two weeks from to-day comes Thanksgiving Day. Those of our readers who have not heretofore seen them are referred to this outside for the proclamations of the President of the Nation and the Governor of the Commonwealth recommending due observance of the occasion.

That, upon their deliberately expressed vote, the People stand by the Union of our fathers:

That the Peace-Compromise-Surrender handful of the North have been rebuked and confounded:

That the platform which brands the War for the Union as a "useless waste of blood and treasure" has been repudiated:

That the question whether or not we have a Government has been decided in the affirmative:

That it has been determined that Government must be perpetuated, despite treason and traitors:

That America will continue to be the abiding-place of Liberty:

That Peace, although sweet, is not preferred above our National honor and good name:

That, in short, the cause of Right and Justice has triumphed over that of Wrong and Oppression.

Truly, we have been highly favored of God. He has taken us, as a nation and as individuals, in the hollow of His hand, and has suffered no evil to come nigh us, but good continually.

This leads us to remark that, notwithstanding the near approach of Thanksgiving, our poultry-coop is as yet untenanted by a single representative of the genus turkey.

June without blossoms, and Horace Greeley without his old white hat, and a barrel of whisky without broken heads, and the Democratic party without corruption are within the range of possibility, but Thanksgiving without turkey is an impossibility.

The mere idea of such a contingency is absurd, and not for a moment to be seriously tolerated.

Therefore, if anybody has a turkey he wishes to give away, or a turkey he feels desirous of selling cheaply—but especially the former—he is requested to "give us a call."

Snow—more snow! Nothing but snow, and rain, and cold, disagreeable weather, the past month. Thou'rt bearing hence thy roses, sweet summer—fare thee well!

Soon we will have naught but the rustle of the holly and the myrtle and the solemn old pine to remind us of a season which was an uninterrupted round of pleasure and delight.

By the way, what has become of Indian Summer? Contrary to a well established custom, is that balmy, breezy season going to give us the go-by this year?

The fruits of the field are all gathered in; the gold-and-crimson foliage of the forest has gone whistling down the gale; and the face of nature is desolate and drear; yet Indian Summer comes not. If this is to be—if we are not going to have our usual supply of Indian Summer, wherewith to savor the insipidity of early winter—then indeed is this the season of our discontent.

For in Indian Summer is condensed the essence of all the glories and delights and all the piquancy of that blissful term (brief enough here on The Mountain) when birds warble, brooks purr, and boys run bare-foot, and we love it even as a Dutchman loves his meerschau.

THE ELECTION passed off quietly here. It was admittedly a "fair election," so the opposition were debarred the opportunity of inaugurating that "free fight" they have talked so much about lately.

SOME MORE COPPERHEAD ARGUMENT.

Last week we printed in these columns an anonymous letter, mailed at Carrolltown, Cambria county, and addressed to Dr. G. W. Strobecker, of Chess Springs, wherein the intention of some miscreant or miscreants to "wipe out" the provost guard stationed in the county, to murder Dr. S., and to destroy his property, was deliberately avowed.

Mr. E. C. McMullen—Sir: Take warning in time, for your time has come that if you do not mend your ways, that you will be sent to hell a kiting, as you have been acting the damned scoundrel long enough, and the people will not stand it any longer.

From the fact that he received the following additional note of intimidation only a few days since, it would seem that Mr. M.'s must have failed to "mend his ways" according to demand:

Mr. ENOS McMULLIN: I as a friend do hereby notify you that a sworn mob are about and will burn your whole establishment if you are seen any place north of the Roseinstal apple-thief establishment, for I suppose that you and him are in league with the devil.

Comment is superfluous. What do the respectable portion of the Democratic party of the county think of that other portion that write these anonymous letters of blood and threatenings?

ERCHINGS.—Sergt. George W. Brown, of Co. A, 11th Pa. Reserves, who was wounded in one of the Wilderness battles, in May last, and has been in an inmate of a hospital ever since, has received an honorable discharge from the service, and is now at home.

It seems that there are already no fewer than eleven deserters from Capt. Litzinger's company of one year's men, recruited in Ebensburg a few weeks ago.

For the enlightenment of our beloved friend of the Democrat, we would state that of these eleven deserters, none are from Ebensburg, and only one, we believe, from the county.

On Thursday of the past week, the same day as that on which the movements on our flanks took place, we were formed on the right of our line for the purpose of assaulting or supporting an assault on the rebel position, in order to learn the force stationed opposite us.

Next Tuesday will be election day, and let me give your readers the assurance that on that day Co. C will give the Union electors at least fifty-five votes.

To-day, we were mustered for pay, and of the seventy-two enlisted in the company, all but three were reported for duty.

Of these three, two are sick in hospital, and one in quarters, and not one dangerously. But one death has up to this time occurred in the regiment.

DIED: At her residence, Hemlock, Cambria county, 19th ult., Mrs. ELIZABETH PORTER, aged 44 years.

LETTER FROM CO. C, 200TH P. V.—A DEARTH OF NEWS—HEALTH OF THE BOYS—CORRECTION OF MUSTER-ROLL.

BERMUDA HUNDRED, Oct. 26, '64. Correspondence of The Alleghanian.

I again put my pen to paper for the edification of your readers, though under protest that there is an absolute dearth of news of any kind whatsoever wherewith to interest seekers after "something to read."

The health of the regiment is extraordinarily good. Not a single death has yet occurred. In some of the companies, a good many are sick with the chills and fever.

In the muster-roll published in a late number of your paper, there is a failure to mark James Yinger, of Cambria county, a deserter.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM CO. C, 200TH P. V.—A MOVEMENT, AND ALL SORTS OF RUMORS—AN ASSAULT WHICH DIDN'T COME OFF, &c., &c.

BERMUDA HUNDRED, Oct. 31, '64. Correspondence of The Alleghanian.

Since my last, movements have taken place in this department of which you have been fully advised.

Butler has secured a position within two miles of Richmond, and at another, he has been driven four miles to the rear of his old one, and suffered the loss of the whole of the 10th corps as prisoners.

Grant has captured six miles of the south side railroad, and anon has been repulsed with a loss of ten thousand prisoners.

Were it not that Butler's previous movement, though successful, was followed by the same scarcity of information and rumors of defeat, one would be forced to conclude that the present indications were signs only of evil.

On Thursday of the past week, the same day as that on which the movements on our flanks took place, we were formed on the right of our line for the purpose of assaulting or supporting an assault on the rebel position, in order to learn the force stationed opposite us.

Next Tuesday will be election day, and let me give your readers the assurance that on that day Co. C will give the Union electors at least fifty-five votes.

To-day, we were mustered for pay, and of the seventy-two enlisted in the company, all but three were reported for duty.

Of these three, two are sick in hospital, and one in quarters, and not one dangerously. But one death has up to this time occurred in the regiment.

DIED: At her residence, Hemlock, Cambria county, 19th ult., Mrs. ELIZABETH PORTER, aged 44 years.
