

EBENSBURG AND CRESSON RAILROAD. On and after Monday, May 21, 1866, trains on this road will run as follows: LEAVE EBENSBURG—At 6.05 A. M., connecting with Day Exp. East and Balt. Exp. West. At 6.40 P. M., connecting with Phila. Exp. East and Day Exp. West.

THE PRESS IN EBENSBURG.—In the summer of 1838, a paper was established here under the title of The Democratic Journal. It was anti-mason in politics, supporting Joseph Ritner for Governor in opposition to David R. Porter. John Scott was its first editor, who was succeeded by R. L. Johnston. Though edited with vigor and ability, the result of the gubernatorial campaign proved the wettest of wet blankets to any political hopes or aspirations it may have entertained, and the Journal soon sickened and died.

Mr. Johnston is still living in Ebensburg. August 23, 1853, the first number of a new paper styled The Alleghenian made its appearance. It was Whig in politics, and edited by Messrs. A. C. Mullin and Charles Albright. Its motto was—"The free communication of thoughts and opinions is one of the invaluable rights of man." The Alleghenian was edited with much talent and more vigor, yet all its days were numbered by the brief span of two years. During those two years, it had for editors, beside Messrs. Mullin and Albright, Joseph R. Durbin, R. L. Johnston and John M. Bowman.

Upon the suspension of the paper, in 1855, the establishment was bought by Dr. A. Rodrigue, who took the press, type and fixtures to Kansas. Arriving in that then turbulent Territory, the office was seized by a body of border ruffians and thrown into the Missouri river. The stock was subsequently fished out, however, and was afterward used, first to spread abroad the pestilential heresy of pro-slaveryism, and next, as a counter-acting good, to preach the doctrines of abolitionism.

In a paper called the Union, of date April 14, 1866, published at Junction City, Kansas, the editor, George W. Martin, formerly of Hollidaysburg, makes mention that he has just received an assortment of new type, and expresses his intention of casting aside his old type. In this connection he says: "Among the type that we propose casting into the 'hell box' is a font of long primer, which first did service in Ebensburg, Pennsylvania, on a Whig paper, (The Alleghenian), it was brought west by Dr. A. Rodrigue, who founded Leocompton, in this State. It was in store at Kansas City for a while, and during the early troubles of Kansas, a party of ruffians, supposing it belonged to Senator Pomroy, took it from the building and threw it into the Missouri river. It lay there several months, when it was fished up and brought to the Rodrigue estate to the Democrat establishment at Leocompton. In that office it served a portion of our apprenticeship on. Subsequently it was sold to Sam Medary, who brought it to Junction City. Two years afterward we followed it to this point, and for four years we've made those same old pieces howl. After fifteen years service—in the cause of Whiggery, and some violent dissensions in the interest of Human Democracy, finding up their days in the redeeming victory of Radical Republicanism, we give them decent burial, with feelings akin to sadness."

Messrs. Mullin and Albright, the original editors of The Alleghenian, were indicted on a charge of libel by Col. John Porter in 1853, and muled in a small sum in Blair county Court. Mr. Mullin at present holds the position of Chief Clerk of the State Department at Harrisburg, though his family reside here. Mr. Albright served throughout the war for the Union as a soldier, attaining the rank of Brigadier General toward the end; he resides in Mauch Chunk, Pa. Mr. Durbin is one of the editors of the World Inquirer. Mr. Bowman lives in Ebensburg, where he for a time conducted the Tribune newspaper as editor and publisher.

SOMETHING NEW.—We learn that the Pennsylvania railroad have under way a new enterprise. They have employed a class photographer to superintend the photographing of all the property of the company and the various points of interest along the main line or its branches, and have placed at the disposal of the artist a train of cars, fully officered, and equipped with all the necessary apparatus.

GOODS.—James M. Thompson returned from the eastern cities, bringing with him his summer stock of goods, comprising dress and dry goods, hats, caps, boots and shoes, ready-made clothing, groceries, hardware, notions, &c., &c. His store (P. O. building) is fairly well laden from morn till night with customers all intent on picking up bargains. See early!

THE POLITICAL SITUATION.—Dear Alleghenian: The Chairman of the Dem. Co. Com. of Cambria county has issued a call for the assembling of the Dem. Co. Nominating Convention on Monday, 25th inst. It was originally contemplated to issue the call for the 18th inst., but your correspondent having made public that such was the arrangement, it was deemed advisable to confute his assertion and "put him down" by changing the date to the 25th.

I notice that it is on the programme that the Convention will take action with reference to the "interests of the country." The interests of the country of late have been Five-Twenty and Seven-Thirty. It is supposed that the action of the Convention will be to declare that Five-Twenties are one hundred, and that Seven-Thirties are two hundred and ten.

George W. Oatman, of Ebensburg, is Chairman of the Dem. Co. Com. He is also a candidate for the nomination for Register and Recorder. This is viewed in the light of a happy coincidence. Since the advent of the multitude of Democratic office-seekers, and their consequent "grand rounds" among their constituents, travel on the railroad has increased to such an extent as to be limited only by the number and capacity of the cars. The candidates all travel on 26-trip tickets, and take especial care to get their lives insured daily for $9,000.—Taking the latter figure as an approximate valuation of each candidate, then there must be well nigh $900,000 invested in stock of the forthcoming Convention.

