"Wall, raly; this beats the bell on our meetin' house a darned sight."

By this time the attention of the captain and several of the passengers were attracted to this genius.

"How much would you ask to let a feller ring this bell?"

"You thay ring it for a dollar, zir," said the captain.

"Wall, it's a bargain, all fair and agreed, and no backing out."

"It's a bargain, sir," said the captain. Our hero went deliberately and brought a seat, and took hold of the bell-rope, and having arranged everything to his satisfaction, commenced ringing slowly at first, and, gradually faster and faster, till everybody on board thought the boat on fire, and rushed on deck screaming with

There stood the captain, and there stood the "monster," ringing away, first slow and then fast, and then two or three taps at a time.

The passengers began to expostulate; the captain said it was a bargain. But the passengers became urgent that the eternal clangor should be stopped. All the while there sat our hero, undisturbed, ringing away more ways than a Cockney chime-ringer ever dreamt of. At last the captain began to think it time to stop the simpleton, but his answer was: "A fair bargain, and no backing out." And he rang away for dear life. "Well, says the Captain, "what will you take to stop?" "Well," cap'n, I guess I shao't lose nothing if I take five dollars and a free passage to New York, but not a darned cent less."

"Well, walk down to the office and get your money and passage ticket," said the captain.

NECK-TWISTING IN CHURCH. - A good story is told of an eccentric old parson, who was sorely annoyed by a habit his people had acquired (and which prevails, by-the-way, in all other churches, even now and hereabouts to some extent) of twisting their necks around every time anybody entered the door, and passed up the aisle of the meeting house, to see what manner of person it might be.

Wearied with the annoyance, the old man exclaimed, one Sunday :

"Brethren, if you will only cease turning your heads round, whenever the door opens, and will keep your attention on me, I will promise to tell you as I preach, who it is that comes in."

Accordingly he went on with the sermon, and presently made a stop as one of he deacons entered, saying-

"That is Deacon -, who keeps the grocery opposite."

And then he announced, in turn, the advent of each individual, proceeding the while with his sermon as composedly as the circumstances would permit, when at last a stranger came in, when he cried

"A little old man in green spectacles, and a drab overcoat-don't know himyou can all turn round and look for yourselves this time."

It is hardly necessary to add that the good man carried his point, and there was but little neck-twisting seen in his congregation after that day.

In Love .- An editor out West has fallen in love-just hear what he says : "We love to see the blooming rose, in all its beauty dressed; we love to hear our friends disclose the emotions of the breast. We love to see the cars arrive, well laden at our door; we love to see our neighbors thrive, and love to bless the poor. We love to see domestic life with uninterrupted joys; we love to see a happy wife with -yet far above all that we ever said, we love what evry printer loves, to have subscription paid." The words in italics we love too.
