

ODDS & ENDS.

The Indianapolis Journal is responsible for the following: We witnessed an amusing scene on one of our suburban streets the other day. A fashionable young lady, got up in the highest style of the milliner's art, and arrayed in all the glory of a five-dollar-a-yard silk, twenty dollar bonnet, and three hundred dollar shawl, was majestically sweeping along in the direction of the Fair Ground, while just behind a little boy was leading a pet coon. A countryman, in a brown slouch, ed hat and a linsy-woolsey wamus, came along, followed by a "yallah" dog, whose nose was scented diagonally, transversely, and laterally with the proofs of many a fiercely contested battle with members of the rascalon family. "Tige" no sooner saw the ring-tailed representative of his ancient enemy than he made a frantic dive for him, accompanying the operation by a furious bark. Cooney apprehended the situation at a glance, bolted uncontrollably, and sought sanctuary beneath the ample circumference of the lady's crinoline. The young lady screamed, while the dog made rapid circles, snuffing the air, and evidently bewildered to know what had become of the coon. The situation of the young lady was critical and embarrassing. She was afraid to move lest the coon would bite, and the coon declined to leave his retreat until the dog had retired. Finally the dog was stoned off, the boy dragged the coon from his hiding-place, and the young lady went her way, with a lively consciousness of having experienced a new sensation. As for the coon, he was instantly killed. He had seen too much to live.

A writer in the Mechanic's Magazine, who says he has had three pairs of boots last him six years, and thinks that he will not require any more for six years to come, tells how he treats them: "I put a pound each of tallow and resin in a pot on the fire; when melted and mixed, apply it hot to the boots with a gainter's brush, until neither the sole nor upper leather will soak any more. If it is desirous that the boots should take an immediate polish, dissolve an ounce of wax in a teaspoonful of turpentine and lampblack. A day or two after the boots are treated with the resin and tallow, rub over them this wax and turpentine, but not before the fire. Thus the exterior will have a coat of wax alone, and shine like a mirror. Tallow and grease become rancid, and rot the stitching of the leather; but the resin gives it an antiseptic quality which preserves the whole."

Ink spots are easily removed by dissolving oxalic acid in water, and applying the solution. The spot must be washed off with clean water as soon as the ink disappears, or the acid will destroy the fabric.

Grease spots are removed by applying benzine, coal oil, turpentine, or any essential oil.

The piece of goods must be exposed to the sun, hung up to the stove, or, better still, a piece of brown paper laid on the spot, and a hot flat iron put on until the essential oil is evaporated, and with it the grease spot.

Acid spots are removed by applying an alkali, such as aqua ammonia (spirits of hartshorn), potash, lye, &c. The acid will disappear at once, and the original color be restored.

Theodore Tilton, the able and accomplished editor of the New York Independent, in a recent lecture, related the following amusing anecdote about Wendell Phillips: "This distinguished orator was riding in a railroad car, when he was addressed by a man of such rotundity that he seemed to carry everything before him. This man asked Mr. Phillips what was the object of his life. 'To benefit the negro,' was the bland reply. 'Well, then, why don't you go down South to see it?' 'That is worth thinking of. I do a white cravat round your neck; pray, what is the object of your life?' 'To save souls from hell.' 'May I ask you if you propose to go there to do it?'"

The commandant of Libby Prison has issued a stringent order that Union prisoners there must limit their letters North to six lines. The following is a specimen:

"Dear Wife—Yours received—no hope of exchange—send corn starch—want socks—no money—rheumatism in left shoulder—pickles very good—send sausages—God bless you—kiss the baby—Your Devoted Husband."

A CARD.—WITMER'S BRIDGE, Lancaster Tp. July 30, 1860.

MESSES. EVANS AND WATSON: GENTLEMEN—The small size No. 1 Salamander safe which I purchased from your agent, Mr. Adam E. Baer, in Lancaster City, on July 20th, 1859, has been subjected to a very severe test, which it withstood in a most satisfactory manner. This safe, containing all my books together with valuable papers belonging to myself and some to my neighbors and friends, and representing a value of over Twenty Thousand Dollars, ($20,000) was in my Mill which was destroyed on the night of the 27th of July, 1860, and passed through the fiery ordeal unscathed. The safe was on the second floor and fell to the basement of the Mill, and was subjected for six hours to an intense heat among the ruins, which was greatly increased by the combustion of a large quantity of grain confined within the brick walls. After the fire the safe was opened and the books and papers taken out in a state of perfect preservation, the paper not even being discolored. This fact was, however, to many bystanders a better recommendation of your safe than could be expressed in any other words from me. Yours Respectfully, SAMUEL RANCK.

A large assortment of the above quality of Fire and Thief Proof Safes always on hand and for sale at as low rates as any other firm, at EVANS & WATSON'S, No. 16 South Fourth st., Philadelphia.