OBSERVER. HAVE YOU?—Reader, have you visited C. T. Roberts' establishment since that gentleman's return from the eastern cities with a summer stock of articles in his line? If you have not, you should visit it forthwith. He has brought back with him clocks and watches enough to keep the time for the whole county, jewelry enough to plentifully bedeck all those fond of ornament, and silverware enough to stock a score of establishments, while his assortment of pocket cutlery, spectacles, looking glasses, photograph frames, pistols, portmonnaies, &c., &c., is absolutely unsurpassable. Knowing our inability to do justice in a short item to all that Cham has for sale, we would advise our readers to go and see for themselves.

PROVOST MARSHAL LLOYD'S REPORT.—We commenced last week and conclude this week, the publication of the report of the operations and method of business of the Provost Marshal's Office in this District since its establishment in 1863 up to the close of the war. It is clearly and forcibly written, and is replete with facts and statistics of general interest. As a part of the history of the war, and that part having reference to the local workings of the great system which kept up our armies in the field to a fighting standard, the report could not well have remained unwritten or unpublished.

SUPPOSED HORSE THIEF ARRESTED.—A man named Charles Mitchell was arrested in this place one day last week, on suspicion of being a horse thief. He had sold a horse to a man named Mulvehil, residing in Indiana county, a day or two before, and the fact that the price asked and paid was far below the value of the animal, coupled with the other fact that the man acted in a strange and mysterious manner and told contradictory stories, gave rise to the suspicion that all was not right. Mitchell was committed to jail to await a hearing.

EBENSBURG FOUNDRY.—In another column we print an advertisement of the Ebensburg Foundry, conducted by Mr. E. Glass. Those wishing to purchase stoves, thrashing machines, plow points, in short, castings of any description, should patronize the Foundry. They will thus not only do their duty as citizens by sustaining home industry, but they will at the same time secure work of a vastly superior order of excellence to that made in the cities.

AN OASIS.—At Cresson station, a short distance east of the point where the railroad crosses the turnpike, a veritable oasis in the desert has existence. This oasis is in the guise of a country "store" combined with a country eating-house, and is presided over by Mark McLaughlin, Jr. Mark is a good fellow, and keeps everything and sells cheap, and we commend him and his establishment to the consideration of the public.

ENLARGED.—The Harrisburg Telegraph has been enlarged and improved. It presents a very neat appearance, and is edited with decided vigor and ability. DIED.—On Monday, 28th ult., in Cambria tp., Mrs. Elizabeth Howells, aged about 50 years. —See new advertisements.

OUR JOHNSTOWN LETTER. EXTENSIVE SALE OF REAL ESTATE—IMPROVEMENTS—FIRE NIC—A PRIZE FIGHT—POLICE ITEM.

JOHNSTOWN, June 4, 1866. Dear Alley: The sale of the Dibert estate, which was advertised so extensively in the newspapers, has about closed. This sale comprised about 260 lots, and may be taken as a fair criterion of the value of real estate in Johnstown. I have not all the figures to give you, but need only mention that the old "Mansion House" property was knocked off to Mr. Vovinkle, of Hollidaysburg, for the round sum of $32,000.

The Iron Company is pushing forward its extensive buildings, designed for storerooms and offices, with praiseworthy energy. The Methodist congregation are also pushing matters with regard to the erection of their new church.

On Saturday, a large picnic was held in Cambria boro., under the auspices of St. Joseph's (German) Society. The proceeds will be devoted to the building of a pastoral residence for the German Catholic priest of Cambria boro. I understand a handsome amount was realized.

During the past two weeks, police cases were unusually numerous, and the boro. derived a large amount of revenue from fines, &c. A prize fight, conducted in accordance with the rules of the P. R., came off here the other day. It is said to have been a most brutal affair. Unfortunately, neither of the roughs met his death in the contest. D. D.

COURT.—Court met on Monday at one o'clock, p. m. But little business of importance has as yet been transacted.—The following cases have been disposed of: Comth. vs. John Brown, colored—bigamy. True bill. Jury called and sworn, who find defendant guilty. He has since succeeded in making his escape from the officers of the law, and has left for parts unknown. Comth. vs. Thomas Grimsley—larceny. True bill. Found guilty. Comth. vs. John Ashcomb—assault and battery. True bill. Found guilty.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—On Monday morning last, a serious accident, though involving no loss of life, occurred on the Pennsylvania Railroad at a point near the Viaduct. One of the cars of a freight train going eastward, while under full headway, broke an axle, thus throwing the train off the track. The entire train, consisting of twelve cars, was almost totally demolished.

