

DANCING WOMEN.—"I believe a woman would do a great deal for a dance," said Doctor Growling, "they are immensely fond of salutory motion. I remember once in my life I used to flirt with one who was a great favorite in the provincial town where I lived, and confided to me that she had no stockings to appear in, and without them her presence at the ball was out of the question."
 "That was a hint for you to buy the stockings," said Dick.
 "No, you're out," said Growling. "She knew that I was as poor as herself; but though she could not rely on my purse, she had every confidence in my taste and judgment, and consulted me on a plan she formed for going to the ball in proper twigs. Now, what do you think it was?"
 "To go in cotton, I suppose," returned Dick.
 "Out again, sir—you'd never guess it; and only a woman could have hit upon the expedient. It was the fashion in those days for ladies in full dress to wear pink stockings, and she proposed painting her legs!"
 "Painting her legs!" they all exclaimed.
 "Fact, sir," said the doctor, "and she rallied upon me for telling her if the cheat was successful."
 "And was it?" asked Durfy.
 "Don't be in a hurry, Tom. I compiled on one condition, namely, that I should be the painter."
 "Oh, you old rascal!" said Dick.
 "A capital bargain," said Durfy.
 "But not a safe covenant," added the attorney.
 "Don't interrupt me, gentlemen," said the doctor. "I got some rose pink, accordingly, and I defy all the hosiers in Nottingham to make a tighter fit than I did on little Jenny; and a prettier pair of stockings I never saw."
 "And she went to the ball?" said Dick.
 "She did."
 "And the trick succeeded?" inquired Durfy.
 "So completely," said the doctor, "that several ladies asked her to recommend her dyer to them. So you see what a woman will do to go to a dance. Poor little Jenny! she was a merry mix—by-the-by, she boxed my ears that night for a joke I made about the stockings. Jenny, said I, 'for fear your stockings should fall down when you are dancing, hadn't you better let me paint a pair of garters on them?'"

WHO MAKES YOUR BRANDY?—In view of some developments recently made in a trial before the U. S. Circuit Court at Albany, this becomes an important query with brandy drinkers. One Mr. Morris had been selling manufactured brandy in large quantities throughout the country. Several casks of it were seized in Plattsburg, supposed to be foreign liquor. The United States officer held it, and Morris sued for his property. In order to show that it was not a foreign article, he was obliged to prove it of home manufacture. This was done by placing on the stand Mr. George Dayton, of the firm of Dayton & Co., rectifiers and dealers in liquors in New York city, who testified that he was engaged in manufacturing imitation brandy, and that he had sold to Morris from three to five hundred casks of the same. This brandy is made from neutral and cognac spirits, flavored with oil of cognac. Griffin, a cooper, was called to show that he had manufactured the imitation French brandy casks for Dayton and others. No part of the material but the willow is imported. He testified that they put dates on the casks eight, ten, and fifteen years back. There are four or five of the same kind of establishments in New York and Brooklyn. He made over ten thousand of the imitation casks for Dayton in a year. Several parties who pretended to be judges of the pure brandy tasted of both the pure and the imitation article in open Court, and were obliged to acknowledge that they were unable to tell "either from which." Let brandy drinkers take notice!

TIT FOR TAT.—A lady riding in one of the suburban stages the other day politely asked a passenger who had got in to lay aside his cigar. The passenger took no notice of the request, whereupon the lady very coolly leaned over, and snatching the cigar from his mouth, threw it into the road. With equal sang froid the smoker stretched out his hand, and seizing a pocket which was in his fair assailant's lap, flung it out of the carriage. "Turn about is fair play, Madame," the fellow provokingly added as he adjusted himself in his corner.

 Lancaster, Pa. July 30, 1862.
 Messrs. EVANS and WATSON: Gentles—
 The small size No. 1 Salamander safe
 I purchased from your agent, Mr. Adam Barr, in Lancaster City, on July 29th, 1862,
 has been subjected to a very severe
 which it withstood in a most surprising manner. This safe, containing all my together with valuable papers belonging to myself and some to my neighbors, and representing a value of over Twenty and Dollars, ($29,000) was in my possession, and was destroyed on the night of the 27th of 1860, and passed through the fire unscathed. The safe was on the second and fell to the basement of the Mill, and subjected for six hours to an intense among the ruins, which was greatly increased by the combustion of a large quantity confined within the brick walls. After fire the safe was opened and the books papers taken out in a state of perfect preservation. The paper not even being
