

WASTE AND WANT.—Mrs. Haskell, in her "Household Encyclopedia," enumerates a long list of small household leaks, which we commend to the careful attention of every housekeeper:

Much waste is experienced in the boiling, etc., of meats. Unless watched the cook will throw out the water without letting it cool to take off the fat, or scrape the dripping-pan into the swill-pail. The grease is useful in many ways. It can be burned in lamps, mixed with lard; or when no pork has been boiled with it, made into candles. When pork has been boiled alone, it will do to fry cakes, it cleansed. Again, bits of meat are thrown out, which would make hashed meat or hash. The flour is sifted in a wasteful manner, or the bread-pan left with the dough sticking to it. Pie-crust is left, and laid by to sour, instead of making a few tarts for tea. Cake batter is thrown out because but little left.

Cold puddings are considered good for nothing, when oftentimes they can be steamed for the next day, or, as in the case of rice, made over in other forms.—Vegetables are thrown away that would warm for breakfast nicely. Dish-cloths are thrown where mice can destroy them. Soap is left in water to dissolve, or more used than is necessary. If bath brick, whitening, rotten-stone, &c., are used, much is wasted uselessly. The scrub-brush is left in water, pails scorched by the stove, tubs and barrels left in the sun to dry and fall apart, chamber-pails allowed to rust, tins not dried, and ironware rusted; nice knives used for cooking in the kitchen; silver spoons used to scrape kettles, or forks to toast bread. Rinsing of sweetmeats, and skimmings of syrup, which make good vinegar, are thrown out; cream is allowed to mould and spoil; mustard to dry in the pot, and vinegar to corrode the castor; tea, roasted coffee, pepper, and spices, to stand open and lose their strength.

The molasses jug loses its cork and the flies take possession. Sweetmeats are opened and forgotten. Vinegar is drawn in a basin and allowed to stand until both basin and vinegar are spoiled. Sugar is spilled from the barrel, coffee from the sack and tea from the chest. Different sauces are made too sweet, and both sauce and sugar wasted. Dried fruits have not been taken care of in season, and become wormy. The vinegar on pickles loses its strength or leaks out, and the pickles become soft. Potatoes in the cellar grow, and the sprouts are not removed until they become worthless. Apples decay for want of looking over. Pork spoils for want of salt, and the beef because the brine wants scalding. Hams become tainted or filled with vermin, for want of the right protection. Dried beef becomes so hard it cannot be cut; cheese molds, and it is eaten by mice or vermin; lard is not well tried in the fall, and becomes tainted; butter spoils for want of being well made at first.

Bones are burned that would make soap; ashes are thrown out carelessly, endangering the premises and being wasted. Servants leave a light burning when they are all out of an evening. Clothes are whipped to pieces in the wind, fine cambrics rubbed on the board, and laces torn in starching. Brooms are never hung up, and good ones are spoiled. Carpets are swept with stubs hardly fit to scrub the kitchen, and good new brooms used for scrubbing. Towels are used in place of holders, and good sheets to iron on, taking a fresh one every week, thus scorching nearly all in the house. Fluid, if used, is left uncorked, endangering the house and wasting the alcohol. Caps are left from lamps, rendering the fluid worthless by evaporation. Table-linen is thrown carelessly down and eaten by mice, or put away damp and is mildewed, or the fruit stains are forgotten and the stains washed in.

Table-cloths and napkins are used as dish-wipers; mats forgotten to be put under hot dishes; teapots melted by the stove; water forgotten in pitchers and allowed to freeze in winter; slops for cows and pigs never saved; china used to feed cats and dogs on; and in many other ways a careless and inexperienced housekeeper will waste, without heeding, the hard-earned wages of her husband; when she really thinks—because she buys no fine clothes, makes the old ones last, and cooks plainly—she is a most superior housekeeper. The next time an unthinking husband is disposed to be severe because some trifling matter has been neglected, he should "put that in his pipe and smoke it."

A CARD.— WITMER'S BRIDGE.
Lancaster Tp. July 30, 1860.
Messrs. EVANS and WATSON: GENTLEMEN—The small size No. 1 Salamander safe which I purchased from your agent, Mr. Adam R.
Bart, in Lancaster City, on July 20th, 1858, has been subjected to a very severe test, which it withstood in a most satisfactory manner. This safe, containing all my books and papers, and some valuable papers belonging to myself and some to my neighbors and friends and representing a value of over Twenty Thousand Dollars, ($20,000) was in my Mill which was destroyed on the night of the 27th of February, 1860, and passed through the fiery ordeal unscathed. The safe was on the second floor and fell to the basement of the Mill, and was subjected for six hours to an intense heat among the ruins, which was greatly increased by the combustion of a large quantity of grain confined within the brick walls. After the fire the safe was opened and the books and papers taken out in a state of perfect preservation, the paper not even being discolored.
This fact was, however, to many bystanders a better recommendation of your Safes than could be expressed in any other words from me.
Yours Respectfully,
SAMUEL RANCK.

ity of Fire and Thief Proof Safes always