DIED.—In Washington City, D. C., on Sunday morning, May the 26th, 1866, Mrs. Louisa, wife of Capt. L. Lowry Moore, and daughter of the late Geo. B. Spang, Esq., of Spang's Mills, Penna., aged 38 years, 10 months and 7 days. The mortal remains of the deceased, accompanied by her surviving and bereaved husband together with some dear friends and relatives from Washington, reached the old homestead of the departed Lula on Tuesday morning, and the next day, Wednesday, May, the 28th, after a sermon being preached at the house of the bereaved family from the words recorded in Numbers 23: 10, "Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his,"—and other appropriate services which were conducted by the writer—her remains, accompanied by a large concourse of relations and friends, were conveyed to the family graveyard, where her dust now sleeps beside that of her sainted mother, who also but recently went to her long home, awaiting the resurrection morn. Scarcely had she reached the meridian of life when it pleased the Lord to remove her from the troubles and sorrows of earth, to the joys and bliss of the fair land beyond the grave. Though not having enjoyed very good health for several years, her last illness, however, was but of short duration. Her summons from time to time, came in a measure unexpectedly to her companion and relatives—and during her few last days, whilst life was ebbing, she suffered severely and acutely; but having a strong and saving faith in the atoning blood of the Redeemer, she was enabled to bear all with an unusual degree of christian fortitude and resignation—cheerfully submitting to, and acquiescing in the decree of His divine will. The deceased being naturally of a kind heart, lively, and cheerful in her disposition, always ready and willing to give relief and comfort to the distressed, and liberal almost to a fault, especially to all the benevolent operations of the day; she made numerous friends wherever she went. Too amiable and gentle for earth, the spirit of Lula has crossed life's stormy sea, to live in that holier and purer atmosphere of peace, joy, celestial felicity and love; where perennial springs of bliss and fullness of joy shall forever flow from the throne of God—where no voice is heard but the sweet music of angels, and no language spoken but that of sainted spirits, who have washed their robes in the blood of the Lamb. Whilst earth has lost one of its fairest flowers, the grave has gained a precious jewel. Her death is most deeply lamented by an affectionate but bereaved husband and a large circle of relatives and friends who mourn her loss. But their losses her eternal gain. "Why tarries he so long, while she—that one, So fond and true, so beautiful and bright—Now sits in cheerless watchfulness alone. Waiting his coming through the tedious night? And as the chimes upon the distant bell, Mark mournfully and sad his lingering stay, Each echoing peal seems but the gloomy knell Of joys departed, pleasures pass'd away." NEWBY, Pa., May 24, 1866.

THE LADY OCUList.—Miss LAURA LE SEUR, whose successful practice has been well known in Pittsburgh and vicinity for the last seven years, has now taken rooms at the residence of Mrs. Stahl, High st., Ebensburg, Cambria county, Pa., where she proposes spending the summer for the purpose of treating DISEASES OF THE EYES.

The System is a cautious and safe one—has never been known to fail in subduing inflammation of the Eyes, either Acute or Chronic—will remove extraneous substances from the eyeballs, cure granulated eyelids, so that the eyelashes, instead of growing like bristles down upon the eyeballs and thereby eventually destroying the sight, will assume a correct position—become soft and natural; will strengthen and restore weak eyes of long standing—all without the use of the Knife, Lunar Caustic, Blue Stone, or any of those severe remedies so frequently applied, to the destruction of the eyes. Miss LE SEUR also treats successfully RHEUMATISM and NERVOUS DISEASES, two of the most lingering and painful diseases to which mortals are subject, and from which proceed some of the most fearful diseases of the eyes. But as diseases are not cured on paper and deeds are much more satisfactory than words, she would therefore respectfully call the attention of an intelligent community to her practice, and most cordially invite the afflicted to come and test the effect of the treatment for themselves, assuring those whose cases are curable that if they put themselves under her treatment and follow strictly the directions given, they will certainly be rewarded with HEALTH AND SIGHT. These are facts, and facts are said to be stubborn things.

JOHNSON'S RHEUMATIC COMPOUND. No medicine for the cure of Rheumatism has ever attained to such a high degree of favor and universality as JOHNSON'S RHEUMATIC COMPOUND. Although but one year before the public, this medicine has justly gained an unbounded popularity. When the originator first introduced it, he was convinced of its efficacy, but he little supposed it was destined to prove such an inestimable blessing to the afflicted. But "true merit" cannot be suppressed.—The attestation of hundreds who have been cured by its use, must prove the truth of the assertion. "THAT IT IS A RADICAL CURATIVE" FOR INFLAMMATORY AND ACUTE RHEUMATISM, GOUT, NEURALGIA, AND KINDRED DISEASES. We recommend it with confidence as THE GREAT INTERNAL REMEDY, For the Speedy and Positive Cure of the above Complaints. MESSRS. R. E. SELLERS & Co: This is to certify that for the last sixteen years I have been severely afflicted with rheumatism, often confined to my house, and even unable to walk. Being in the Postoffice, about two months ago, Mr. Clark observed my crippled condition, and urged me to try a bottle of "Johnson's Rheumatic Compound." I followed his advice and now, by the blessing of God, and the use of half a bottle of your "Compound," I am free from all symptoms of rheumatism, and can walk without the aid of my staff, as well as ever.
