

A PRACTICAL JOKE.—In Berks county says an exchange, one of the political parties had, for twenty years, been in the habit of holding their nominating conventions at the house of Mr. G.—

He happened, on a recent occasion, for the first time to be in when they had finished their business, and heard a little delegate move "that this convention adjourn sine die."

"Sine die!" said Mr. G.—to a person standing near, "where's that?"

"Why that's way in the northern part of the county," said his neighbor.

"Hold on, if you please, Mr. Cheerman," said the landlord, with a great emphasis and earnestness, "hold on, sir, I'd like to be heard on that question. I have kept a public house now for more'n twenty years. I'm a poor man. I've always belonged to the party and never split in my life. This is the most central location in the county, and its where we've all met. I've never had nor asked an office, and have worked night and day for the party, and now I think, sir, it is contemptible to go adjourning this convention way up to sine die!"

AN APT REPLY.—Sheridan once succeeded admirably in entrapping a noisy member who was in the habit of interrupting every speaker with cries of "hear, hear." Richard Brinsley took opportunity to allude to a well known political character of the time, whom he represented as a person who wished to play the rogue, but had only sense enough to play the fool. "Where," exclaimed Sheridan in continuation and with great emphasis, "where shall we find a more foolish knave or a more knavish fool than this?" "Hear, hear!" was instantly bellowed from the accustomed bench. The wicked wit bowed, thanked the gentleman for his ready reply to the question, and sat down amid convulsions of laughter from all but their unfortunate subject.

WAR MACHINES.—Passing through a portion of Maryland, some time since, the late elephant Hannibal with his keeper (where an elephant had never been seen) caused great astonishment and sometimes consternation. One ancient female contraband, on suddenly encountering the huge beast, started back in amazement, and after a woman's examination of the "critter" threw up her hands, exclaiming with the utmost gravity: "Gracious goodness, what things dey do get up for dis war!" She was under the impression that old Hannibal was a new fauged invention to crush out the rebellion.

HOW MANY.—A mining mist, who had just passed her teens, went into a store in a small village in this county, and called for some hose.

"How many will you have, Miss?"

"A pair, sir, if you please."

The accommodating clerk immediately started up two flights of stairs, and soon brought down two hoses, stout enough to dig all the potatoes in the State, and asked her if "them would do."

Damsel left in high dudgeon and bought her "stockings" where the clerks were not so green.

HASTENING ON.—A preacher once selected the following words for his text:—"The world, the flesh, and the devil." Observing that he would divide his sermon into three heads, he said he would commence on the world, pass lightly over the flesh, and hasten as fast as possible to the devil!

WHO WROTE IT?—Upon the reading of the Declaration of Independence at Ypsilanti, Michigan, by a citizen of that place, on the Fourth of July, a gentleman from the rural districts made this comment: "Well, he reads it well enough, but I'm darned if I believe he writ it."

A LITTLE DEAR.—"What do you ask for this article?" inquired Obadiah of Miss Jones.

"Fifteen shillings."

"Ain't you a little dear?"

"Why," she replied, blushing, "all the young men tell me so!"
