

A WESTERN POLITICIAN.—A correspondent tells the following capital anecdote of Arkansas political life: About twenty years ago, Governor Y and Judge W were candidates for Congress in this district. They were both far-sighted, shrewd politicians—the Judge the better lawyer and debater—the Governor by far the more winning in his manners, as the sequel will fully establish. One hot day in July, while they were traveling together on the canvass, they came upon a party of twenty men or more assembled on the roadside for the purpose of having a shooting match. Thinking it a good time and place for presenting their respective claims, the Governor proposed stopping. They halted, and the Governor soon made himself at home. He bought a number of chances in the match, and being a good marksman, succeeded in winning quite a quantity of beef, which constituted the prize.

The Judge had conscientious scruples as to shooting matches, and did not participate, but stood by, conversing with the more sober of the crowd, while his friend, the Governor, was in high glee with his companions over the beef. When it was given out to successful shooters, our Governor ordered his to be divided among some widows who he ascertained lived in the vicinity, and then asked the boys if they were not dry? Of course they were, and the Governor generously ordered a plentiful supply of the "Oh be joyful!" Here the Judge had scruples and did not participate; but had it been otherwise it would have availed nothing. The Governor was decidedly the man at the shooting match, while the Judge felt himself entirely in the vocative. Leaving their friends, they proceeded on their way some twelve or fifteen miles, and halted at a camp-ground where the annual camping-meeting was being held. They separated in the crowd, each electioneering with all his might, with old and young, friends and strangers—making hay when the sun shone—for there was a fine opening.

Towards night the Judge began to look around for his distinguished opponent, but could not find him anywhere. He waited patiently till evening services began, and concluded he would go out where the people had assembled for meeting, thinking perhaps he might meet his friend. On going out, what was his astonishment to find the gallant Governor, the hero of the shooting match, in front of the altar, surrounded by ministers and class-leaders, with a hymn book in his hand, head thrown back, singing as loud as his lungs would permit, "How firm a foundation yeasants of the Lord." "From that moment," said the Judge, "I gave up all hopes. I tell you—I tell you, sir, a man that's good for a camping-meeting and a shooting match, can't be beat for Congress. It can't be done sir." And so it proved.

NOT A CHRISTIAN.—An accident happened on the Atlantic and Great Western railroad, in Ohio, says the Meadville Republican. The baggage master sat in his car reading at the time, but perceiving by the motion of the car that an accident had taken place, he attempted to jump out, but was caught between two cars and badly jammed. He was taken out in an insensible condition, and being laid upon the ground, an attempt was made to revive him, which proved successful. As he opened his eyes to a consciousness of things, a clergyman stepped out from the circle who surrounded him, to offer a prayer for his complete restoration. He knelt down by the side of the victim, but before proceeding with his work of mercy, he asked the youth, "Are you a Christian?" "No, sir," as emphatically as his condition would allow, said the sufferer, "I am a baggage master on the Atlantic and Great Western railroad!" The prayer was omitted.

TOO SHARP.—An amusing incident is told of a woman in England, whose husband, a wealthy man, died suddenly, without leaving any will. The widow, desirous of securing the whole of the property, concealed her husband's death, and persuaded a poor shoemaker to take his place while a will could be made.—Accordingly he was closely muffled in bed, as if very sick, and a lawyer was called in to write the will. The shoemaker, in a feeble voice, bequeathed half of all the property to the widow. "What shall be done with the remainder?" asked the lawyer. "The remainder," replied he, "I give and bequeath to the poor little shoemaker across the street, who has always been a good neighbor and a deserving man;" thus securing a rich bequest for himself. The widow was thunder-struck with the man's audacious cunning, but did not dare expose the fraud, and so two rogues shared the estate.

A CARD.—
WITNESS my Bride,
Lancaster Tp. July 30, 1860
Messrs. EVANS and WATSON: GENTLEMEN,
The small size No. 1 Salamander safe which I purchased from your agent, Mr. Adam
W. in Lancaster City, on July 20th, 1860, has been subjected to a very severe trial,
which it withstood in a most admirable manner. This safe, containing all my together
